Georgia College's Science Education Center is hosting the 4th Annual State K-5 Science and Engineering Fair

Science Education Center : Monday March 1, 2021

Georgia College's Science Education Center is hosting the 4th Annual State K-5 Science and Engineering Fair during the week of March 8-12, 2021.

This year's virtual competition is bringing 113 projects with 146 competitors from Valdosta, Savannah, Atlanta, and everywhere in between. We are proud to see what these young scientists were able to accomplish during a pandemic year and we hope you will join us!

The event will be virtual and the projects will be judged via Live Stream Interviews by a panel of 3-5 judges. The judging will take place during the week of March 8-12, 2021 using the web-based program RocketJudge. The judging times will be AM (9:00-11:00) and PM (12:00-2:00) with different categories per day:

- Monday - Biological and Environmental Sciences
- Tuesday and Wednesday - Chemical and Materials Sciences
- Thursday - Physical and Computational Sciences
- Friday - Health Sciences

If any are interested in volunteering to judge, register using this link. Please share this information with your STEM or ED faculty, staff, and students.

If you have any questions, contact Dr. Catrena Lisse, Fair Director (science@gcsu.edu) or Dr. Peter Rosado-Flores, Judging Chair (peter.rosadoflores@gcsu.edu).

An Exhibition of Heart Full Songs: Faculty and Guest Artist Recital

Music, Department of: Monday March 1, 2021

Tuesday, March 9 Take an online musical journey at 7:30 p.m. via Georgia College's recital, “An Exhibition of Heart Full Songs,” with guest artist and pianist ChoEun Lee. Travel is still limited due to COVID, but this recital will bring listeners through various countries with art songs from the Classical, Romantic and early 20th-century periods. Faculty member and soprano Youngmi Kim will sing, treating the audience a festive, calm and hopeful assortment of tunes. Music by Venezuelan-born French composer Reynaldo Hahn, American composer Amy Beach and German composer Richard Strauss will be featured. There will also be an Italian concert aria by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. Please follow us on facebook.com/GCMusicDepartment to view this live-steamed recital. A $5 donation is encouraged. Online donations can be made at alumni.gcsu.edu/music. Mail-in donations for music scholarships can be made out to GCSU Foundations, Inc. and sent to GC Music Department, CBX 66, Milledgeville, GA 31061. All proceeds benefit music scholarships or the GC Department of Music through GCSU Foundation, Inc. For more information, please email music@gcsu.edu or call 478-445-8289.

Wind Symphony Spring Concert: In "Flex"

Music, Department of: Monday March 1, 2021

Thursday, March 11 Georgia College's Department of Music presents its annual "Wind Symphony" concert virtually this year at 7:30 p.m. Music students, like much of society, have dealt with changing conditions due to COVID. One obstacle is not always having wind instruments needed to perform. In light of this, many composers created music this year using flexible instrumentation. The added element of experimentation was a learning process but also an opportunity for creative expansion. This concert is the result of that learning process and includes compositions from the last decade. Please follow us on facebook.com/GCMusicDepartment to view this live-streamed concert. A $5 donation is encouraged. Online donations can be made at alumni.gcsu.edu/music. Mail-in donations for music scholarships can be made out to GCSU Foundations, Inc. and sent to GC Music Department, CBX 66, Milledgeville, GA 31061. All proceeds benefit music scholarships or the GC Department of Music through GCSU Foundation, Inc. For more information, please email music@gcsu.edu or call 478-445-8289.

Upcoming GC Journeys Virtual Workshops

Center for Teaching & Learning : Tuesday March 2, 2021

Last year, most of our faculty attended a two-part series on Design for Transformative Learning and Essential Learning Outcomes. This workshop series was designed to help get everyone on the same page for the university’s GC Journeys program. The GC Journeys program is already getting nationwide attention, recently winning the Regents’ Momentum Year Award for Excellence, but it will take a village to bring it to fruition. The Center for Teaching and Learning is offering three GC Journeys virtual workshops for the Spring semester to assist and inspire faculty applying GC Journeys concepts to their courses. We look forward to seeing you!

Community Building in a Digital Environment

March 17, 12 noon

Dr. Simeco Vinson will address creating classroom environments that focus equally on the student, knowledge, and assessment. The concepts covered will also include developing strategies for creating inclusive classroom environments.

Registrants will be sent the link to attend the webinar.

Putting It All into Action with a Trip to Belize

March 19, 2:30 p.m.

Drs. Kevin Hunt and Liz Speelman will explore how one program incorporated several components of GC Journeys with a trip to Belize. They will share the steps they took to set up and conduct a study abroad program that incorporated community-based engaged learning, undergraduate research, and study-abroad techniques in a short, two-week visit to the country of Belize. The results were impactful for the community and shared a life-changing new land with students.

Registrants will be sent the link to attend the webinar.

Developing Student Critical Thinking Through Higher-Order Questioning

April 1, 12 noon

Research has shown that Higher-Order Questions (HOQs) require advanced cognitive demand and help students develop critical thinking skills. Higher-Order Questions (HOQs) are questions that students cannot answer with a yes or no response or by providing information quoted from a textbook. Instructors can use HOQs to help students build critical thinking skills. Dr. Simeco Vinson will explore ways to create higher-order questions for students using AAC&U’s Critical Thinking Rubric as an integral component. These materials will help you develop a set of content-specific questions to use with your students to help them build questioning patterns that lead to thinking critically.

Registrants will be sent the link to attend the webinar.

GC Journeys : Tuesday March 2, 2021
Virtual Through Gather Town
March 16, 2021
6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

A FUN AND ENJOYABLE EXPERIENCE FOR THOSE WITH NO RESEARCH EXPERIENCE AND THE EXPERIENCE STUDENT RESEARCHER.

A place where faculty and students meet to discuss research interests. The event follows the logistics of a "speed dating" format. Faculty will be stationed in separate virtual rooms in Gather Town. Everyone will have an avatar. Once a student's avatar move close to the faculty member's avatar both will go on live video to speak to each other about research interest and opportunities. There will be up to 4 minutes at each faculty station in Round 1 and then students will rotate to the next faculty member. Once the first round is completed, students will be free to return to any faculty member's station for which they want more information.

What’s in a Name? Pronouncing Names and Respecting Gender Pronouns

Inclusive Excellence, Office of: Thursday March 4, 2021

The Women’s Center and the Office of Inclusive Excellence will present a virtual workshop called “What’s in a Name? Pronouncing Names and Respecting Gender Pronouns” on March 17 at 12:30 p.m. Our names can often tell the story of our ethnicity, cultural background, familial lineage, and signify gender expression. Names are a part of our identity. For many members of the LGBTQ+ community, using the name and pronouns for a person is a simple way to show respect for their identity. Asking for and using the correct name and pronouns of people can also set a tone of allyship and inclusion. However, mispronouncing and mis-gendering someone’s name negates the identity of that person. Furthermore, this can lead to anxiety, withdrawal, ostracism, and resentment which, in turn, can hinder academic progress, workplace environment, and the overall campus climate.

In this workshop, you will learn:

• Why pronouncing names matter and the impact on people
• How to respectfully ask and use people’s pronouns
• Helpful tips to remember and honor people’s names
• How to gracefully acknowledge when you make a mistake

To gain access to the workshop, go to https://tinyurl.com/rh6ngx08.

Spotlighting Global Feminism

English, Department of: Friday March 5, 2021

GC2Y "Sex and Resistance" and the Women's Center Present: Spotlighting Global Feminism

Thursday, March 11th at 3pm

This will be a powerful panel discussion on global feminisms and advocacy for women's rights. Our panel of speakers will feature Dr. Sabrina Hom (Assistant Professor of Philosophy and Program Coordinator for Women's Studies), Dr. Sunita Manian (Chair, Department of Philosophy, Religion, and Liberal Studies), and Dr. Virginia Teran (Lecturer of Spanish). They will be sharing their international approaches to women's studies.

There will be an open discussion time for questions and comments, as well as a fun activity to highlight what everyone has learned. Attendees will learn how women are uniting around the world to fight for their rights and standing up to injustice. This is a great event for anyone, and everyone interested in learning more about feminism outside of the United States. This will be a powerful and eye-opening experience you don't want to miss!

When you're writing an essay, one of the toughest challenges can be organization. How do you start? Where should you end? What goes in the middle? A strong essay builds momentum through proper organization. So what should you do if you're stuck?

The GC Writing Center is here to help! In our next interactive online workshop, you'll learn the skills you need to organize your ideas into a polished draft. GC Writing Consultants Kate Sturdevant and Natalie Mau will show you tips for mapping out your essays, go over common essay formats, and even workshop organizational strategies with some sample essay prompts.

Join us Thursday, March 11 @ 10 AM for this next workshop in our series. Let us know you're coming! It takes just a few moments to sign up here.

Georgia College Hosts Rae André at Inspire! Forum on Leadership

Leadership Programs: Tuesday March 9, 2021

Dr. Rae André is a nationally distinguished educator and environmental activist.

Georgia College, in partnership with the Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC) and the Management & Organizational Behavior Teaching Society (MOBTS), will host a national forum with Dr. Rae André, professor emeritus at Northeastern University’s D’Amore-McKim School of Business.

André will present and facilitate a public forum on Tuesday, March 23rd from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Part of Georgia College’s Inspire! series on leadership, André will lead a discussion on sustainability leadership. “Growth is finite, natural capital is priceless, and human progress must be measured in terms of both economics and the quality of life,” says André. The forum will be hosted virtually and will be open to the public.

Dr. André will host a virtual workshop for faculty from across the country on Wednesday, March 24th, from noon until 1:30 p.m. The workshop, “Teaching Climate Leadership,” will equip instructors to promote integrative learning in courses on strong sustainability.

Dr. Rae André is the author of Lead for the Planet: Five Practices for Confronting Climate Change. Lead for the Planet shifts the focus to how we, the members of Team Humanity, are going to organize to solve the twin issues of climate change and energy evolution. The book channels a broad range of social science perspectives, from anthropology to psychology to economics, to help decision-makers explore how Team Humanity can get this thing done.

An organizational psychologist, André is professor emeritus of leadership and sustainability and instructor in the D’Amore-McKim School of Business at Northeastern University in Boston. Her courses promote systemic thinking on climate change and energy evolution. Aimed at high level undergraduates, MBAs, and professionals, they include sustainability for organizations (“weak” sustainability) along with sustainability for the planet (“strong” sustainability). Her work has reached students in a variety of disciplines from management to engineering to liberal arts. André received a Ph.D. in organizational psychology from the University of Michigan, an M.A. in film studies from the University of California at Los Angeles, and a B.A. (cum laude) in English from Cornell University.

Both events are sponsored by Georgia College, the Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges, and the Management & Organizational Behavior Teaching Society.

Register for both events at www.gcsu.edu/inspire.

Research presents Central State Hospital's relationship to race and mental health

Inclusive Excellence, Office of : Thursday March 11, 2021

Once the largest mental hospital in the world, Central State Hospital (CSH) left a lasting legacy on the Milledgeville community. Over generations, families worked at the hospital, which often provided steady jobs with decent benefits. Dating back to the mid-1800s, patients and workers there faced challenges brought on by society norms through the years and racism as well as uninformed medical diagnosis and a poor understanding of psychology.

Former Georgia College Newell Visiting Scholar Dr. Mab Segrest spent years researching Central State and will explore “Racism and the Haunting History of Central State Hospital” Thursday, March 18 at 6 p.m. The virtual presentation will showcase the research for her new book “Administrations for Lunacy: Racism and the Haunting of American Psychiatry at the Milledgeville Asylum.”

“The focus of my research is the degree to which race is a through-line over decades in which slavery, Indian removal, Civil War and Jim Crow impacted the institution,” said Segrest. “But my semester in Milledgeville also made me aware of the conscientious work of many people in Milledgeville who worked at CSH to improve patient care.”

She explores the lives of both white and African American staff and patients as well the national policies and southern culture that governed Central State over the years.

“As a longtime scholar and social justice activist on issues of gender, race and class in the U.S. South, I found the questions of ‘southern insanity’ embedded in the Milledgeville archives compelling,” said Segrest.

“Over a decade ago, as I was drawn into the Georgia archives, I asked myself a generative question: How does a state that conquered native peoples, innovated and administered the system of chattel slavery for Africans, encouraged or refused to stop the atrocities of lynching and developed Jim Crow laws—how could that state decide who was and who was not insane?”

Race and poverty also played into who was admitted to the hospital and how they were treated according to Segrest. The story of CSH shines a light on the racial disparities in mental health care that continue even today.

“Understanding the impact of race on the delivery of mental health care is especially important today as we face the tragic impact of racial disparities in health care, generally, and as we face the growing mental health crisis caused by the isolation and grieving that many are experiencing during the pandemic,” said Carolyn Denard, Associate Vice President for Inclusive Excellence.

“The lessons of this book will hopefully help us be more attuned to the imperative of equity in health care and the social and cultural realities that also impact mental health,” Denard said.

The presentation will be available at this link: https://gcsu.zoom.us/j/95151467256?pwd=bGE3czZwa2pOT0laZHpFSzJlanlKQT09. For more information, contact Dr. Carolyn Denard at carolyn.denard@gcsu.edu.

More information on Segrest is available here.

The Ina Dillard Russell Library provided an electronic link for the book.

Segrest’s presentation is sponsored by the Georgia College’s Office of the President, the Office of the Provost, the Office of Inclusive Excellence, the Office of the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, the Institute of Rural Studies, Ina Dillard Russell Library and the Andalusia Institute.

Jason Tanner Young Biography

His work addresses the relationship between object and memory, acting as a marker for experience using objects as internal landmarks. He received a Master of Fine Arts degree in Sculpture from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 2011 and a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from the University of Texas at Tyler in 2008.

He is currently an Assistant Professor of Art and director of the Sculpture concentration at the University of Montevallo, where he served as the Gallery Director from 2017-2019. Young’s hybridized forms describe personal truths, events, and behaviors. These works have been included in exhibitions at Lowe Mill Arts and Entertainment (Huntsville, AL), Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts (Gatlinburg, TN), The Sculpture Center (Cleveland, OH), Axis Gallery (Sacramento, CA), Weston Art Gallery (Cincinnati, OH), Manifest Gallery (Cincinnati, OH) the Young Sculptors Competition at Miami University (Miami, OH), the Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts (Montgomery, AL), Visual Art Exchange (Raleigh, NC), Evansville Museum (Evansville, IN), and Rosalux Gallery (Minneapolis, MN) among many others.

S.T.A.R. Ally Training for Spring Semester

Women's Center : Monday March 15, 2021

The S.T.A.R. Ally (Support, Teach, Affirm, Respect; previously known as Safe Space) program advances one of Georgia College's guiding principles of "instilling respect for human diversity and individuality," by affirming people of all sexual and gender identities and lessening the prejudice that limits the university experience and well-being of LGBTQ+ identified students, faculty, staff, facility members and administrators.

The overarching goals of S.T.A.R. Ally training are to increase participants’ awareness and knowledge of LGBTQ+ people’s identities and experiences, as well as provide the skills to be an ally for the LGBTQ+ community at Georgia College and beyond.

Please note: these trainings will be held in person with social distance measures in place. Masks are required. S.T.A.R. Ally training cannot be made a mandatory training for any individual or group. If you are interested in having your organization or group trained, please contact the LGBTQ+ Programs Coordinator to discuss your needs.

The Women's Center and the Office of Inclusive Excellence will present a virtual workshop called "What's in a Name? Pronouncing Names and Respecting Gender Pronouns" on March 17 at 12:30 p.m. Our names can often tell the story of our ethnicity, cultural background, familial lineage, and signify gender expression. Names are a part of our identity. For many members of the LGBTQ+ community, using the name and pronouns for a person is a simple way to show respect for their identity. Asking for and using the correct name and pronouns of people can also set a tone of allyship and inclusion. However, mispronouncing and mis-gendering someone’s name negates the identity of that person. Furthermore, this can lead to anxiety, withdrawal, ostracism, and resentment which, in turn, can hinder academic progress, workplace environment, and the overall campus climate.

In this workshop, you will learn:

• Why pronouncing names matter and the impact on people
• How to respectfully ask and use people’s pronouns
• Helpful tips to remember and honor people’s names
• How to gracefully acknowledge when you make a mistake

To gain access to the workshop, go to https://tinyurl.com/rh6ngx08.

"The 7 Day Plays" Premiering Online March 20

Theatre & Dance, Department of : Tuesday March 16, 2021

A collaboration between the Departments of Theatre & Dance and Mass Communications will yield the filming of three original ten minute plays written, directed, performed and filmed by undergraduates from both departments in just 7 days. The students began the process last Saturday with a virtual audition/introductions, where they shared inspirational props and costume pieces. Next, three playwrights began writing and workshopping their scripts that were finalized by Sunday evening, when the directors received their scripts and casts. Monday night began the rehearsal process wherein students rehearse for two hours each evening, and begin filming in one take, on Thursday. Filming will be completed Friday evening and it will premiere online Saturday! This is a super compressed, adrenaline filled process and a lot of fun for everyone!

Visit www.GCGivingVoice.com to view the free performance on Saturday, March 20, at 7:30 pm. The production will remain available online to view after the premiere date.

The inaugural Saladin Scholars Awards Ceremony will be held via Zoom on Thursday, March 25 at 7:00 p.m. Named for Dr. Ken Saladin, who has given so generously to the John E. Sallstrom Honors College, each Saladin Scholarship provides up to $2000 in support of undergraduate research, study abroad, internships, or community-based learning. On March 25 we will recognize the first Saladin Scholarship recipients. The keynote address will be delivered by Dr. Jillian Kinzie, Associate Director of the Center for Postsecondary Research and the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE) Institute at the Indiana University School of Education. Dr. Kinzie is a renowned expert on high-impact practices—the types of experiences that the Saladin Scholars awards support—and she serves on the editorial board of Undergraduate Research, the new journal launched by Georgia College this year. The Saladin Scholars Awards Ceremony is co-sponsored by the GC Journeys Program, which facilitates high-impact practices for students at Georgia College.

A special talk with Dr. Claudia Yaghoobi

Philosophy Religion & Liberal Studies, Department of: Monday March 22, 2021

In this talk, I will highlight the importance of temporary marriages, and the unsettling balance of the political and the personal, the manipulation of religion, double standards, and gendered inequality. Focusing on 2011 film by Farrahhbakhsh, "Private Life," I argue that the director uses the female body to lay bare the religious and political hypocrisy and gender-related double standards inherent in the practice of temporary marriage in modern Iran. This film draws on ways that the political becomes personal, and demonstrates the inimical power of politicized patriarchy to willingly eliminate the female body in order to protect and maintain the male prerogative while precariously balancing political ideals, personal desires, and religious beliefs in a society dominated by gender disparities.

The event will occur on Friday, March 26, 2021 at 5 p.m. and can be viewed by visiting https://tinyurl.com/mriype9v.

10th Annual Lavender Graduation Ceremony

LGBTQ+ Programs : Monday March 22, 2021

You are invited to attend the 10th Annual Lavender Graduation at Georgia College!

Lavender Graduation 2021 will take place on April 30th from 4-6 p.m. At this time, we are planning for an in-person, spatially distanced ceremony. Masks will be required of all attendees and participants. Location will be messaged upon confirmation of registration.

Lavender Graduation serves to celebrate graduating LGBTQ+ students and allies for their strength and persistence in the face of adversity, as well as their achievements and contributions to the university. Participating students (undergraduate and graduate) will receive a certificate and lavender cords. They will also have the opportunity to personally thank an individual who has helped them through their college career.

The 2021 Lavender Graduation is for anyone graduating in 2021 - if you graduating at another point in 2021, please feel free to participate in this ceremony as we only have a Spring ceremony at this time. Additionally, if you are a graduate who is unable to attend the ceremony, please also feel free to register to get your lavender cords and be recognized for your achievements!

Feed the Mind Book Drive

The GIVE Center : Monday March 22, 2021

The GIVE Center and Fraternity and Sorority Affairs are collaborating on a book collection for Feed the Mind. Feed the Mind is a program out of the Children's Healthcare of Atlanta that collects books for patients to read to their babies while they stay at the hospital.

Upon admission in the Heart Center at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta, babies ages 0-12 months will receive a bag containing two age-appropriate books and an age-appropriate, developmental toy so family members and caregivers can start reading them right away! Also, patients can start playing with developmentally appropriate toys right away to assist in their brain health and development.

By the time babies reach their first birthday they will have learned all the sounds needed to speak their native language. You can help support Feed the Mind by donating age appropriate books and toys in a collection box outside the GIVE Center or from shopping from Feed the Mind's Amazon wish list included below!

A Discussion with Filmmakers Larissa Lam and Baldwin Chiu on Their Award-Winning Documentary Film, Far East, Deep South

The GCSU English Department Council on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in partnership with The Film, Media, and Culture Concentration; The Office of Inclusive Excellence; The Department of Philosophy, Religion, and Liberal Studies; and Women’s and Gender Studies Present:

A Discussion with Filmmakers Larissa Lam and Baldwin Chiu on their new, award-winning documentary film,

Far East, Deep South

Moderated by Dr. Lauren Pilcher

Thursday, April 1st at 6:00 PM

Zoom Registration Link: https://tinyurl.com/79nefzja

FAR EAST DEEP SOUTH follows Charles Chiu and his family as they travel from California to Mississippi to find the grave of Charles’ father, K.C. Lou. Their search leads to stunning revelations about their family and they get a crash course on the history of Chinese immigrants in the segregated South. Through encounters with local residents and historians, this Chinese American family not only discovers their family’s important role in the Mississippi Delta but they also learn about the symbiotic relationship between the Black and Chinese communities during the Jim Crow era. The film provides a window into the struggles of Chinese immigrants in the American South during the late 1800s to mid-1900s and the discrimination they faced. Furthermore, the Chiu family’s journey reveals how exclusionary immigration laws like the Chinese Exclusion Act of 1882 separated their family for generations. This deeply moving and unforgettable story offers a poignant perspective on race relations, immigration and American identity.

Please join us for this unique and timely event to discuss the film and the Asian-American experience in the Deep South.  Register for the event to receive details for streaming the film prior to the discussion.  Free and open to the public.

GCSU Community Members will have access to the film before the event on Kanopy Streaming through the generous support of The Ina Dillard Russell Library

Staged Reading of "Baltimore" Premiering March 30 & 31

Theatre & Dance, Department of: Monday March 29, 2021

GC Theatre & Dance presents a staged reading of "Baltimore" by Kirsten Greenidge, directed by Eric Griffis. Performances will be live streamed two nights only: Tuesday, March 30 & Wednesday, March 31 at 7:30 pm.

When a racially-charged incident divides her first-year students, reluctant resident advisor Shelby finds herself in the middle of a conversation she does not want to have. As pressure to address the controversy mounts from residents, the new dean, and even her best friend, Shelby must decide if she will enter the fray or watch her community come apart at the seams. Sharp, funny, and searing, Baltimore is a timely drama about racism on college campuses.

To view the free performances online, please visit www.GCGivingVoice.com, for the link to the live stream. Because the production will be live streamed, and not pre-recorded, we encourage you to pre-register or arrive early to register for a broadwayondemand.com account. It's free and required in order to watch the show. Once you have logged in, you may have to refresh your browser a few times until the show officially starts at 7:30 pm.

Recommended for mature audiences due to adult language. Please contact Keeli Ewing if you have any questions!

"The Human Element" is a 2018 documentary film from the producers of "Chasing Ice" about the lives of everyday Americans impacted by climate change. Photographer and explorer James Balog challenges the viewer to consider the 'human element' of Earth's climate by visiting vanishing fishing villages, urban smog zones, Kentucky coal mines, and California wildfires. Humans, the 'Fifth Element,' are uniquely prepared to bring the global climate back into balance through our actions.

A question & answer discussion led by Dr. Sam Mutiti will follow the showing.

Winner of several awards, including: Colorado Film & Video Association 2019 Best Documentary, Newport Beach Film Festival 2018 Best Environmental Documentary, Philadelphia Environmental Film Festival 2019 Best Feature Film, SCAD Savannah Film Festival 2018 Best Documentary.

GC Theatre & Dance presents "Alice in Wonderland", a modern adaptation of Lewis Carroll's novel, adapted and directed by Dr. Amy Pinney. The free performance will be available to view beginning Thursday, April 1, at 7:30 pm at www.GCGivingVoice.com, and will continue to be available online through May.

Our production is an original adaptation of Lewis Carroll’s Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland. While most adaptations combine Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass, this play focuses only on the first novel. So, you won’t see the Tweedles, as they only appear in the second book, but you’ll get to see lots of the White Rabbit, the Mad Hatter, and the Queen of Hearts. In addition, our production of Alice in Wonderland deliberately strives to be inclusive in terms of race, gender, and identity. Early on we decided that our Wonderland is gender fluid. You’ll see this aesthetic most prominently in the costumes and make-up, the lighting, and the language of the play. Another exciting aspect - the play is filmed from the perspective of the characters. So, rather than putting the camera where the audience usually sits, we brought the camera onstage. The result of this is that the audience will see the story through the characters’ eyes.

Theatre Department performs and films “Alice in Wonderland”

It's no joke: Georgia College's whimsical adaptation of "Alice in Wonderland" will be available for viewing starting April Fool's Day, Thursday, April 1, through May at www.gcgivingvoice.com.

Many theatre productions of Lewis Carroll’s “Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland” also include “Through the Looking Glass.” Georgia College’s version focuses only on his first novel. This means you won’t see the “Tweedles”—but you’ll get lots of the “White Rabbit,” “Mad Hatter” and “Queen of Hearts.”

“Our production of ‘Alice in Wonderland’ deliberately strives to be inclusive in terms of race, gender and identity,” said director Amy Pinney. “Early on we decided that our Wonderland is gender fluid. You’ll see this aesthetic most prominently in the costumes and make-up, the lighting and the language of the play.”

Due to subtle references to drugs, the play is appropriate for children age 13 and up. But it was also produced “with an eye toward a college audience” and has been dubbed “undergrad chic,” Pinney said.

There are 20 students in the cast, as well as 26 more working as stage managers, designers and on crews for makeup, costume, stage and film. The play was performed in pieces for safety, and students wore masks at all times. “Alice in Wonderland” was filmed over a two-week period and, like a movie, shows the perspective of the characters rather than all actors on stage at once.

“There’s a tremendous amount of magic in the story,” Pinney said. “We embraced the joys and challenges of creating this magic. Throughout the production, we deliberately resisted realism and leaned toward whimsy.”

The play will be available at www.gcgivingvoice.com starting at 7:30 p.m. April 1. Viewing is free and donations are appreciated. There is a donation button at the website.

Georgia College to Host Election Integrity Symposium

Government & Sociology, Department of : Tuesday March 30, 2021

Join scholars, practitioners, and fellow students in spotlighting key issues of the election administration system at the Election Integrity Symposium. WebEx seminars will be hosted March 31, at 1 p.m. regarding Efficiency, Security and Equity, and April 1, at 1 p.m. addressing Public Trust and Voter Efficacy.

The Election Integrity Symposium will offer a wide variety of viewpoints on the recent voting concerns detected in the 2020 election. Georgia election official, Gabe Sterling, as well as expert reporters and professors will be speaking at the events and answering student questions regarding election administration.

"I am excited to hear from a wide range of individuals with different areas of expertise comment on the issues of the 2020 election," said Brandy Kennedy, Carl Vinson Endowed Chair and professor of public administration and political science. "I think we can only improve our electoral system by reflecting on this past election."

The Efficiency, Security and Equity symposium will focus on issues encountered on election day, preventing voters from casting their ballots quickly, securely, and easily. The following seminar, Public Trust and Voter Efficacy, will discuss the importance of public trust in order to ensure participation and acceptance of election results.

Election administration is a central but often overlooked aspect of public service in the United States. Through the Election Integrity Symposium, students will be able to further understand, not only the technical expertise, but also the ethics and integrity involved.

To register to attend the Election Integrity Symposium, please visit gcsu.edu/electionintegrity. For additional information, please contact Dr. Brandy Kennedy, Carl Vinson Endowed Chair and Professor of Political Science and Public Administration, at brandy.kennedy@gcsu.edu.
