COVID-19: Decision Path for Reporting Positive, Symptomatic, and/or Exposed Employee

Human Resources, Office of : Wednesday January 5, 2022

Georgia College's Decision Path for reporting positive, symptomatic, and exposure (direct or indirect) to COVID-19 is available to everyone here. As a reminder, employees should not notify the Office of Human Resources/Employee Relations (ER) directly; they need to inform their supervisor and then the supervisor should follow the steps outlined in the Decision Path. There are several questions that ER needs to ask the supervisor prior to discussing options with the employee. We continue to follow the CDC, GaDPH, and USG guidance pertaining to COVID-19.

All student workers are considered employees; please report them accordingly.

Dr. Jennifer Graham was appointed Interim Chief Diversity Officer on Tuesday, Jan. 4, 2022. In a campus-wide email, GC President Cathy Cox stated that Dr. Graham “has worked closely with Dr. Carolyn Denard and has been an active champion of inclusive excellence and diversity on campus. Students may register for the unauditioned ensembles; if you wish to audition for an ensemble, see below for details. For now, all rehearsals will take place at First Baptist Church in Milledgeville, within walking distance of main campus, at 330 South Liberty Street. University Chorus (UC) is a non-auditioned choral ensemble focusing on the study and performance of music of all periods and styles. This ensemble is open to all members of the university community. Students who enjoy singing are encouraged to join regardless of major or music-reading skills. In the past, UC has performed a number of choral masterworks with instrumental ensembles and professional vocal soloists, including Orff's Carmina Burana and Vivaldi's Gloria. UC also performs contemporary choral favorites such as Aaron Copland's "The Promise of Living," Emma Lou Diemer's "Three Madrigals," and Eric Whitacre's "Sleep." UC rehearses twice a week, Tuesday and Thursday from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. For more information, please contact Dr. Jennifer Flory at jennifer.flory@gcsu.edu.

Women's Ensemble (WE), open to all treble-voiced members of the university community, is a non-auditioned choral ensemble dedicated to the study and performance of music of all periods and styles. WE was reconstituted in 2006, and since then has performed a variety of works for treble voices, including Gustav Holst's Hymns from the Rig Veda, Carol Barnett's "Song of Perfect Propriety" and Amy Beach's "Through the House Give Glimmering Light." WE rehearses twice a week, Tuesday and Thursday from 2-3:15 p.m. If you have any questions about WE, feel free to email dana.gorzelany@gcsu.edu.

Max Noah Singers (MNS) is a choral ensemble dedicated to the study and performance of a variety of literature from madrigals and motets to modern. MNS is open by audition to all members of the university community. MNS has performed several commissioned premieres by such composers as Carrie Magin and David Hamilton. In addition to participating in the mostly classical concerts with University Chorus and Women's Ensemble, MNS also presents concerts with popular solo and ensemble music in a themed atmosphere, such as Valentine's Day Rendezvous. MNS also takes a performance, recruiting, and outreach tour most years; recent past destinations include Washington, D.C. and New York City. MNS also performed at Carnegie Hall in May 2018, and traveled to Hungary and Austria in May 2016. MNS is full for Spring 2022. If you are interested,

NSF REU Opportunity For Undergraduate Students

Transformative Learning Experiences : Tuesday January 18, 2022

Arctic REU Greenland is an NSF Research Experiences for Undergraduates (REU) site led by Concord University (West Virginia) and Montana State University. The REU is focused on field research in Precambrian metamorphic rocks integrating geologic mapping, structural geology, and earthquake geodynamics.

Travel expenses to the program and full logistical support for fieldwork in Greenland will be provided. Students will receive stipends of up to $5000 to support their work. Funding for travel to a geologic conference in the fall to present research results is also included.

Field work in Greenland is scheduled for June 23 to August 4, 2022 (pandemic dependent). Students will participate in online seminars and research activities before field work in April and early May, and again in late-July and August after our return.

Applicants should be undergraduates with a planned date of graduation no earlier than December, 2022. Ideally, applicants should have completed or be enrolled in a course in mineralogy, petrology, or Earth materials, although exceptions are possible. Coursework in structural geology and/or field geology or field methods is useful. NSF requires REU participants to be US citizens or permanent residents. Because of the late start time in July, students completing a geology field camp early in the summer may be able to attend this REU.

We especially encourage applications from first-generation college students and members of under-represented groups.

REU website: <https://www.arcticreu.earth>

Application deadline: February 7, 2022

Print and Electronic 2021 W-2 Availability

Payroll Services : Tuesday January 18, 2022

Electronic 2021 W-2s are now available in OneUSG Connect. To view or download your W-2, follow these steps:

1. Log into OneUSG Connect.
2. Click the Payroll tile.
3. Click the Taxes tile.
4. Land on the View W-2/W-2c Forms page.
5. For the Tax Year 2021, click Year End Form.

Please note: You may notice a difference in the format between the mailed version and the electronic version posted in OneUSG Connect. The information presented is the same in both, and either version can be used for tax purposes. The only exceptions are:

- W-2s available in OneUSG Connect do not include the Control Number (Box D). This number may be used for the quick population of the employee's W-2 data in certain e-filing systems; however, the omission of this field on the electronic version should not affect the ability to file taxes.
- The mailed version of the employee W-2 now contains a truncated Social Security Number format. Social Security numbers on employee mailed versions will be masked using the format XXX-XX-1234 (note: all information reported directly to federal and state agencies still contains the full social security number as usual).

If you have questions or concerns, please contact oneusgsupport@usg.edu.

Sandra Dunagan Deal Center for Early Language and Literacy announces grant awardees

Center for Early Language & Literacy : Wednesday January 19, 2022

During December 2021, the Sandra Dunagan Deal Center for Early Language and Literacy awarded the third Research Grant Initiative for Implementation Research to Improve Early Language and Literacy Outcomes.

The initiative provides University System of Georgia institutions and state agencies with funds to conduct implementation research on early language and literacy programs for children birth to 8 years old. Utilizing implementation science principles, each awardee designed a study that examines the practices that foster early language and literacy with an understanding of developmental and contextual differences in a manner that allows community organizations, the education sector, and children to safely realize the benefits of early language and literacy and sustain these benefits during and post-pandemic. Each organization received $50,000 for their projects, which run from January 1, 2022–December 31, 2022.

This year's awardees are:

- Augusta University, Dr. Kim Barker, "Implementation of CLIMBE: Collaborative Learning in Multi-Sensory Based Environments for Early Childhood"
- Dalton State College, Dr. Jacquelyn Mesco, "The Roadrunner Reading Clinic: Conception to Implementation"
- University of Georgia Research Foundation, Inc., Dr. Hannah Krimm, "Language Use During Face-to-Face and Virtual Shared Book Reading"
- University of West Georgia, Dr. Lama Farran, "Talk with Me Baby with Natural Helpers: Teaching, Speech-Language Pathology, and Nursing Professions' Early Language Knowledge"

"The Deal Center posits that although there is already a great deal known about factors to consider, the conditions that must be in place, and what to do for early language and literacy development, the question that remains is how do we translate the research into practice," said Dr. Theresa Magpuri-Lavell, executive director of the Sandra Dunagan Deal Center for Early Language and Literacy. "These funds will help create a delivery system for early language and literacy development for children birth to age 8."

Founded in 2017, the Center's statewide mission is to increase early language and literacy skills of Georgia's children by providing research-based professional development. They do that through strategic collaboration, thought leadership, professional mentorship, and investment in innovation.

Newell Scholar explores indigenous sacred dance in community presentation

University Communications : Thursday January 20, 2022

Dance can evoke emotions. It can help people with all kinds of human circumstances—from transitioning and rituals, rites of passage and death, and questions about living.

The Spring 2022 Martha Daniel Newell Visiting Scholar Dr. Carla Walter will explore the impact dance has had through history at her first open lecture Tuesday, Jan. 25 at 7 p.m. in Peabody Auditorium of Kilpatrick Hall. This event is free and open to the public.

She will present on the topic of “Indigenous Sacred Dance and Religious Histories” discussing some histories of indigenous sacred dance and religion from various points around the globe, dating before the Common Era.

“Attendees will gain an understanding of how religion, art, and sacred dance have intersected over time, and take with them a sense awe,” Walter said.

She received a Bachelor of Arts from the University of California, Riverside in economics and a Master of Business Administration from California State University, San Bernardino. Walter’s Doctor of Philosophy focuses on dance history and theory and is from the University of California, Riverside.

Throughout her career, Walter has worked in business, economics, finance, as well as, higher education. Her research has looked at not only the spirituality of dance but also the ways that dance can influence purchase behavior in consumers, among other things.

The author of several books including “Sacred Dance Meditations: 365 Globally Inspired Movement Practices Enhancing Awakening, Clarity, and Connection,” “Arts Management: An Entrepreneurial Approach” and “Dance, Consumerism, and Spirituality,” Walter will teach a class at Georgia College this semester on Global Perspectives of Indigenous Dance and Religious Histories.

“Students are going to learn to analyze a culture’s sense of being as it’s related to indigenous dance,” said Walter. “We will look at locations from Egypt to Africa to Mesoamerica over to the Polynesian Islands and Australia, back up to India, Mongolia, Tibet, back over to Persia, and then the Andes. So, the students are going to get a worldview.”

Two other presentations later in the spring semester will feature the work of her students. Those will be April 5 at 7 - 8 p.m. and April 26 at 7 - 8 p.m. Both take place in Ennis Hall 201.

25Live Daily Tip: TACO TUESDAY! Food at Events

Facility Reservations : Tuesday January 25, 2022

Whether it's Taco Tuesday or Pizza Anyday, Facility Reservations needs to know if you will have food at your event.

Imagine entering your office or classroom one morning and finding someone left food trash and/or pizza boxes. YUCK!

Add comments to your request that you will have food so we are aware.

Also, under "Resources," in the 'Search Resources' box, you can type in the word "trash" and then choose either an indoor or outdoor trash can (or 3, depending on how many tacos your group is eating.)

Georgia College has a beautiful campus; let's keep it that way.

25Live Daily Tip: WORDY WEDNESDAY! Comments

Facility Reservations : Wednesday January 26, 2022

Facility Reservations WANTS YOUR WORDS!

Whatever event you are requesting a location for, we want to know WHO, WHAT, WHERE, WHEN, WHY

WHO: All requests need at LEAST two different contact names

WHAT: Is the request just a meeting? Tell us. Are you planning a big shindig with food, music, and dancing? We need to know that too.

WHERE: The 25Live system will allow you to put in a request without a location, but Facility Reservations cannot confirm if we don't know the location you need. If you cannot find it in the location section...let us know in the comments. Also, if your event needs more than one location (i.e. workshops with various sessions at the same time), they can generally all go on one request.

WHEN: If your event will take place more than once (i.e. monthly meetings), you can include all dates in one request.

WHY: Are you requesting a large room for a small group (i.e. need to spread out to do crafts, want more room for social distancing)? We need to know why or we will put you in an alternate location.

See attached guides for more information!

10-Month Employees: Benefit Reminder

Human Resources, Office of : Wednesday January 26, 2022

Friendly reminder for 10-month contract employees, both faculty and staff: From January through May, you will notice an increase in your benefit deduction amounts.

Georgia College 10-month employees' contracts are from August 1st through May 31 in line with traditional academic schedules. The months of June and July are considered time away from work and are unpaid, but benefit coverage for 10-month positions is offered year-round, pending the employee's return the following August. Normal premiums are taken out August through December (5 months). Since no payment is dispersed for June and July, no premiums are deducted during these months. A higher monthly premium is taken out January through May of each year to make up for the two months that are not worked. Ultimately, 7 months' of insurance premiums are deducted over 5 months' of pay; we refer to this as the 7/5 split.

If a 10-month contract employee terminates employment at the end of the academic year (May), benefit deductions for the months of June and July will be refunded to the employee; actual benefit coverage would end at the end of May and continued health and dental benefits would then be available via COBRA. Only when a contract is scheduled for renewal for the next academic year is the employee allowed to continue benefits during the months of June and July.

Georgia College Chemistry program approved by ACS

Chemistry, Physics, & Astronomy, Department of : Monday January 31, 2022

Georgia College's Chemistry program has been added to the list of institutions approved by the American Chemical Society (ACS). This prestigious honor signifies excellence and rigor of education that provides students with the knowledge, experience and communication skills to be effective chemists.

"I am excited to share this news with you," said Dr. Costas Spirou, provost and vice president for Academic Affairs. "The faculty did an excellent job, working closely with the American Chemical Society to pursue this approval. The ACS distinction also contributes to advancing the academic reputation of our university."

Currently, more than 690 universities are included on the ACS list. This spotlight can help attract top applicants from high schools, according to the ACS website. Institutions with ACS approval have a "modern and well-maintained infrastructure and provide a coherent chemistry curriculum." Employers often prefer graduates from approved programs, because they're better prepared for the workforce.

"This means a lot to Georgia College," said Dr. Peter Rosado, associate professor of chemistry. "It means students can graduate with a stamp, saying their program is ACS approved and part of an elite group of schools that have this designation. Lots of employers and graduate schools see this as a distinction. Some parents even ask about it when helping potential students choose their school."

The application for getting approval wasn't simple, Rosado said. Georgia College's program went through a rigorous, peer-reviewed, multi-step process, and it was a full department effort. To receive the ACS stamp of approval, a chemistry program must require 400 hours of traditional classwork, covering fundamental areas, and 500 hours of formal laboratory experience. Math and physics courses are also necessary.

Georgia College's Chemistry students can now use the ACS badge on slides, posters and research papers. Graduating from an ACS-approved program is a boost into master's and professional programs. Certified graduates are also eligible to become members of the ACS.

"For years," Rosado said, "we have fostered and have seen growth in our undergraduate population. We've sent hundreds of students to professional conferences and presented original undergraduate-led research. Our new biochemistry and forensic chemistry concentrations also played a major role in the certification approval."

"The ACS saw our potential for growth beyond what we have achieved," he said. "The committee was very impressed."

CTL Workshop - Community Building in a Digital Environment

Center for Teaching & Learning : Monday January 31, 2022

Best practice suggests that a classroom conducive to learning has several components: a sense of community, clear communication, established expectations and routines, learner interaction, and organized resources and materials. Also, learning environments should focus equally on the student, knowledge, assessment, and inclusivity. It is possible to create a digital learning environment that develops into a community of learners. The suggested practices in this session will provide you with ideas to build learning communities within your digital learning environments.

This virtual workshop will be held at 12 noon on February 15. The meeting link will be sent out to registrants on the day of the workshop.

CTL Workshop - Flipping the Classroom

Center for Teaching & Learning : Monday January 31, 2022

A flipped classroom is an instructional approach where the traditional lecture and homework elements are reversed, asking students to complete course tasks (i.e., handouts, readings, videos) outside of the classroom and work on problems and solutions while in class. This strategy aims to deepen students' engagement and knowledge by repurposing instruction, so students inquire about lecture content, apply their knowledge, and participate in hands-on activities while in class. During this session, instructors will receive more than a conceptual understanding of flipping the classroom - Jaclyn Queen and Simeco Vinson will reveal proven instructional strategies that engage students who are not always motivated to complete out-of-class work. At the end of this session, you will have tools and techniques to apply this approach in your content.

This virtual workshop will be held at 3:30 pm on February 10. The meeting link will be sent out to registrants the day of the workshop.

Regional Science and Engineering Fair for grades 6-12 at Georgia College

Science Education Center : Monday January 31, 2022

The 45 Annual Regional Science and Engineering Fair for grades 6 through 12 will be Friday, Feb. 4, at Georgia College's Centennial Center.

The fair will be a hybrid competition this year, offering virtual judging Feb. 1-3 for students unable to travel to campus due to illness or quarantine. The in-person exhibit and judging will be Feb. 4 for on-campus attendees.

"Even before the seismic disruption of the pandemic, state data showed students from our region lagged behind with large racial and economic achievement gaps. Science is tough enough face-to-face but asking teachers and students to do it at home behind a computer screen with limited resources was an even bigger obstacle," said Dr. Catrena Lisse, director of Georgia College's Science Education Center.

"Now that most schools have returned to in-person or at least hybrid classes, we're seeing our numbers increase with numerous projects focusing on healthcare topics," she said. "The pandemic definitely made students aware of their health and the health of their loved ones."

Some projects this year include:

- An investigation of how blue light, emitting from electronic devices, affects eyes.
- The antibacterial effects of honey.
- The creation of a novel artificial intelligence learning model, using MRI images and genomic data to better diagnose neurological diseases.

"It is our hope this curiosity leads to new discoveries," Lisse said, "because this is the next generation of doctors and scientists."

The in-person event Feb. 4 opens at 8:30 a.m. for set up. Competitors will be judged between 10 a.m. and noon, at which time the fair is closed to the public.

Exhibits will be open to the public 2 to 4 p.m. There'll be a STEM exhibit and Webb Telescope design challenge. Competitor teams can participate in STEM challenges from 1:30 to 3 p.m. These include Rube Goldberg designs and a flying fish obstacle course.

The awards ceremony will be at 5 p.m. in the Arts and Sciences Auditorium, streamed through Facebook Live (@GCScienceEdu) and recorded to be posted to the Science Education Center's YouTube channel for those unable to attend in person.

CTL Workshop - Developing Student Critical Thinking through Higher-Order Questioning

Center for Teaching & Learning : Monday January 31, 2022

We wanted to bring your attention to an upcoming virtual session by our very own Dr. Simeco Vinson regarding developing student critical thinking using Higher-Order Questioning (HOQ).

One of the primary goals of higher education is to promote critical thinking. A practical approach to getting students to think about a problem is to use Higher-Order Questions or questions that require a deeper answer than a simple "yes" or "no." Participants in this session will explore ways to create higher-order questions for students using AAC&U's Critical Thinking Rubric as an integral component. These materials will help you develop a set of content-specific questions to use with your students to help them build questioning patterns that lead to thinking critically. This workshop has gotten nationwide attention, so we invite you to come to see why and learn more about how HOQs can be used in your classroom to facilitate critical thinking with your students.

This virtual workshop will be held at 3 pm on February 25. The meeting link will be sent out to registrants on the day of the workshop.
