Reminder: Library Special Collections displays work by chemistry and art students

: Monday March 2, 2020

The new exhibit at Special Collections is a perfect example of how Ina Dillard Russell Library contributes to and applauds student success. The blend of chemistry and art in the exhibit was curated, designed and installed by Evan Leavitt, library manager of facilities operations and planning, showcasing the collaboration between disciplines and use of historic photographs of Herty Hall, provided by Special Collections.

"Special Collections has a wealth of primary documents that are available to be incorporated to enhance university curriculum," Leavitt said. "The library is thrilled to be exhibiting student work, and we'd like for all university faculty to know the library has several exhibit options available. Any interested party should contact me about possibilities for exhibition within the facility."

The scientific-looking exhibit—with its molecule-shaped photographs, flasks, beakers and test tubes—are easy companions to nearby containers of inks and screen-printing materials. The large-window display is called, "Chemistry in Art: How STEAM-Based Projects Can Be Integrated Into Any Area at GC" and shows off student work resulting from the collaboration of two professors.

Assistant Professors Dr. Peter Rosado Flores in chemistry and Matt Forrest in art began working together in 2016 to create an overlap of science and art. Chemistry students used organic-compound reactions to produce a Creamsicle-orange pigment. Art students added oils and acrylics to thicken the dye for screen printing. This provided students with real-world applications of chemistry, while giving artists the means to produce orange-tinted photographs of Herty Hall and other art topics from Star Wars to pop culture.

"A traditional lab would involve dropping the dye in a waste bucket for disposal after synthesis, writing a lab report and being graded on it," Rosado said. "The way we've concocted this means students don't stop in the lab but find applications outside of the lab."

"We should engrain in our students the need to be circular, meaning well-rounded, not straight lines," he said. "They don't need to only focus on one field of study. Students should be encouraged to find applications outside their field of study, as well."

Forrest's expertise is in printmaking. He also teaches digital design courses. Rosado has a background in inorganic synthesis and experience in the cosmetics industry, which utilizes color theory.

Over the years, the professors moved their students to other applications for chemistry and art. Using the same concept, they started offering demonstrations. Students mix dye and synthesize with different binders, showing fellow students the importance of elements that hold paint together.

They moved out of the classroom, as well. Recently, students worked at Andalusia with restoration grants to produce prints based on pictures of Flannery O'Connor's farm. Advanced printmaking students learned to mix multiple colors, based off photographs and reproduce imagery on Lino-cut, also known as a wood cut. Students also experimented with the chemistry behind watercolor and acrylics. They prepared their own dye and learned how pantone colors play a role in the development of art and how reproduction of color can be achieved in chemistry labs.

"Working with Peter on these projects, going to conferences and working together on grants has changed my own teaching and the projects I introduce," Forrest said. "We can see students look at art in a different light from having these experiences, and chemistry expands that understanding."

"That collaboration is the foundation of a liberal arts experience," he said, "and this experience, like many at Georgia College, helps bridge that understanding."

In the future, Rosado envisions an industrial aspect being added to his collaboration with Forrest. He hopes students will design tailored colors for mock clients and, maybe, even real ones.

Senior art major Sophia Daniel jumped into this collaboration to conduct undergraduate research. She dyed different fabrics—organic, synthetic and blended fibers—to see which material dye adheres to best. Working with chemistry major Shira Duke, Daniel measured the color on each dyed fabric swatch with an RGB Color Analyzer, which shows the amount of red, blue and green on an item.

The student team experimented with different light sources (indoor light, white light and sunlight) and put fabrics through three wash cycles (hot, cold and dry clean). Then, they measure how much dye was lost in each cleaning process. They found dry cleaning is best for preserving colors.

“I love the overlap of departments because, even though students have friends from different majors, they don't always get to participate in what each are learning,” Daniel said. “A lot of chemistry goes into art, especially art products and certain medium processes, such as print making or ceramics. Having the overlap be more direct caters to creativity and critical thinking that can be utilized by all students.”

The chem/art display will be in the library through spring semester.

Flourishing in Academia

Monday, March 23 from 3:00 pm to 4:45 pm

Tuesday, March 24 from 12:30 pm to 2:15 pm

Teaching tends to be an unusually meaningful profession, but it can also be stressful. Often even the best instructors go through periods where they feel bored, burned out, depressed, or anxious. Perhaps the most common way we attempt to solve such issues is to go out with colleagues for a "gripe fest", but how often does that solve the problem? Applied Positive Psychology provides strategies that actually CAN make a big difference when you need a boost. These same strategies can work well with our students at a time when anxiety and depression are at historic highs among undergraduates across the nation. This workshop will be held twice. The first event will be on Monday,

March 9 in Ina Dillard Russell Library, Room 376, from 3:00 pm to 4:45 pm. The second event will be on Tuesday, March 10 in Ina Dillard Russell Library, Room 376, from 12:30 pm to 2:15 pm. Join Dr. Cynthia Alby to learn more about applied positive psychology in education.

Facilitating Difficult Conversations

Wednesday, March 25 from 12 noon to 1:00 pm

In today's politically charged atmosphere, conversations can be shut down, preventing learning from taking place. Dr. Stephanie McClure will guide workshop participants on how to approach difficult conversations in the classroom. She will also discuss what others have done to carry on successful conversations in the classroom. This workshop will be held Wednesday, March 25 from 12 noon to 1:00 pm in the Ina Dillard Russell Library, Room 376.

Read Across America

Academic Advising Center : Tuesday March 3, 2020

Monday, March 2, we celebrated Dr. Seuss' birthday at Lakeview Primary School located in Baldwin County. Communities in Schools were able to host over 40 volunteers from the GC Athletics Department thanks to the collaboration between Communities in School's Site Coordinator Jessica Arp and the Head Volleyball Coach Gretchen Krumdieck. We had a variety of student-athletes ranging from basketball to softball along with our fantastic coaches and staff.

The volunteers were provided with Dr. Seuss hats and a wide variety of Dr. Seuss books to read to each classroom in the school, roughly 700 students. The teachers and students at LVP absolutely love it when the athletic department volunteers at the school. The students respond so positively to the athletes and the coaches dressed in their Bobcat gear! We were also joined by the Baldwin County Solicitors office and a CIS volunteer.

The event was a great success thanks to everyone who attended.

Go Bobcats!

Astronomer publishes research in esteemed publication

College of Arts & Sciences : Tuesday March 3, 2020

Associate professor of physics and astronomy Dr. Arash Bodaghee and a Georgia College student, who has since graduated, are two of eight co-authors of a 44-page article on stellar winds in an esteemed journal, Astronomy & Astrophysics.

Dr. Chavonda Mills, chair of chemistry, physics and astronomy, called the publication a “great accomplishment.”

“The international journal is generally considered to be among the top two journals devoted solely to astronomy,” Mills said. “For an undergraduate student to have published in such a journal is quite remarkable. Their accomplishment embodies the spirit of GC Journeys and Georgia College’s path to preeminence.”

The peer-reviewed article, “The stellar and wind parameters of six prototypical HMXBs and their evolutionary status,” describes the team’s Hubble telescope analysis of a set of X-ray sources. Published in January, the research offers “a rare glimpse into the physical processes that govern accretion on compact objects, massive-star winds, and stellar evolution,” according to the paper summary. Characteristics of stellar winds in these types of systems have been poorly studied. The team’s “multi-wavelength approach” allowed examination of six “donor stars”—some “in an advanced evolutionary stage.”

“In a high-mass X-ray binary, a neutron star or a black hole is paired with a massive star,” Bodaghee said. “These systems will one day be the source of gravitational wave events currently detected by the LIGO/Virgo observatories.”

“Today, they allow us to study the way matter behaves under intense electromagnetic and gravitational fields. This research used data from multiple telescopes including Hubble to better refine models of winds in these systems,” he said.

One of Bodaghee’s physics scholars, Keri Spetzer, was majoring in physics and math in 2014. Working with $20,000 from NASA, the two analyzed the preliminary data which consisted of the first time Hubble had ever observed these objects, and worked in collaboration with the Potsdam Observatory in Berlin, Germany, and California Institute of Technology, exploring the relationship between massive stars and their fuel sources—black holes and neutron stars.

Spetzer’s role was to collect raw data from the Hubble Space Telescope and create workable images and spectra. Bodaghee guided that part of her research, including the analysis of X-ray data from the Swift-Gehrels space telescope, and sent their results to Potsdam and Caltech for further refinement.

“I remember feeling like it was Christmas morning at the time,” Bodaghee said, “since she and I were the first humans to see that part of the sky with Hubble.”

Communities In Schools Open School-Based Health Clinic at the Early Learning Center

Communities in Schools : Tuesday March 3, 2020

Communities In Schools of Milledgeville/Baldwin County is proud to announce that the Bee Well School-Based Health Clinic has expanded its hours to better serve the students, staff, and immediate family members of Baldwin County School District. The clinic will now be open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday while school is in session from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Services provided through the clinic are identical to the care one would receive at a general practitioner's or pediatrician's office. Well-checks, sports physicals, vaccines and sick visits can all be accommodated through the Bee Well Clinic. All major forms of insurance, including private insurance, Medicaid and Peachcare are accepted. Uninsured patients are given the opportunity to complete an income-based application to assist with the costs associated with healthcare, many only paying up to $25 for their visit.

The Bee Well School-Based Health Clinic is an element of the Wraparound Baldwin Federal Grant and exists as a partnership between Communities In Schools of Milledgeville/Baldwin County, Baldwin County School District, Georgia College and our healthcare provider, Community Health Care Systems, Inc. Initial operation for the clinic, located inside the Baldwin County School District Early Learning Center, began with two, half days per week in October 2019. The usage and positive reception of the clinic encouraged leadership to increase the days and hours of operation to best serve students, teachers and their families. Negotiations are in the works to provide school transportation for Baldwin County students from all Baldwin County Schools to the Bee Well Clinic at the Early Learning Center. Signed consent forms are a requirement for clinical care in the absence of a parent or guardian. Walk-ins are welcome or appointments can be made by calling the clinic at (478) 215-4009.

For more information on the clinic please contact Courtney Bentley, program coordinator for Communities In Schools of Milledgeville/Baldwin County at (478) 457-2914 or courtney.bentley@gcsu.edu.

Fulbright Scholarship Info Sessions

Honors College : Thursday March 5, 2020

The National Scholarships Office will be offering two info sessions on the Fulbright US Student Program.

On March 9 at 5PM in Lanier Hall 200, we'll be talking about the Fulbright Study/Research Grant, which funds study and research abroad. For this award, recipients will design their own projects and will typically work with advisers at foreign universities or other institutes of higher education, either working towards a degree abroad or completing an independent research project.

On March 10 at 5PM in Lanier Hall 200, we'll be talking about the Fulbright English Teaching Assistantship (ETA) program, which places Fulbrighters in classrooms abroad to provide assistance to the local English teachers. ETAs help teach English language while serving as cultural ambassadors for the U.S. The age and academic level of the students varies by country, ranging from kindergarten to university level.

The Fulbright Scholarship is funded through the US State Department and provides opportunities for recent graduates. Although students can only apply in their senior year or as alumni, any member of the university community who might be interested in learning more about Fulbright is encouraged to come learn more - it's never too early to start preparing for post-graduation plans! Faculty and staff who might be interested in identifying students for this prestigious program are also welcome to attend.

Marketing major wins highest award for student from AMA Atlanta

University Communications : Thursday March 5, 2020

Senior marketing major Mary Caroline Tracy received the Ken Bernhardt AMA Atlanta Outstanding Collegiate Marketer Award. It's presented to collegiate members of American Marketing Association (AMA) Atlanta who demonstrate an outstanding commitment to making a difference in the field of marketing.

"MC is absolutely exceptional," said Dr. Joanna Schwartz, professor of marketing. "Georgia College has had students compete well at the regional level, but this is the first time in GC history that one of our students has received the top prize for this scholarship. She won because she exemplifies what every club hopes its leader will be. She's dynamic and enthusiastic, and she really cares about her fellow students and the benefits they can get from the club. She motivates the rest of our leadership team to get things done and makes participating in the club informative and fun."

Nominated by Schwartz, Tracy received the highest award and $1,000. In 2020, one college marketing student was awarded $1,000 from the Ken Bernhardt endowment fund, and other winners received $500.

"I was really excited," Tracy said about winning the award. "It felt like the dedication that I have put into my future was important to win this award, and so I felt accomplished."

The award winners will be announced at the 2020 Atlanta Marketer of the Year (AMY) Awards March 12 and the AMA Atlanta Collegiate Conference April 4.

To be considered for the award, students must submit an application along with a recommendation letter from a marketing professor.

"Georgia College has given me opportunities of leadership both on and off campus through classes, clubs, part-time jobs, campus ministry involvement and Greek life involvement," said Tracy.

Among her many accomplishments, Tracy has worked as marketing coordinator for Pineland Cogentes and a social media intern for Mills Financial Partners. She's also served as president of the Marketing Club, photo ambassador for a study abroad trip and competed twice in the Geico Elevator Pitch Competition winning first place and second place in the competitions.

Campus updates on Coronavirus

University Communications : Thursday March 5, 2020

March 12, 2020 - 11:40 a.m

Wellness and Recreation Center Update

Dear Campus Community,

Late yesterday afternoon, we came to understand that a community member who stated they had recently traveled to Italy had used the Wellness and Recreation Center. Although the individual is asymptomatic, out of an abundance of caution, the Center was closed immediately and we contacted the Department of Public Health. We were advised to conduct a routine cleaning of the facility and to reopen. The individual has been contacted and informed they may not use the WRC until further notice.

Please know the health and safety of our students is always our top priority.

Britt McRae, MN, NP-C
Director, Student Health Services

March 10, 2020 - 4:46 p.m.

Campus community update from President Dorman on coronavirus and springbreak travel.

Dear Campus Community:

With Spring Break approaching, many of us will be taking a well-deserved break from campus. We continue to monitor the Coronavirus outbreak very carefully and want everyone to be safe and healthy upon their return to campus.

Please keep in mind the following if you are planning to travel during Spring Break or anytime thereafter:

- Check the travel information on the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and State Department websites and talk with your family and travel companions to make a wise decision about travel plans.
- The CDC has urged everyone to avoid traveling to or through any of the locations with a Level 3 or Level 4 travel health notice.
- Consistent with guidelines from the CDC and the Georgia Department of Health, anyone traveling to, from or through a Level 3 or higher travel designation cannot return to campus until they have been asymptomatic for a period of 14 days from the date of entering or reentering the United States. These self-quarantined travelers must follow CDC and local health authority guidelines prior to returning to campus in an effort to keep everyone safe.

Guidelines for self-quarantine from the CDC include:

- Washing dishes, clothing, and bedding regularly.
- Limiting the sharing of household items like drinking glasses, plates, utensils, bedding, towels, and clothing.
- Regular cleaning of all high-touch surfaces including tables, countertops, doorknobs, keyboards, tablets, bathroom fixtures, television remotes, and phones.
- Frequent hand washing.
- Limiting contact with others in the home, including pets.

- Restricting activities outside the home except for appointments with a medical professional for evaluation.
- Please note that the status of countries or regions identified by the CDC as having an elevated health risk may change while you are traveling and thus could affect airport or other travel procedures. Please pay attention to ongoing guidance and information from the CDC and the State Department websites for the latest updates.
- The State Department has recently alerted travelers of an increased risk of infection of COVID-19 in a cruise ship environment.
- At this point in time we are not transitioning to an online format for current instruction. We do encourage all faculty members to prepare for online instructional delivery should unfolding circumstances require this approach to accommodate our students. Similarly, we encourage all students to prepare for the possibility of an online learning environment by accessing their GeorgiaView/D2L accounts.
- For all students, faculty and staff: if you are traveling in any capacity (international or domestic), whether for university business or personal travel, we have created an online travel registry. We encourage everyone to register their travel through our online Travel Registry Form. You may be required to use your Unify credentials.
- If anyone experiences symptoms consistent with the coronavirus, please take all necessary precautions by self-isolating and seeking medical attention from your primary care provider or other appropriate health care facility.

The safety of our entire campus is our highest priority. For more information on the coronavirus, including guidance, resources and campus-specific announcements, please refer to our website. We will be updating the site regularly.

Thank you for staying informed on this rapidly evolving situation.

The College of Education's Diversity Committee is hosting a free screening of the powerful documentary entitled "PUSHOUT: The Criminalization of Black Girls in Schools" on Wednesday, March 11th at 12pm in the Peabody Auditorium. This film by Monique W. Morris and Jacoba Atlas critically examines the discrimination and excessive punishment that Black girls in K-12 schools face at the intersections of race and gender. As part of the COE's Social Justice Dialogue Series, "PUSHOUT" forces viewers to reflect on Black girlhood and how our unfair perceptions can have devastating consequences for Black girls in schools. A discussion will follow directly afterward.

This viewing is free and open to the public.

University Communications : Tuesday March 10, 2020

U.S. News & World Report has released its ‘Best Online Programs Rankings’ for 2020—nationally recognizing programs from all four of the university’s colleges. Three online graduate programs ranked first in the state.

The Master of Business Administration (Georgia WebMBA®) at Georgia College jumped from third last year to first in the state. The program—allowing professionals to earn an MBA completely online without interrupting their work and personal lives—ranked 40 in the country. MBA Central also chose the university’s Georgia WebMBA® as their top MBA program in the state. Their methodology was based on affordability, support services and quality of coursework.

U.S. News & World Report ranked Georgia College's online Logistics and Supply Chain Management Master at 17 nationally and first in the state. The program was ranked among other non-MBA Best Online Master Business disciplines, such as accounting, finance and logistics. For that group of master's programs, Georgia College is second in the state.

Georgia College’s online graduate nursing programs placed first statewide for the second year in a row. They ranked 28 in the nation. These programs include Master of Science in Nursing with track options of Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP), FNP Post Master, Nurse Educator and Professional Enrichment, as well as Doctor of Nursing Practice.

Georgia College’s criminal justice master was one of only four programs in the state to be ranked by U.S. News & World Report. The university’s online graduate education programs ranked third in Georgia.

Three online Georgia College programs named first in state by U.S. News & World Report

University Communications : Tuesday March 10, 2020

U.S. News & World Report has released its ‘Best Online Programs Rankings’ for 2020—nationally recognizing programs from all four of the university’s colleges. Three online graduate programs ranked first in the state.

The Master of Business Administration (Georgia WebMBA®) at Georgia College jumped from third last year to first in the state. The program—allowing professionals to earn an MBA completely online without interrupting their work and personal lives—ranked 40 in the country. MBA Central also chose the university’s Georgia WebMBA® as their top MBA program in the state. Their methodology was based on affordability, support services and quality of coursework.

U.S. News & World Report ranked Georgia College's online Logistics and Supply Chain Management Master at 17 nationally and first in the state. The program was ranked among other non-MBA Best Online Master Business disciplines, such as accounting, finance and logistics. For that group of master's programs, Georgia College is second in the state.

Georgia College’s online graduate nursing programs placed first statewide for the second year in a row. They ranked 28 in the nation. These programs include Master of Science in Nursing with track options of Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP), FNP Post Master, Nurse Educator and Professional Enrichment, as well as Doctor of Nursing Practice.

Georgia College’s criminal justice master was one of only four programs in the state to be ranked by U.S. News & World Report. The university’s online graduate education programs ranked third in Georgia.

“In recent years, Georgia College has experienced tremendous growth in our online graduate programs. I am delighted to see the success of these programs recognized nationally as we continue to enhance our programs,” said Georgia College President Dr. Steve Dorman.

Students: Important Information Regarding Housing Move Out

University Communications : Tuesday March 17, 2020

Dear Students:

In the interest of all students, the University System of Georgia (USG) announced a decision to move all instruction to an online format for the remainder of the semester. Georgia College will be closing all on-campus housing facilities, including West Campus Apartments, with minimal exceptions for students unable to return home, or who cannot find housing elsewhere.

Following guidance from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) regarding social distancing and in an effort to prevent large crowds, the move out process will occur in a staggered manner in multiple batches. Therefore, students are not allowed to return to campus until they receive permission from Georgia College. You will receive specific instructions regarding when you will be allowed to return to campus to retrieve your belongings from residence halls. Students must follow those instructions. We will make every effort to accommodate those students who are unable to depart campus.

On Wednesday, March 18, University Housing will release information regarding move-out procedures via email to all on-campus students. Students will be assigned a specific time for move out over the next week. To maintain student safety, it will be critical that students do not arrive on campus before their scheduled time. University Housing will provide instructions for rescheduling for those students who are unable to meet the move-out appointment.

In addition to the closure of on-campus housing, please note the following:

- Classes will resume via online instruction on Monday, March 30.
- The USG will be providing guidance to campuses regarding refunds for housing, dining, and other services. Students should wait for Georgia College to contact them.
- The Georgia College campus remains open with minimal staffing to ensure business and learning continuity.

Thank you for your patience and understanding during this unprecedented time. With your help, we will ensure the collective safety of our entire campus community.

Kind Regards,

Steve Dorman
President
Georgia College

Update from President Dorman regarding commencement

University Communications : Thursday March 19, 2020

Dear Graduating Students:

I know that many of you are deeply disappointed upon hearing the news that Commencement will be cancelled in May. I, too, am disappointed as I always look forward to talking about the collective accomplishments of our students, seeing your smiling faces as you celebrate with each other and shaking your hand as you cross the stage.

The directive from the University System to cancel Commencement affects our Georgia College community as well as all other institutions within the University System of Georgia. Please understand that I know this was a very difficult decision that was taken with the best interests of our students and their families. We want to protect your health and safety and the health and safety of your family members who might gather for commencement. As you know, this decision is in keeping with the guidance issued by the CDC and the DPH regarding the assembly of large crowds.

These are difficult times, and there is much uncertainty and disruption happening all around us. However, Georgia College is committed to making sure we honor the achievements of our graduating students. We will not allow these unfortunate circumstances to take this precious moment away from you. If at all possible.. you will get your ceremony!

To all graduating students, please know that we will do all that we can to deliver the graduation experience that you deserve. We want to celebrate your accomplishments! To those ends, we can announce the following:

- We are exploring multiple options to provide graduating students with a virtual ceremony for the May 1st and 2nd ceremonies. More information about this will be coming soon.
- In addition, we are committed to providing a postponed traditional ceremony in the near future as soon as the CDC and DPH indicate that it is safe to do so in a large event environment.
- It has always been our policy to allow graduating students who are unable to march at their own ceremony to attend a commencement ceremony at a later time. We will continue to honor that option for all graduating students.

On behalf of the entire Georgia College community, let me express my deep appreciation for your understanding and your patience during these unprecedented times. I am proud of what you have accomplished and look forward to the many ways in which we will celebrate your success with you and your loved ones.

Sincerely,

Steve Dorman
President
Georgia College

Wednesday, March 25 Imani Mosley, a visiting assistant professor of music at Wichita State University, will give a guest lecture titled “‘A Work That Speaks Its Own Message’: Re-evaluating the Twentieth-Century American Canon in the Twenty-First Century” at 7:30 p.m. in Max Noah Recital Hall. As we enter the third decade of the 21st Century, there is need for fresh perspectives on the history, influence and status of the 20th-Century American compositional canon. Difficult conversations are still being held today in musical spaces, concerning race, gender and privilege. There is newfound interest in the work of black composers, such as Florence Price, William Grant Still, Margaret Bonds and George Walker. Lesser-known composers are becoming part of a larger conversation about American classical music. Mosley’s lecture will examine all these themes. A $10 donation is encouraged. Flood Advisory: Baldwin County Flood Warning

Public Safety : Tuesday March 24, 2020

To the GC Community,

The National Weather Service has issued a Flood Warning for Baldwin County until 8:33 pm on February 8th. The water level of the Oconee River has risen significantly due to recent storms, and gates are being opened on the Sinclair Dam. While the threat of severe weather has significantly diminished, the additional rain enhances the risk of flooding. If you come across a flooded roadway, turn around.

Georgia College has been informed of several road closures due to flooding, including Underwood Road, a main roadway to reach Arcadia on the River. If you are unable to leave your residence due to road closures, please wait for the waters to recede and the road is reopened. If you are a campus community member and are unable to reach your off-campus residence due to road closures, please call Public Safety at (478) 445-4400, to inquire about options and resources. For emergency assistance off-campus, dial 911.

Modified Hiring/Onboarding Practices: Effective Immediately

Human Resources, Office of : Thursday March 26, 2020

As we transition to a mainly remote environment for an undetermined period of time, Human Resources has modified existing hiring practices to be effective immediately. All offer letter templates have been modified to reflect the changes; all instructions for new hires and rehires are clearly laid out within the offer letter.

We still need for you to submit offer letters to HR for review before you issue the offer letter and ALL enclosures to your prospective new hire/rehire. However, instead of having the individual physically submit the items to HR, they can temporarily submit complete new hire packets to employment@gcsu.edu.

A couple of temporary exceptions have been put into place based on federal and USG processes:

1. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and U.S. Immigration & Customs Enforcement (ICE) have made a temporary exception for employees to be allowed to submit electronic copies of their original identification documents to accompany their Form I-9. However, once we return to normal/standard business operation, those who turned in electronic copies will be required to submit their original identification documents to HR within 3 business days. Failure to do so will mean that HR is unable to verify their eligibility for employment within the United States per E-Verify regulations, and the employee will be terminated at the end of the 3rd business day. There is a new enclosure to accompany the offer letter that is an acknowledgement of this temporary exception on the requirement to submit original identification documents at a later date.
2. Accurate Background has advised that the mandatory closing of various agencies due to COVID-19 will impact turnaround time for background and credit searches. As of COB 3/26/2020, over 45 courthouses across Georgia are closed. The USG has announced a temporary exception of a contingency clearance for employment if the pending results are within the counties where courthouses are closed. If unfavorable background and/or credit results are discovered once final clearance is obtained, HR will consult with the employee and follow our standard pre-adverse process. There is a new enclosure to accompany the offer letter that is an acknowledgement of this temporary exception.

The modified offer letter templates and additional enclosures can be found by following the steps outlined below:

1. Login to Unify
2. Click on Service Apps, then scroll down and click on Human Resources
3. Toward the middle of the screen on the right side, there's a gray menu box--click on Employment Services
4. Click the blue box that says Employment Services Intranet Site
5. From the menu on the left side, click on Onboarding Employees
6. Select your respective hire and/or rehire's Employment Type (Regular Staff, Temp Staff, Students, Graduate Assistants, etc.)

To recap:

1. Hires can now submit completed new hire paperwork to employment@gcsu.edu for processing; hiring manager—PLEASE make sure you are providing you employees with all enclosures that are listed within your approved offer letters.
2. DHS & ICE are temporarily allowing the submission of electronic copies of ID docs; there is a new enclosure that will accompany the offer letter that explains this.
3. Accurate Background has announced delays in results, so USG has allowed contingency clearance for employment; there is a new enclosure that will accompany the offer letter that explains this.

If you have any questions about these changes, please don't hesitate to contact me for clarification.

GC Helping Hands Hardship Fund

University Advancement : Thursday March 26, 2020

<https://crowdthunder.gcsu.edu/project/20434>

Help our students today with your gift to the GC Helping Hands Hardship Fund.

With your gift we can help alleviate the unexpected burdens students face as they are displaced from campus. Many students are no longer able to work on campus and/or in the surrounding areas. Without an income students are increasingly facing bills they cannot pay. Some of these burdens include purchases of food, rent payments due, utility bills, gas, etc.

Our Georgia College community is special. It is unrivaled. Because of you, we are #GCUnited.

Music, Department of : Friday March 27, 2020

Monday, March 30 - A solo piano recital, "Exhibition," by Georgia College Keyboard Coordinator Dr. Owen Lovell will stream live at 7:30 p.m. at facebook.com/georgiacollegealumni and at facebook.com/GCMusicDepartment. It will not be recorded or stay on Facebook after the concert. Like an exhibition, each piece will be 'showy' in a way that represents each composer's style and time period. HR Deadline Today for 04/19/2020 Starts

Human Resources, Office of : Friday March 27, 2020

Today—Friday, March 27, 2020—is the deadline for offer letter submission to Human Resources for any staff or student bi-weekly new hire or rehire starting on April 19, 2020. Offer letter submission is the first step on the updated start date matrices for all new and rehires. All student and staff offer letters must be sent to HR for review and approval before extending them to the new hire or rehire. This helps ensure that we remain compliant with our many institutional, USG, state, and federal regulations.

The next bi-weekly start date for eligible new hires and rehires will be May 3, 2019.

There is a deadline within the matrix for document submission to HR. Please encourage your new hires and rehires to deliver their offer letter acceptance and ALL enclosures to HR via email to employment@gcsu.edu by this deadline (April 1, 2020) to ensure that there will be no immediate delay in start date of 05/03/2020. All documents should be submitted together; a complete new hire/rehire packet makes for a smoother onboarding experience.

Offer Letter Templates:

The offer letter templates for students and staff were updated March 24, 2020 to accommodate the current workplace conditions; there are some temporary exceptions in place and it is vital that you reference the most up-to-date documents. Everything is available on the intranet for review; this includes the Faculty & Staff Forms section of the Intranet and the HR Intranet, specifically the Employment Services section. Please discard any old saved templates and use the current documents online. The HR Intranet can be accessed by following the steps below:

- 1) Login to Unify
- 2) Click on Service Apps, then scroll down and click on Human Resources.
- 3) Toward the middle of the screen on the right side, there's a gray menu box--click on Employment Services.
- 4) Click the blue box that says Employment Services Intranet Site.
- 5) From the menu on the left side, click on Onboarding Employees.
- 6) Select your Employment Type (Regular Staff, Temp Staff, Students, Graduate Assistants, etc.)

Start Date Matrices & Clearances for Start Dates:

I'd like to extend a reminder of the Start Date Matrices we have in place for our monthly & bi-weekly paid staff and students. These matrices are in place in order to allow for adequate processing of new hire/rehire paperwork, and to ensure that your new/returning employees have all access they need on the day they are scheduled to report to work. We need all pertinent paperwork (offer letters, PAFs, etc.) prior to the effective date. Please keep these dates in mind as you consider adding/changing information such as, but not limited to:

- New hires
- Rehires
- Changing position titles
- Adding concurrent position
- Changing managers/timecard reports to
- Funding source changes

This window of time allows for processing of pre-employment background checks, credit checks, and drug screens

(when required), review and processing of PAFs in all pertinent departments, compliance checks regarding eligibility for employment based on federal regulations, and data entry into multiple systems to ensure all necessary access is granted.

Please be mindful of your records and adhere to the start and end dates for all employees. This ensures that we remain compliant with institutional, USG, state, & federal regulations and that we minimize any risk to the institution. If you wish to extend an employee's original term date, please contact us prior to that date and in accordance with the respective start date matrix per the employee type.

All employees MUST meet all required clearances before they are eligible to begin work. There are no exceptions. HR will issue a formal clearance email to the manager once the employee is clear to begin work. If HR issues a clearance date, employees cannot "volunteer" before said clearance date unless they have met the appropriate clearances required of a volunteer.

I have attached the April-September 2020 matrices for monthly paid staff, bi-weekly paid staff, and students (all paid bi-weekly) for quick review of the upcoming months. We communicated changes to this process in October 2018; be mindful of the revised timelines and deadlines in place. Please see the respective tabs/sheets at the bottom of the spreadsheet for each category of employee/pay schedule. If you have any questions about these dates, please don't hesitate to contact myself or any member of the Employment Services Team.

Offer letters must be sent to employment@gcsu.edu for review & approval prior to issuing to your new hires and/or rehires.

All PAFs must be sent to PAF@gcsu.edu for processing.

But how do you create modules that are ideal for students to learn from at home? And then what do you do in class with the time you've freed up? Dr. Cynthia Alby explains! This workshop will be offered twice, once on Monday, April 13, and again on Tuesday, April 14. Registrants will receive a link to join the WebEx session of their choice for this workshop.

Part 2 of AlcoholEdu and Part 2 of Sexual Assault Prevention for Undergraduates is DUE 3/27/2020. Both of these courses are required for Freshman Seminar in order to receive a "Pass" in the course. Students can log in to their PAWS account and complete the required courses there. There are 2 programs that must be finished, so please make sure your screen says "Complete" for both sections. Students who are "In Intercession" will have to wait the full 45 days since completing Part 1 before Part 2 will open. Students who have not completed Part 1 will not be able to start Part 2 until they wait the full 45 days, in which that time window is closing very quickly. It is important that students go ahead and finish these courses now so that grades will not be affected at the end of the semester.

Final S.T.A.R. Ally Date of Spring Semester Moving Online

Women's Center : Friday March 27, 2020

LGBTQ+ Programs is moving our last S.T.A.R. Ally training of the semester online, and there are still spaces left for folks to attend! Register for the Friday April 3rd, 2-5 p.m. training here: <http://bit.ly/gcstarspring20>

The S.T.A.R. Ally (Support, Teach, Affirm, Respect; previously known as Safe Space) program advances one of Georgia College's guiding principles of "instilling respect for human diversity and individuality," by affirming people of all sexual and gender identities and lessening the prejudice that limits the university experience and well-being of LGBTQ+ identified students, faculty, staff, facility members and administrators.

The overarching goals of S.T.A.R. Ally training are to increase participants' awareness and knowledge of LGBTQ+ people's identities and experiences, as well as provide the skills to be an ally for the LGBTQ+ community at Georgia College and beyond.

Please note, S.T.A.R. Ally training cannot be made a mandatory training for any individual or group. If you are interested in having your organization or group trained, please contact the LGBTQ+ Programs Coordinator to discuss your needs.

- Log in at www.ourwellbeing.usg.edu
- Go to the team challenge page!
- Join a team (they'll be happy to have you)
- Make sure your activity tracker is connected to get credit for all your hard-earned steps

About the Challenge

Spring is in the air! And so are antsy walkers ready to let loose. Work with your team to put some spring in that step — and see how far you can get.

Challenge Rules

Dates

This challenge starts on April 6, 2020 at 12am local time, and ends on May 01, 2020 at 11:59pm local time.

The last chance to upload your steps is May 3, 2020 at 11:59pm local time. Steps uploaded after this date won't be counted in the final results. Try uploading daily—it's more fun!

Teams

Teams can have up to 10 participants.

You can join an existing team or create a new team. It's up to you!

Either way, try to have a full team of 10 to maximize your score.

Scores

Team scores are based on total team steps.

The more steps your team gets, the better your score.

To contribute to your team score, upload steps from a fitness tracker or app.

You can get credit for a maximum of 30,000 steps per day (so aim high)!

The team with the most steps at the end of the challenge wins!

Good to Know

If you leave the challenge, you have until April 13, 11:59pm local time to rejoin. If you don't rejoin by this date you won't be able to participate in this challenge.

Participant names and step counts may be shared with other challenge participants and administrators.

You have up to 14 days to go back and enter steps prior to the upload deadline. If you leave a team after the challenge start date, you can't rejoin the challenge. If you join a team after the challenge start date, some of your steps may not count. (Skip the heartache - join before the challenge starts.)

Participants names and step counts may be shared with other challenge participants and administrators.

There are currently two GC teams: Breezin' Bobcats and GCSU Get Fit Crew

Reminder: Due Dates for Library Materials/Equipment

: Monday March 30, 2020

Reminder: Russell Library faculty and staff are encouraging faculty, staff, and students to not return the library items they currently have checked out unless it is necessary. This includes Russell Library books, DVDs, and equipment, as well as Interlibrary Loan materials and GIL Express books. As a part of our support of instruction during this time, Russell Library has adjusted due dates to prevent overdue notices and/or fines. As a result of this process, all items that were originally due between 3/1/2020 and 4/15/2020 are now due on 5/1/2020. If it becomes necessary, the library will continue to adjust due dates forward to continue our support.

Currently, the GIL Express service is suspended, as well as all physical item requests via Interlibrary Loan. Any of these items currently on their way to Russell Library will not be available until or unless there is a return to campus. Interlibrary Loan for digital resources will remain available for new requests, with delivery online for those resources.

Additionally, Russell Library faculty and staff will be available via chat, text, email, and phone to answer any questions or provide additional support. Please contact us if you have any questions or concerns.
