You must open this document in Adobe Reader (or equivalent) to see attached documents. Most browsers do not allow access to these embedded files.

The screenshot displays the Adobe Reader interface. At the top, there is a toolbar with icons for save, star, cloud, print, and search, along with navigation arrows, page number '10 / 116', and zoom controls set to '117%'. On the left side, there is a sidebar with icons for document, bookmark, and search. The 'Attachments' panel is open, showing a list of PDF files. The 'Organizer' panel is also open, displaying a table of contents with two entries: 'DEPARTMENT WEB SITE' and 'ATTACHMENT'. A green box highlights the 'Attachments' panel title, and a green arrow points from the 'Georgia Power seminar series.pdf' entry in the attachments list to the corresponding entry in the 'ATTACHMENT' section of the organizer.

Piano Studio Recital: Jazz Inspired

Music, Department of : Wednesday September 1, 2021

Sunday, Sept. 26 Georgia College will hold a Piano Studio Recital, "Jazz Inspired," at 3 p.m. in Magnolia Ballroom at the Student Activities Center. Dr. Owen Lovell will lead students from the Georgia College Piano Studio program in a concert of jazz-inspired solo pieces. Students were challenged to learn and memorize a new composition in six weeks, an achievement that requires work ethic and discipline. They'll perform less-known jazz by women and other underrepresented composers. Students will be joined on stage by faculty pianists, piano studio alumni and prospective piano majors. Performances will be on the rebuilt 1889 "Burrell" Steinway model A grand piano in Magnolia Ballroom. This concert will also be livestreamed at facebook.com/GCMusicDepartment. A $5 donation is encouraged. All proceeds benefit music scholarships or the GC Department of Music through GCSU Foundation, Inc. For more information, please email music@gcsu.edu or call 478-445-8289.

Jazz Jam Session: Lawn of The Depot

Music, Department of : Wednesday September 1, 2021

Come out and enjoy our GC Jazz Jam Session Tuesday, Sept. 21, 7-9 pm on the lawn of the GC Depot, presented by Jazz at Georgia College. Hosted by our faculty and student jazz musicians, the GC Jam Session is open to all members of the community interested in working on their jazz and improvisation skills. As last year was a bit of a challenge, we are happy to now be able to invite our community back out to play with us. Bring your instrument if you want to play or come just to enjoy the live music on the lawn at The Depot. We hope to see you there!

Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur Services

Student Life, Office of : Thursday September 2, 2021

Hillel at Georgia College invites all of the GC community to join us for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur services at First Presbyterian Church in downtown Milledgeville. Though Milledgeville has a small but mighty Jewish community, the nearest synagogue is in Macon. To allow our community to observe the high holy days nearby, Reverend Susan Balfour has graciously extended her parish, located at 210 S. Wayne St., for these days.

Rosh Hashanah service will be held at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, September 7. Rosh Hashanah is the two-day observance of the Jewish New Year.

Yom Kippur service will be held at 11 a.m. on Thursday, September 16. Yom Kippur, or Day of Atonement, is the holiest day of the year in Judaism.

All are welcome! Many thanks to Rev. Balfour and the First Presbyterian congregation for this beautiful gesture of interfaith community.

Diversity 360 Program: Navigating Corporate America as P.O.C.

Inclusive Excellence, Office of : Friday September 3, 2021

The Office of Inclusive Excellence, in collaboration with University Advancement and Career Services, will present the first Diversity 360 program called Navigating Corporate America as P.O.C. The virtual program will be held September 22 at 4pm. The Zoom Link is <https://tinyurl.com/4wnenuxw>.

Navigating the workplace has its challenges; but, as a person of color, it can bring additional issues. Beyond overt discrimination, which many still encounter, there are psychological costs to being one of just a few POCs in a predominantly White environment. According to a 2019 study by Coqual, "while corporate America offers the promise of a stable income, benefits and opportunities to travel, many Black professionals aren't getting a sense of belonging, trust and respect."

A panel of underrepresented alums will share their experiences, successes and challenges in the workplace since graduating from GC. They will offer their knowledge, wisdom and expertise with our students of color as they prepare to embark on their career journey. The event will also provide students the opportunity to network with our esteemed panel in this virtual village. Students interested in attending this event must register at https://gcsu.joinhandshake.com/events/809950/share_preview.

Register for the 3rd annual Feminist Leadership Academy!

Women's Center : Tuesday September 7, 2021

Join us for our 3rd annual Feminist Leadership Academy!

This 2-day event will include group sessions, community building and identity workshops, with more detailed logistical information to come soon. FLA will bring together students interested in discovering and exploring feminism, and to empower them in fostering connections on campus and in the community. This will allow for expansive conversations around intersectionality, feminism, growing communities of women and exemplifying these values in daily life. FLA will continue to provide historical context about the cultural norms that have limited women's participation in leadership roles. We will continue our conversations on the importance and impact of intersectional feminism and how to continue the work of feminist organizing on-campus!

This year's FLA will be on September 17th-18th. Applications are due 9/9 by 11:59 p.m. Register at:<http://bit.ly/femlead2021>

Graduate & Professional School Admissions Fair: Fall 2021

Career Center : Friday September 10, 2021

Are you thinking about graduate school after GC? Get information and ask questions of recruiters at the bi-annual Graduate & Professional School Fair held on Thursday, October 7 from 12 pm - 4 pm in Magnolia Ballroom. Over 50 institutions offering 100s of programs will be in attendance. Find programs related to your major or in completely new career areas!

Programs offered in a variety of areas: medicine, education, law, public policy, psychology, art, communications, advertising, MBA, health administration, nursing and other allied health fields such as physical therapy, occupational therapy, social work, school counseling, and more.

This event is ideal for sophomores and juniors as they consider graduate school options and plan for the admissions process. Seniors who are still trying to figure out where they want to attend or what programs fit them, and freshmen who are beginning to wonder about ways to use their interests in a career should also plan to attend!

You'll be able to meet face-to-face with program representatives to ask questions about the specific programs and the university.

Casual attire. Resumes are not required. Drop in as your schedule allows!

Non-Profit, Government, & Helping Industries Fair - Fall 2021

Career Center : Friday September 10, 2021

The Non-Profit & Government Career Fair is part of our Career Fair Month in October and will be held on Thursday, October 21 from 12 p.m. - 4 p.m. in Magnolia Ballroom in the Student Activities Center. Students will meet representatives from non-profit organizations, government agencies and helping industries who are seeking interns and hiring for full-time positions. Opportunities are available for all majors.

Did you know that over 11 million people work in non-profit organizations, making it one of the largest industries in which people work? Non-profits are made up of education, health, social service, philanthropic, professional service, quasi-government, art, and cultural organizations. Over 20 million people work in federal, state, county, or city/local government. These industries make up so much of our workforce so you will not want to leave them out of your job search.

You never have a second chance to make a first impression, so business attire is required for this event. Resumes are also highly encouraged so that you can leave information about yourself with the representatives. Even if you have applied online it helps the recruiter know who you are when you follow up with them at a later date. We recommend that you bring at least 20 copies of your resume, but if you plan to talk to every employer, bring more!

Need help with your resume? Schedule an appointment with a Career Advisor through Handshake or stop by and see us at Lanier Hall 110.

Hispanic Heritage: Collaborations, Conversations, and Celebrations of Women in STEM

Biology & Environmental Sciences, Department of : Sunday September 12, 2021

Join GC's STEM Club at our first Milly's Science Cafe of the year with our collaboration with GC's Science Education Center and Central Georgia Technical College's Library and Academic Support Services at the opening of their exhibit for Hispanic Heritage Month celebrating Women in STEM! Our featured speaker is Dr. Angela M. González from the Department of Science and Technology at Inter American University of Puerto Rico - San Germán Campus. Dr. González is an analytical chemist whose research focuses on environmental analysis and treatment. She mentors undergraduate and graduate students in research and is the co-director of a NIFA-USDA project, Encouraging Careers in Food Security and Safety (ECaFSS), which is a multi-institutional and interdisciplinary collaborative that aims to better prepare Hispanic students in science, specifically to "increase the critical mass of Hispanic agricultural scientists pursuing careers in NIFA-HIS priority areas of food security, food safety, and related disciplines." She has also been President of the American Chemical Society Puerto Rico Section as well as head of her department. Dr. González is joining us to share her story and experiences as a Hispanic woman in STEM! We are hosting the event at the Grand Opening of the GC Science Education Center and CGTC ASC's exhibit featuring 12 Hispanic Women in STEM, which will be housed at CGTC in the main lobby area of A-Building outside of their Academic Success Center first then will travel to Herty Hall at GCSU near the Science Education Center next! Please spread the word and come to learn more about these amazing Hispanic Women in STEM! Masks are strongly encouraged for the health and safety of everyone in attendance! A virtual option through WebEx is available! The link will be located in our Facebook event. Please use the QR code attached to RSVP for the event and get the WebEx link from the Facebook event page!

Boren Scholarship Alumni Talk and Virtual Campus Visit

National Scholarships Office at Georgia College : Monday September 13, 2021

On September 21 at 5PM in Humber-White 206, Dr. Amir Moheet, Georgia College's Paul D. Coverdell Visiting Scholar for Fall 2021, will be speaking to Georgia College students both about the Boren Scholarships and Fellowships, which funds language study abroad, and about jobs in the federal government. Dr. Moheet spent a year in Turkey on a Boren Fellowship studying Turkish and Persian. Following his experience abroad, he worked for the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), Refugee, Asylum and International Operations Directorate.

On September 22 at 4PM, we will be holding a virtual info session with Jeff Cary, Boren Awards Outreach and Recruitment Manager, who will be talking about how to put together competitive applications for the Boren, as well as about potential career opportunities for Boren Scholars. You can join us on Zoom here.

Boren Scholarships provide funding for undergraduate and graduate students to study critical needs languages in world regions vital to U.S. interests. Boren Scholars and fellows are academically ambitious individuals who intend to pursue careers in federal national security. Recipients are required to work in the federal government for a minimum of one year after graduation and are given special hiring privileges to help them get these jobs.

Free USG Virtual Suicide Prevention Conference and QPR training

Conferences : Monday September 13, 2021

On behalf of the 2021 University System of Georgia (USG) Suicide Prevention Conference Committee, you are invited to this year's virtual conference hosted by Georgia Southern University and sponsored by USG's Mental Health Initiative. Mental health is an important component of overall health and is critical to prioritize in every stage of life, particularly as we maneuver the known and unknown aspects of COVID-19. In fact, in June the Centers for Disease Control released a report indicating that 1 in 4 adults aged 18-24 surveyed experienced suicidal ideation related to the pandemic in the last 30 days. We invite you to join us for two days this fall to address mental health and suicide prevention as we "push through the pandemic."

On the afternoon of September 30 from 2:15-4pm, QPR Training will be offered. QPR stands for Question, Persuade and Refer – the 3 simple steps anyone can learn to help save a life from suicide.

The committee is very excited and has been working hard to prepare a great line up of speakers and sessions that will be helpful to all USG members. This meeting will provide you the opportunity to hear from experts at Active Minds, Healthy Minds Network, Jed Foundation and leaders in college student mental health and suicide prevention. Please see the link below to register for this year's conference. We Are All in This Together!

Constitution Week: Immigration and Constitution Lunch Discussion

Accounting, Department of : Tuesday September 14, 2021

Tuesday's celebration of Constitution Week includes a discussion on the United States Constitution and Immigration. Georgia College's Drs. James Daria, Assistant Professor, Department of Government and Sociology, and Amir Moheet, Coverdell Visiting Scholar will be discussing their knowledge and experiences of immigration and the reality of immigration in this country.

Amir Moheet, Ph.D. in Political Science, is currently teaching a course on global migration at GCSU. His Global Migration course explores substantive public policy questions of human mobility, including the role that international law, violence and war, citizenship, anti-immigrant politics, and racism play in producing policy outcomes across the world. Emphasizing the normative aspects of policy, the course centers the causes and consequences of migration policy through empirical and theoretical investigations that bring to bear broader ethical implications for democracy, society, and migrant reform.

James Daria, Ph.D. is a cultural anthropologist specializing in issues of migration, race, and labor across the U.S.-Mexican border. He is currently working on a book about indigenous Mexican farmworkers picking our food under conditions of modern slavery. At GCSU Dr. Daria teaches a number of classes on migrant, refugee, and human rights issues. His research interests include Im/migration, Farm Labor, Popular Music & Culture, and Mexico & Latin America.

Come join us at 12 noon on Tuesday, September 21, for this lunch discussion to enjoy food and facts.

Diversity 360 Program: Navigating Corporate America as P.O.C.

Inclusive Excellence, Office of : Wednesday September 15, 2021

The Office of Inclusive Excellence, in collaboration with University Advancement and Career Services, will present the first Diversity 360 program called Navigating Corporate America as P.O.C. The virtual program will be held September 22 at 4pm. The Zoom Link is <https://tinyurl.com/4wnenuxw>.

Navigating the workplace has its challenges; but, as a person of color, it can bring additional issues. Beyond overt discrimination, which many still encounter, there are psychological costs to being one of just a few POCs in a predominantly White environment. According to a 2019 study by Coqual, "while corporate America offers the promise of a stable income, benefits and opportunities to travel, many Black professionals aren't getting a sense of belonging, trust and respect."

A panel of underrepresented alums will share their experiences, successes and challenges in the workplace since graduating from GC. They will offer their knowledge, wisdom and expertise with our students of color as they prepare to embark on their career journey. The event will also provide students the opportunity to network with our esteemed panel in this virtual village. Students interested in attending this event must register at https://gcsu.joinhandshake.com/events/809950/share_preview.

Constitution Week Kick Off Event

General Institution : Wednesday September 15, 2021

The Constitution Week Committee invites you to attend our opening event on Friday Sept 17 at noon in the Governor's Mansion Education Room for an interactive debate on selected current event topics. We will have a welcome address from our Provost, Dr. Costas Spirou, before turning the debate over to the audience.

Our plan is to announce a topic, and then split the group into pro and con sides. Everyone will have two minutes to prepare. Then, a volunteer on the pro side will have 60 seconds to respond and a volunteer from the con side will have 60 seconds to respond as well. A pro side volunteer will have 60 seconds for a rebuttal and then the con side will get the same. There will be a 30 second final wrap up per side. We will repeat this process for 5-6 topics.

Please consider attending some of our other Constitution Week events next week, too!

NCUR 2022 @home Abstract Submission Portal is Now Open!

GC Journeys : Wednesday September 15, 2021

Save the Date: April 4 - 8, 2022 | Virtual

CUR is excited for another year of the National Conference on Undergraduate Research (NCUR). We can't wait to share important details, deadlines, and more with you in the coming weeks. CUR has been working diligently on preparing an amazing, interactive, and meaningful experience for all students and mentors. Due to the increase levels and community spread of the Delta variant and campus travel restrictions, NCUR will remain virtual. This year, however, will be planned out a little differently. Please note the following:

Some of the many new offerings:

- NCUR will be providing programming spread out over a week's time that includes primary education taking place in learning discipline-specific cohorts.
- All accepted students, including those poster and visual art image submissions, will have the opportunity to present to a cohort group for 10-15 minutes.
- This year, NCUR will take place on a new platform integrated with Zoom.
- A new addition this year is adding an opt-in competitive element for presentations.
- Registration options for family and friend's passes will be available.
- Graduate Fair meet-up hours will be separate from presentation times to prevent conflicts. There will also be interactive game activities with prizes.

Usery Forum on Leadership: Media Literacy and the Future of Democracy

Leadership Programs : Thursday September 16, 2021

On Tuesday, September 21st, at 5 p.m., Georgia College Leadership Programs will host a panel of distinguished journalists for a discussion of "Media Literacy and the Future of Democracy." The event will mark the first in the Usery Forum on Leadership series for the 2021-22 academic year.

Panelists include Richard T. Griffiths, vice president and senior editorial director (ret.) at CNN, Rose Scott, host and executive producer at WABE Atlanta, and Greg Bluestein, political reporter for the Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

The nonpartisan event will be hosted by Georgia College's Office of Leadership Programs, in collaboration with the Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC) and the American Democracy Project.

Panelists will explore the current state of media literacy in the United States and in Georgia and offer insights on the symbiosis between the media and democracy.

Dr. James R. Schiffman and Dr. Harold Mock will moderate the discussion. Schiffman is associate professor of journalism at Georgia College, and Mock is director of leadership programs and assistant professor of history.

The event will feature interactive exchange with Georgia College students. "As a liberal arts institution, we teach our students in the classic tradition of leadership for the public good," says Mock. "That involves preparing students for thoughtful and engaged citizenship and active dialogue with thought-leaders in public life."

The event is free and open to the public and will be held in Peabody Auditorium in Milledgeville. To join this discussion on Facebook Live, please visit <https://fb.me/e/EKawOBF3>.

The Second Annual Peacock Symposium

Andalusia Institute : Friday September 17, 2021

Daniel Wallace, the J. Ross MacDonald Distinguished Professor of English at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and director of their Creative Writing program, will join us for a reading and evening lecture open to the general public but live-streamed to our virtual audience. Tuesday, September 21 at 7:00pm in A&S Auditorium. Wallace has written six novels (Big Fish, Ray in Reverse, The Watermelon King, Mr. Sebastian and the Negro Magician, The King and Queens of Roam, and Extraordinary Adventures), one children's book (The Cat's Pajamas), and one coloring book (with Emily Wallace, Roadside Attractions) as well as numerous short stories and essays. "Big Fish" was made into a movie (directed by Tim Burton) in 2003 and then into a Broadway musical in 2013. In 2019 he won the Harper Lee Award for a living, nationally recognized Alabama writer who has made a significant lifelong contribution to Alabama letters.

Second Dinner With Twelve Strangers--October 21st

Inclusive Excellence, Office of : Wednesday September 22, 2021

The Office of Inclusive Excellence is pleased to announce "Dinner With 12 Strangers", a new "building community" event at Georgia College. During the fall semester, there will be three Dinners that will include a delicious meal, fun ice-breakers, personal introductions, and an engaging conversation about how we can make Georgia College a more welcoming community for all. Twelve selected individuals from all areas of campus will be invited to be one of the twelve strangers who meet for dinner. The Dinners will be hosted from 5:30pm to 7:15pm on three nights during the fall semester: September 16th (Atkinson Front Porch), October 21st (Cultural Center) and November 18th (Mayfair Hall). Our first Dinner was a great success! If you are interested in being considered as a guest at the October 21st Dinner, please send your name and a short statement about why you would like to participate in this community building event to oiie@gcsu.edu by October 1st. Dinner guests will be selected by the Office of Inclusive Excellence and notified at least two weeks before the dinner is scheduled. Thank you for participating in this exciting new building community program.

The Revolutionists

Theatre & Dance, Department of : Friday September 24, 2021

Four beautiful, badass women lose their heads in this irreverent, girl-powered comedy set during the French Revolution's Reign of Terror. This grand and dream-tweaked comedy is about violence and legacy, art and activism, feminism and terrorism, compatriots and chosen sisters, and how we actually go about changing the world. It's a true story. Or total fiction. Or a play about a play. Or a raucous resurrection...that ends in a song and a scaffold. For Mature Audiences.

Collegiate Middle Level Association presents Fall Summit: Open to all student, faculty, staff

College of Education : Monday September 27, 2021

Georgia College's Collegiate Middle Level Association presents the 17th annual Summit. The conference takes place Friday, Oct. 8 from 9 a.m.- 3 p.m. in Peabody Auditorium and focuses on "Creating a Culture of Connectedness." This event is open to the entire campus community.

The keynote speaker is Justice Verda M. Colvin, Justice of the Georgia Supreme Court. Colvin was appointed to her role by Gov. Brian Kemp in July 2021. The first African American female appointed by a Republican governor to the state's high court, Colvin previously served on the Court of Appeals. She will speak about building up communities.

Colvin will open the conference at 9 a.m., then provide closing remarks at 2 p.m.

Breakout sessions throughout the day focus on a variety of topics like getting to know your community through census data and civic engagement, grant writing, and sexual assault and child advocacy.

Guest speakers include Georgia College faculty, faculty from out of state and the CEO of Association for Middle Level Education (AMLE).

"This is a good example of professional development for our students. That's something that we have learned is important in our classes and from our teachers. We should always be learning," said Rosalyn Bosarge, senior middle grade education major and chair of the planning committee.

The conference was completely organized by the middle grade teacher candidate spring 2022 cohort.

Georgia College's Collegiate Middle Level Association was started by students in the early 2000s, and each year the group decides the theme and invites speakers for the conference.

"It has become an annual event. We tell the students every year it is their choice as to whether they do this," said Dr. Nancy Mizelle, faculty advisor for the group. "Last year, we ended up being virtual, and we delayed it until spring, so we are happy to provide the in-person event this year."

Registration is open to all of campus. The cost is $15 for students and $25 for faculty and staff. The cost includes lunch, if you register before Friday, Oct. 1.

'Heads will roll' in Georgia College's first in-person theatre production since pandemic

Theatre & Dance, Department of : Tuesday September 28, 2021

For its first in-person production since spring 2020 when COVID-19 forced the shutdown of much of society--Georgia College presents a dark comedy about Marie Antoinette and massacres of the French Revolution.

"The Revolutionists" is for mature audiences only, due to language. It opens tonight, Sept. 29, at 7:30 p.m. and continues through Saturday at 7:30 p.m. with a 2 p.m. matinee Sunday in Russell Auditorium.

"This is one of the few plays I've read that made me laugh right out loud," said Eric Griffis, interim chair of Theatre and Dance. "The great thing about this show is while, yes, it's set in the French Revolution and, yes, many people lose their heads--it's a very funny story, a powerful story that takes you on this great journey of four women."

Georgia College was one of the few universities to create productions of any kind during the pandemic. Its Theatre and Dance department won awards for online productions that mixed stage acting with film. Faculty and students learned valuable lessons they bring to this year's live performances, Griffis said. They're also ready with a backup plan to switch to online productions, if necessary.

Senior theatre major Lillie Hoats of West Point, Georgia, plays Marie Antoinette. Last year's online acting puts her ahead in terms of adaptability and experience using video cameras, she said.

"I'm just extra grateful we're back in person," Hoats said. "I want to dedicate even more time and attention to my role, because now we have a real audience, and I want them to be impressed. I know this could be taken away at any moment. So, I'm trying to make it the best it can be."

Amy Pinney directs the award-winning play, which put 50 students to work behind the scenes constructing the set, making costumes, designing lights and doing makeup. Their work creates a reflection of the violent and public executions of that time--but in a way that'll make audiences forget the troubles of today.

The story unfolds against a massive backdrop of four tall, red guillotines. Three women, including Marie Antoinette, an assassin and a freedom fighter, approach the playwright asking for rewrites and last words for their characters.

"It takes place in late 1700s during the Reign of Terror," Pinney said. "There are guillotines, and it's a comedy. It is very funny. That feels like where we are as a culture right now, laughing in the face of death."

Written by Lauren Gunderson, the story's about four "bad ass" women and feminism. For various reasons, each character faces the guillotine but with humor and dignity. Audiences will see how "important it is that women support women," Hoats said.

"That's what this show is really all about, sisterhood, and learning from women who come from different backgrounds or who've had different experiences in life and learning from them and growing with them," she said.

The role was a challenge for Hoats, who had a lot of lines to memorize. It's given her confidence a boost. It's also been a lot of fun playing queen, using her hands dramatically and "swooshing" and twirling around in her extravagant gown. Hoats spent a lot of time making Marie Antoinette more likeable. She had more depth than the line she's remembered for: "Let them eat cake."

"She wants to be queen again. She doesn't want to die with people thinking she didn't care about her country. She got a bad rep," Hoats said.

"This play is about women standing up in the face of danger and owning up to who they are and what they did and saying, 'I'm not ashamed of myself. I am strong, and I'm a woman, and I'm not afraid of this,'" she said. "I like that this play shows these women as strong, instead of someone to cry for."

There will be five performances in Russell Auditorium, which has plenty of space for socially distant seating. Masks are encouraged and will be available at the doors. Performances are at 7:30 p.m. each night Wednesday through Saturday, Sept. 29 through Oct. 2. The final show is a 2 p.m. matinee Sunday, Oct. 3.

Tickets can be purchased online at <https://gcsutickets.com>. Cost is $15 for general admission, $10 for seniors, non-GC students, faculty and staff and $5 for GC students.

Functions of Music in Times of Plague: A Lecture and Concert

Music, Department of : Tuesday September 28, 2021

Tuesday, Oct. 19 Dr. Remi Chiu, a guest lecturer from Loyola University, Maryland, will present "Functions of Music in Times of Plague: A Lecture and Concert" at 7:30 p.m. in Max Noah Recital Hall. Georgia College faculty members Dana Gorzelany-Mostak, Jennifer Flory and Jennifer Piazza-Pick will join Georgia College alumni Will Humphrey, Cannon McClain and Jeremy Williams to perform a concert as part of this talk. Renaissance music by William Haute, Jean Mouton, and Paolo Caracciolo will be featured. Dr. Chiu, associate professor of music at Loyola University will explore the role of music in societies hit by plagues and frequent epidemic outbreaks. From improving health and facilitating rituals to strengthening the economy—past music provided aesthetic pleasure in times of crisis. It continues to shed light on how we rely on music today, as we navigate the dangers and difficulties of COVID-19. Chiu is a musicologist specializing in Renaissance music and the history of medicine. He's also author of "Plague and Music in the Renaissance." A $10 donation is encouraged. All proceeds benefit music scholarships or the GC Department of Music through GCSU Foundation, Inc. For more information, please email music@gcsu.edu or call 478-445-8289.

Georgia Undergraduate Research Collective Conference MOVE TO ONLINE

GC Journeys : Wednesday September 29, 2021

Due to ongoing concerns with the pandemic and flu season, the GURC Conference has been moved to an online presence . Of course, the GURC wanted an in-person conference, but the GURC leadership felt the move to online was the best decision for this year. The entire conference will take place on Friday, November 5, 2021. The GURC is working on creating a detailed schedule and getting all of the other details in place. Details will be communicated to the students who submitted in the near future.

Christine Flanagan's "The Master Class: Flannery O'Connor and Caroline Gordon"

Andalusia : Thursday September 30, 2021

Please join us virtually next Thursday, October 7, at 7:00 PM for Christine Flanagan's "The Master Class: Flannery O'Connor and Caroline Gordon."

Christine Flanagan recently published an edition of correspondence between O'Connor and Gordon, The Letters of Flannery O'Connor and Caroline Gordon, that reveals the influence of Gordon on O'Connor's work as well as O'Connor's growth as an artist.

Flanagan will discuss what O'Connor learned as a writer and thinker from Caroline Gordon's extensive editorial comments on her short stories. Registration required: <https://app.smartsheet.com/b/form/cdbf62e41d3a4b45892f88375f7185fa>

In an early letter, in what was to be a motif in Gordon's discussion of O'Connor's drafts, O'Connor replied to Gordon: "I had also felt that there were places that went too fast. The cause of this is laziness. I don't really like to write but I don't like to do anything else better..."
