Vice President for Finance and Administration

University Communications : Monday June 7, 2021

Dear Campus Community,

I am pleased to announce that Mr. Lee Fruitticher has been selected to serve as our Vice President for Finance and Administration effective July 1, 2021. Mr. Fruitticher has been part of Executive Cabinet since January 1, 2021 in his capacity as Interim Vice President for University Advancement. He has over 25 years of experience in the University System of Georgia across a wide range of financial, administrative, and auxiliary responsibilities.

Prior to joining Georgia College, Mr. Fruitticher served as the Vice President of Finance and Chief Financial Officer for Augusta University and Gordon State College. He has also worked at Middle Georgia State University in a variety of senior roles in business services, budgeting and auxiliary services. Earlier in his career, Mr. Fruitticher also worked as an auditor with the Georgia Department of Audits in Augusta and the Board of Regents in Atlanta.

Mr. Fruitticher brings a deep knowledge of finance, administration, and auxiliary services to Georgia College. I know that we will benefit from his experience in strategic, fiscal and capital planning. I would also like to thank the search committee, chaired by Provost Spirou, for their careful deliberations along with members of our community who have provided feedback from the various campus forums.

Please join me in congratulating Lee as he transitions to his new role.

Sincerely,

Steve M. Dorman

President

GC Claims Peach Belt Institution of the Year

Athletics : Monday June 7, 2021

Georgia College is the winner of the 2020-21 Peach Belt Conference Institution of the Year Sportsmanship Award. Bobcat Athletics wins the honor for the second time in the last four years. A banner that rotates from winning school to winning school will return to Milledgeville for the first time since the 2017 season as GC becomes only the second PBC institution to win the award more than once.

"We are honored to receive this recognition from our peers," said Director of Athletics Wendell Staton. "Our student-athletes are fantastic ambassadors for our university as they participate with passion and integrity while respecting the game, our opponents, and fans in attendance. Our foundation is built upon the concept of recruiting and retaining outstanding people, and the Institution of the Year for Sportsmanship is a direct reflection of the outstanding character of our student-athletes and the coaches who lead them daily."

The annual honor is given to the institution displaying the best overall sportsmanship for the 2020-21 season and culminates the PBC's season-long sportsmanship recognition program.

Following each championship sports season, a Team Sportsmanship Award is presented to the team in that sport that best exemplifies what the award stands for: the spirit of sportsmanship, a high degree of integrity, character, and class. Each team award is voted on by other teams who compete in that sport and points are awarded on how each team finished in the voting.

In 2020-21, Georgia College won Team Sportsmanship Awards in Men's Basketball, Women's Soccer, and Women's Tennis. GC has won 23 Team Sportsmanship Awards overall in the 13-year history of the program, tied for second-most among all PBC institutions.

Nicholson selected to conduct research in London, UK

World Languages & Cultures, Department of : Monday June 7, 2021

Congratulations to Dr. Brantley Nicholson, associate professor of Spanish and Latin American Culture, on his selection as a member of the U.S. and Americas Program at the internationally renowned Chatham House in London.

In spring and part of summer (Jan. 2022 through July 2022), Dr. Nicholson will be in residence at Chatham House in London, UK, working on a project called, "The New Global South" analyzing shared Pan-American imaginaries in the American I-85 and Andean Corridors. He will have the opportunity to provide a comparative study between cities such as Charlotte, Atlanta and Raleigh-Durham and their Andean counterparts, such as Medellin, Bogota and Santiago. The project is an extension of research presented in a forthcoming article, titled "Santiago as an Icon of the (New) South."

According to Nicholson, the New South and the Global South are important concepts in cultural and economic theory.

"Given my experience growing up in the New South and exploring the Global South through my intellectual focus on Latin America, it struck me that there was a lot of unexplored overlap between the two," he said. "While I have talked about this new vocabulary with students, especially during our study abroad to Chile, the sabbatical at Chatham House will give me the opportunity to expand on my article, Santiago as an Icon of the (New) South, and expand on the concept."

Exposure to the speaker series and leading intellectuals who pass through Chatham House will give Nicholson the opportunity to develop the vocabulary, as he expands the focus to cities such as Medellin, Bogota and Lima.

His passion for this study began when he studied abroad in Chile as an undergraduate in 2003. Nicholson was struck by the similarities between Santiago and his hometown of Charlotte, North Carolina.

"They were booming and undergoing socioeconomic changes in similar ways and at the same time," he said. "I was not sure what I expected Chile to be like, but similar to Charlotte was not it. I have since been fascinated by the notion of combining the concepts of the global and new souths. In this instance, I explore the I-85 corridors and the Andean corridors. This resonates with Georgia College students who grew up in the Atlanta area, and while we are in Chile, we draw specific parallels between Atlanta and Santiago."

Nicholson's goal is to use the time and effort at Chatham House as a spring board to develop the new project into a book or series of articles.

"I will also gain fresh ideas to bring into the classroom," he said, "and hope to make connections that will translate into future invited speakers or study abroad contacts."

Chatham House is the UK's equivalent of the U.S. Council on Foreign Relations. Founded in the aftermath of the First World War, Chatham House, also known as the Royal Institute of International Affairs, is an independent policy institute that provides authoritative, non-partisan commentary on world events and offers solutions to global challenges.

Study Abroad Presentations for your Fall 2021 Classes

International Education Center : Tuesday June 8, 2021

In this global world, international experience and transferable skills are keys to success, and the GC International Education Center can help! Study Abroad staff can provide a short session for your students on study abroad, international internships, and other international opportunities. A session with our staff will help your students understand the experience of study abroad and how to make it happen, provide them with information about our campus organizations and activities, such as the International Club, the International Plan, the International Studies minor, etc., and steer them to other resources.

Contact Study Abroad Advisor Jarris Lanham at jarris.lanham@gcsu.edu to reserve a class time or ask questions. We will gear the presentation toward your particular group of students, highlighting opportunities most applicable to them.

Feel free to share these links with your students: Getting Started, our Virtual Study Abroad Offices, and Program Discovery.

GC Volleyball's Bochniak Named PBC Scholar Athlete of the Year

Athletics : Tuesday June 8, 2021

Georgia College Volleyball standout Libby Bochniak (Marietta) was named the 2020-21 Peach Belt Conference (PBC) Female Scholar-Athlete of the Year by the league office on Thursday. The award is the highest individual honor given by the conference to student-athletes and is chosen by the league's Faculty Athletic Representatives.

"This is a fitting tribute to a fantastic career for Libby," stated Director of Athletics Wendell Staton. "Student-athletes like Libby Bochniak, come along once in a career. First and foremost, Libby is an outstanding person who has been a joy to have in our program. She succeeds in everything she does; and just as she was an outstanding college volleyball player, she will be a fantastic physician. We are so proud of Libby and are fortunate to have at her spend her college career at Georgia College."

Bochniak was chosen as one of the valedictorians for her senior class, graduating with a 4.0 GPA in biology and a minor in chemistry. She will go on to attend medical school at Lincoln Memorial University. In 2019, she was named a CoSIDA Academic All-American, the first in GC program history and only the eighth PBC volleyball player to earn that distinction.

On the court, Bochniak became the first in program history to record 1,000 kills and 1,000 digs. A two-time All-Peach Belt Conference (PBC) selection she was also named twice to the PBC All-Tournament team. In the spring of 2021, she was fourth in the PBC in kills per set and eighth in digs per set and was the only player in the league to be ranked in the top 10 in both categories. She was twice named a PBC Player of the Week and finishes her playing career ranked 14th in all-time kills for the conference with 1,108. Bochniak becomes the third Georgia College female student-athlete to be named the PBC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, joining Shanteona Keys in 2015 and Margaret Klinger in 1999.

The HAWK is in the air: New systems active on Hancock and Montgomery Streets adjoining campus

University Communications : Wednesday June 9, 2021

The HAWK (High-intensity Activated crossWalk Beacon) crosswalk system: Newly installed and activated on Hancock Street as well as West Montgomery Street, the HAWK system provides improved pedestrian safety at the two heavily traveled crosswalks connecting main campus to its perimeter locations. Previously the crosswalks relied on the simple signage that was not illuminated, now an illuminated signal also known as a Pedestrian Hybrid Beacon (PHB) allows for protected pedestrian crossings. The signal is only activated when a pedestrian is ready to cross the road. This maintains the free flow of traffic when there is no one crossing.

More information and photos are available here.

How does it work?

For Pedestrians:

Much like a traditional crosswalk, the pedestrian approaches and presses the button. There may be a slight delay in activation after pressing the button similar to regular traffic signals.

The pedestrian waits until the post sign on the adjacent side of the road turns from the solid red hand "Don't Cross" symbol to the green pedestrian walking symbol for 24 seconds. The pedestrian proceeds to cross the road. In a few seconds the green walking pedestrian symbol will change to a 12 second countdown. At this time, the pedestrian is to complete the road passage and symbol will convert back to the solid red hand at the conclusion of the countdown.

For Motorists:

No Indicators

During normal traffic times when there is no pedestrian waiting to cross, the motorist will see a dark display and may proceed as normal.

Flashing Yellow Indicator

Only once a pedestrian activates the HAWK crosswalk system the vehicular displays are activated showing a flashing yellow light. This is a warning for the motorist that a pedestrian is the area to slow down and prepare to stop.

Solid Yellow Indicator

A steady yellow indication warns motorist that a red indicator will follow. The motorist is to stop at the indicator markings in the roadway.

Double Solid Red Indicators

Steady red indications require motorists to stop at vehicle crosswalk stripping.

Alternating Flashing Red Indicators

Flashing red indications require drivers to come to a complete stop, but they may proceed after yielding to pedestrians in the crosswalk.

Fun Fact:

Study released by the Federal Highway Administration found that after a "HAWK" high-intensity activated crosswalk signal was installed, vehicle and pedestrian crashes were reduced by 69%. As many as 97% of motorists comply with the HAWK beacon, this is a higher signalized crossing or crossings with flashing yellow beacons. – www.usbarricades.com

Provost publishes book, named editor of Johns Hopkins University Press Book Series

University Communications : Tuesday June 15, 2021

Georgia College's Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs Dr. Costas Spirou recently published a new book titled "Anchoring Innovation Districts: The Entrepreneurial University and Urban Change" (Johns Hopkins University Press). The book explores the "recent trend in higher education as universities are actively investing resources in the establishment of innovation districts."

He researched and wrote the book after taking part in an American Council on Education (ACE) Fellowship at Georgia Tech several years ago and seeing the impact of Technology Square in Midtown Atlanta. More information on the book is available here.

Because of his work, Spirou has also been named the editor of a new Johns Hopkins University Press Book Series called "Higher Education and the City." The series focuses on scholarly work that examines higher education ecosystems through the lens of urban change while emphasizing the past and future of cities and metropolitan areas. More information on the series is available here.

Arts & Letters Annual Prize Winners Annoucement

English, Department of : Wednesday June 16, 2021

23rd Annual Arts & Letters Prize Winners

Arts & Letters Prize for Fiction

Karen Day, "The Cellar"

"["The Cellar" is] a taut and wonderfully written story that uses the suspense of a looming natural disaster and the claustrophobia of a basement hideout to explore as well as explode the secrets, tensions, hopes, and dreams of a Midwestern family in crisis. Through precise dramatization, "The Cellar" moves beautifully in and out of time, casting a revelatory weight on the present with each excavation of the past."

– Novuyo Tshuma, Judge

Finalists:

Thomas Maya, "El pan de cada dia," Perry Glasser, "Not That Anyone is Asking," and Reena Shah, "Stardust"

Susan Atefat Prize for Creative Nonfiction

Lee Anne Gallaway-Mitchell, "The Tax of Quick Alarm"

"One thing I particularly love about "The Tax of Quick Arm" is how immersed the author made me feel in the life of a military spouse in Korea—this is a life I'd rarely, if ever, contemplated on my own, and suddenly she had me right there, and she did it with grace and efficiency. The dual way she uses the MOPP system is also brilliant. And most of all, I feel like this is an essay the world needs right now, when so many women are at MOPP 3 because of systems they did not build and can't control. It is, sadly, wonderful timing for this piece to find an audience."

– Kristi Coulter, Judge

Finalists:

Jill Christman, "The Sandbox Ghost," Frank Walters, "Judging the Distance," Mary Petty Anderson, "Newt Terrell," and David Mairowitz, "Transcribing Robert"

Rumi Prize for Poetry

L.A. Johnson, for "Where Warm and Cool Air Meet," "Downriver," "Radiant Stranger," and "House Full of Someones"

"What is sight, what is smell, how do they lead us into life, into what we believe and become? In "House Full of Someones" we are strangers, we are putting our eyes to the window, we are with the speaker of the poem, we are curious, what world is this? We are caught in between the dead and the living, we are in the language. I am in awe of how the poem progresses, of what it seeks to achieve. At the end, the poem knows that knowledge is gotten through waiting, through patience, and as we wait with it, I ask myself, what have I learnt? Yes, it is too late for the dead to go back, to be alive, but what possibility lies in death? What becomes of us, of the dead in this world? What have we smelled, what have we seen, what do we wait for?"

There are poems that teach us about the fullness of our humanity, that open spaces and show us the world that exists just beyond what we have been used to. When I read "Where Warm and Cool Air Meet", "Downriver" and "Radiant Stranger," I was ushered into a world where grace is alive and grief is pain, but also the gateway to hope. In the world of these poems even joy must be disguised before it is achieved and at the end of pain there is rebirth, a human life for a lemon. At first this looks impossible, but the language of these poems is alive, it is real, it leads us not just into the process of grief but also through the process of rebirth."

– Romeo Oriogun, Judge

Finalists:

Danielle Williams, Monique Ferrell, Julia Kolchinsky Dasbach, Tom Laichas, Sally Lipton Derringer, George Kramer, Christopher Shipman, Doug Ramspeck, and Betsy Sholl

Each winner receives $1000; the winning will appear in our Fall Issue.

This Moment in Time : Celebrating National Make Music Day on June 21st

Music, Department of : Friday June 18, 2021

On Monday, June 21st at noon, the Georgia College Music Department will present a celebration for National Make Music Day on Front Campus. The world has endured a tragic year. Millions have died from COVID-19, and social, cultural, and economic life has been curtailed everywhere. With vaccinations accelerating, life in many places is on the road back to normal. But before life can feel truly normal, we must memorialize the devastation of the past year. Our response is an initiative called This Moment In Time.

Around the world, gongs traditionally mark a moment in time – whether announcing Napoleon’s funeral procession, the arrival of a Chinese dignitary, the start of a sumo wrestling contest, or the serving of dinner in a British mansion. For everyone joining or witnessing this event, This Moment In Time will mark the losses of the pandemic, but also the beginning of a new era in sight.

On June 21st at noon on Front Campus, members of the Georgia College Percussion Department will play the gong for one uninterrupted hour, marking the incalculable loss of the past year. Afterwards, the public will be invited to come up to each gong and play it themselves, hearing the unfathomable mystery of the sound, experiencing the cathartic feeling of hitting something massive, and feeling the deep therapeutic vibrations in their bodies.

Please join us this Monday for our celebration of International Make Music Day!

Georgia College Public Safety Welcomes Police Academy Graduate

Public Safety : Monday June 21, 2021

The Georgia College Department of Public Safety is pleased to announce the graduation of Officer George Bloodworth from the Basic Law Enforcement Training Program at the Georgia Public Safety Training Center. Officer Bloodworth graduated as a member of Session 90 of the Forsyth Regional Academy, in Forsyth, Georgia. In addition to completing his certification as a peace officer, Officer Bloodworth received the "Top Gun Award" for his session. This distinguished award indicates that his marksmanship scores were the highest in the session. Officer Bloodworth joined the Public Safety team in December of 2020. Completion of this 408 hour program certifies him as a peace officer under the rules and regulations of the Georgia Peace Officer Standards and Training Council. The photo depicts Officer Bloodworth being sworn in by Chief of Police Brett Stanelle. Officer Bloodworth will now begin his field training, so please be sure to welcome him to the Georgia College community if you see him around campus.

Service Opportunity Students for Fall 2021

Financial Aid : Monday June 21, 2021

Does your department or office need assistance with filing, answering the phones, running errands or small tasks? A Service Opportunity student might be your solution. GC Financial Aid Office is looking for departments to assist with putting students to work volunteering in your area. Students eligible for Service Opportunity funds should volunteer 8 to 10 hours a week in a department in order to qualify for funding that goes toward their GC balance owed each semester. Please contact Debbie Long at (478)445-5149 or debra.long@gcsu.edu if you can use one or more student(s) including how many students and a brief description of what tasks the student may be fulfilling.

Service Opportunity students need to complete a minimum of 100 hours for each term. GC Financial Aid must be notified by COB Friday, July 30. We will be sending a list of all available positions to students on Monday, August 9, 2021.

May-June and June Terms Student Rating of Instruction Survey (SRIS) Open to Students

Center for Teaching & Learning : Tuesday June 22, 2021

The Student Rating of Instruction Survey (SRIS) opened on June 21 to students through June 30 for the May-June and June terms. Please encourage your students to complete the SRIS. We need a 65% completion rate for usable data. To locate updates to your class response rate, log in to Anthology using your Unify credentials.

Research and best practice consistently show the single most significant factor to increase participation in online student rating surveys is for faculty to express and demonstrate how the results are important and used in making meaningful course change(s). The next most influential factor is to set aside time to complete the survey(s). Also consider, offering incentives to students for completing the survey to improve response rates.

Students receive an email with a link to the survey. Even so, reminders from faculty are beneficial. Consider providing students with a direct link to the survey, <https://gcsu.campuslabs.com/courseeval/>, accessed using their Unify credentials.

May-June and June Terms Student Rating of Instruction Survey (SRIS) Now Open

Center for Teaching & Learning : Tuesday June 22, 2021

Your feedback matters!

We value your feedback and invite you to complete your May-June and June Terms 2021 course evaluations. The survey period is now open. Every survey is confidential and your thoughtful responses regarding the instructional aspects of the course provide faculty with insights about course effectiveness and give insight into future improvements for the course and programs.

Your instructor may set aside time in class to complete the surveys. Any device with a wireless Internet connection (smartphone, iPad, tablet, laptop, etc.) can access the survey by using the instructions listed below. Once your surveys have been completed you will no longer receive any reminder messages.

If you experience technical difficulties, please complete the following steps.

- Delete your browsing history and your cache within your preferred browser
- Close the browser
- Reopen the browser

*For desktop browsers, to quickly open menus used to clear your cache, cookies, and history, ensure that the browser is open and selected, and press Ctrl+Shift+Delete (Windows) or Command+Shift+Delete (Mac).

If you do not want to delete your browsing history or your cache, please open a New Private Browsing window (in Firefox) or open an Incognito window in Chrome

- Navigate to <https://gcsu.campuslabs.com/courseeval/>
- Sign in with your Unify username and password.
- If your technical problems persist, please contact Campus Labs (now Anthology) Support.

Thank you in advance for helping our faculty improve your learning environment!

Please contact sris@gcsu.edu with questions or concerns.

Why Wait? Secure Your Seats!

Academic Advising Center : Wednesday June 23, 2021

Playing the Waiting Game? The Academic Advising Center (AAC) understands we sometimes stay on the waitlists as long as it takes – waitlists are our friends – they are incredibly useful tools for managing supply & demand, particularly when utilized appropriately. And yet, there comes a time in every waitlist's cycle when enough is enough; for example, if you are waitlisted #22 for an elective, even though the professor is amazing (looking at you, BUAD 3500), that ship has sailed for Fall '21. Better luck next time! When you need a helping hand while looking for additional options, please Schedule an Appointment to meet with your Academic Advisor? Feel free to email the address listed for your Advisor on our Academic Advising Staff page or simply send a message to advising@gcsu.edu.

Looking forward to hearing from you soon –

Celebrating Barb Szyjko's Retirement

Center for Teaching & Learning : Wednesday June 23, 2021

We have some sad and happy news to share with you. The sad news is that Barb Szyjko, our Instructional Technology Staff Specialist, will be leaving us. The happy news is that she is heading to retirement. We are grateful to her for her years of work here at Georgia College and know that many of you are as well. With that in mind, we have set up a Kudoboard. If you would like, we invite you to send Barb an e-mail at barbara.szyjko@gcsu.edu or leave a message on the Kudoboard. Access is free and it only takes a moment to add a message.

If you'd prefer to deliver your congratulations and good wishes in person, please join us for a drop-in retirement celebration honoring Barb on Wednesday, June 30, from 1 pm to 3 pm, in Russell Library 376. Cake and punch will be served.

We will certainly miss Barb and her wisdom and skill in serving the Georgia College community. Hopefully, we can send her off with messages of how impactful she has been and cheers for her next adventures.

Border-Free GC featured in an international report

University Communications : Wednesday June 23, 2021

Border-Free GC was recently featured in a report published by the international wing of Universities UK. Titled “Internationalisation at Home-Developing Global Citizens without Travel,” it highlights the best practices of 15 universities around the globe.

Georgia College was one of only four American universities included in the report.

According to their website, Universities UK is the collective voice of 136 universities in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. Their mission is to create the conditions for UK universities to be the best in the world; maximizing their positive impact locally, nationally and globally.

For more information on the Border-Free GC initiative, check out this recently published Front Page story.

COVID Vaccine Availability

University Communications : Thursday June 24, 2021

Dear Georgia College Students:

As you make your summer plans, I encourage you to consider getting vaccinated for COVID-19. And I am happy to share that it is now easier than ever for current and incoming students to get your first or second shot.

All University System of Georgia (USG) students can now get vaccinated at any of 15 campuses in Georgia, regardless of which institution you attend. That means you can get your first and second doses over the summer at the campus closest to you. This includes students who got their first dose at Georgia College or in Milledgeville before heading home.

To schedule an appointment, please visit www.usg.edu/vaccination today to locate the USG vaccination site nearest to you. In addition to these 15 USG campus vaccination sites, students may also locate additional community vaccination sites through the Georgia Department of Public Health's vaccination locator.

I appreciate all our campus community has done to keep our fellow Bobcats healthy and safe. USG strongly encourages all faculty, staff, students and visitors to get vaccinated, although it is not mandatory. Getting vaccinated is an individual decision and not required to be a part of our campuses, and we look forward to welcoming you to Georgia College this fall.

Have a great summer!

Shawn Brooks, PhD

Vice President for Student Life
