Critical Language Scholarship Info Session

National Scholarships Office at Georgia College : Tuesday November 1, 2022

Are you interested in learning a language abroad over the summer and getting paid to do it? Come learn more about how you can do this as a Critical Language Scholarship Program Scholar! The National Scholarships Office will be holding an information session at 2PM on November 7 in the Bone House. All interested students are encouraged to attend.

The CLS Program is a fully-funded program sponsored by the U.S. Department of State that provides intensive overseas language and cultural immersion and is open to U.S. students enrolled in all degree programs at Georgia College

Through CLS, students spend eight to ten weeks abroad to learn one of 14 critical languages and earn academic credit for their work. The scholarship includes travel expenses, coursework, group excursions, and even a small stipend to cover your daily living expenses. Most languages offered by the CLS Program do not require applicants to have any experience studying critical languages.

In addition, CLS Spark, a virtual program, provides opportunities for American undergraduate students to study Arabic, Chinese and Russian at the beginning level. CLS Spark was designed to leverage best practices in online language learning and provide the opportunity to study critical languages for students who may not have access to critical languages on their campus or the ability to study abroad.

The CLS Program seeks participants with diverse interests, and from a wide range of fields of study and career paths; students from all academic disciplines, including business, engineering, law, medicine, science, social sciences, arts and humanities are encouraged to apply.

Diversity 360 Series: Diversity Toolkit: Discussing Identity, Power and Privilege

Inclusive Excellence, Office of : Tuesday November 1, 2022

The Office of Inclusive Excellence will present Diversity Toolkit: Discussing Identity, Power and Privilege. The program will be held Wednesday, November 16 at 12 p.m. It is the last installment of OIE's Diversity 360 Series for this semester.

Developed by the USC Suzanne Dworak-Peck School of Social Work, this toolkit is meant for anyone who feels there is a lack of productive discourse around issues of diversity and the role of identity in social relationships, both on a micro (individual) and macro (communal) level. Perhaps you are a teacher, youth group facilitator, student affairs personnel, or manage a team that works with an underserved population. Training of this kind can provide historical context about the politics of identity and the dynamics of power and privilege or help build greater self-awareness. This workshop is designed to address human issues that everyone faces and help participants recognize how they can better understand and work toward solving or at least improving these issues. Participants will be equipped with newfound knowledge and empathy and prepared to apply the lessons they learned in their workplaces, classrooms as well as personal lives.

Please follow this link to register to attend and receive the Zoom link to join the event on November 16.

Bunting College of Business to Induct Larry Moore into Hall of Fame

College of Business & Technology : Thursday November 3, 2022

The Bunting College of Business and Technology is thrilled to announce that our long time board member and supporter, Larry Moore will be inducted into the Hall of Fame this Friday, November 4th. We would like to welcome you to attend the brief ceremony at 2:00 p.m. in Atkinson Hall 201 or to stop by and congratulate Larry during the reception around 2:30.

Larry Moore is from an early pioneering Georgia family and was born and raised in Atlanta. He has an engineering degree from Georgia Tech and attended graduate school at several universities (he did have a girlfriend at GSCW in the 60s—pre Georgia College & female only then, so he couldn't attend). His business and technology career included executive positions with AT&T, CD Technologies & MooreCom (founder) with national and international job assignments. After retirement in 2000 he founded The Historic Scenic Byway Corporation, a non-profit, which works closely with Georgia College faculty and students (CoBT & A & S), along with other schools, to utilize business, academic, technology and government resources to protect, enhance, develop and display sites in middle Georgia that would, among other things, attract visitors. The sites include the following categories: history, archaeology, culture, nature, scenery and recreation, such as the 1000 acre Rock Hawk Effigy, Educational Trails, Museums & Park on Lake Oconee; Alice Walker childhood home, church & family/church cemetery; first county seat history for Baldwin & Putnam counties.

His post retirement career has also included: commentator for NPR/GPB, columnist for local newspapers, Chair of Main Street Eatonton, Center for Georgia Studies Board at GC, GC President's circle, Historical Society, Kiwanis, bicycling tours of various US & international locations and fund raising for various projects.

Larry and wife Jenny have had a residence on Lake Oconee for 28 years. They have two daughters, who live in Washington, DC and Iowa City, Iowa. They have two grandchildren. Larry has been a supporter of Georgia College for over a decade and has worked with countless numbers of students on Community Based Engaged Learning and we are delighted to present him with this honor and celebrate his contributions.

Still Fighting: Women in Labor Resistance

Women's Center : Thursday November 3, 2022

GC2Y: Sex & Resistance and the GCSU Women's Center & LGBTQ+ Programs invite you to join us for our event: "Still Fighting: Women in Labor Resistance" on Thursday, November 10, at 5:30 p.m. in Atkinson 107! At this interactive program, we'll introduce the labor movements' key moments and figures, and then continue with a spotlight on women who have and continue to make an impact. We hope to bring attention to the fact women are still fighting against discrimination and for equality in the workplace.

The Legend of Georgia McBride

Theatre & Dance, Department of : Friday November 4, 2022

He's young, he's broke, his landlord's knocking at the door, and he's just found out his wife is going to have a baby. To make matters even more desperate, Casey is fired from his gig as an Elvis impersonator in a run-down, small-town Florida bar. When the bar owner brings in a B-level drag show to replace his act, Casey finds that he has a whole lot to learn about show business - and himself. Recommended for mature audiences. No late seating for this venue.

Warp Trio with GCSU Orchestra: "Black Voices"

Music, Department of : Saturday November 5, 2022

Tuesday Nov. 15 Warp Trio, the Davidson Fine Arts Chamber Orchestra of Augusta and award-winning emcee, LiKWUiD, will join the Georgia College & State University Orchestra at 7:30 p.m. in Magnolia Ballroom for an evening of classical, jazz, hip-hop and spoken word. All works in the program, "Black Voices," were created by African-American artists. These include poetry by Langston Hughes, Ntozake Shange and Maya Angelou, as well as original spoken word material complemented with music by Duke Ellington, William Grant Still, Harry Burleigh and Warp Trio. "Black Voices" evolved from an effort to share with audiences some lesser-known contributions of African-Americans to the cultural tapestry of America. A $5 donation is encouraged. ## Visiting Artist Presentation, Carlos Castro Arias

Art, Department of : Monday November 7, 2022

The Georgia College Department of Art Presents

Carlos Castro Arias

Visiting Artists and Scholars Program Artist in Residence, November 14-17, 2022

Public Lecture: November 14, 5:00-6:30 PM, A&S 270

The Colombian artist, professor and musician Carlos Castro Arias explores individual and collective identity, aiming to bring muted histories to light. Spending his time primarily between San Diego, Tijuana, and Bogota, his practice begins with the appropriation of historical images and the formal and symbolic re-contextualization of found objects. He received a BA from the Universidad Jorge Tadeo Lozano, Bogota, in 2002. In 2008, he obtained a Fulbright Scholarship to attend the San Francisco Art Institute, where he received an MFA in Painting in 2010. Castro has been a faculty member at San Diego State University since 2019. In 2022, Castro held a major retrospective of his work at Museo Universidad de Antioquia and was one of the winners of the San Diego Art Prize.

In the last five years, Castro has had solo shows at Artpace, San Antonio; Bread and Salt, San Diego; LA Galería, Bogota; Quint Gallery, La Jolla and Espacio El Dorado, Bogota. He has participated in group shows in Sweden, Peru, France, Spain, New Zealand, Mexico and Venezuela.

His musical projects include: POPO (2000), Los Claudios de Colombia (2005-2010) and Amor Negro (2020). While in residence at Georgia College, Castro will lead workshops, student critiques, and a public presentation on his life and work.

(BTW, will Georgians be going back to the voting booth in December?)

Times Talk at Georgia College is celebrating 18 continuous years as the first in the nation college weekly discussion series on current and significant public events and issues as reported by the New York Times and other reputable news sources. The topics change weekly and are chosen and facilitated by volunteer faculty, staff, students, and community members. Times Talks are open to all campus and local community members. Just bring your brain, free pizza provided! Brought to you by the American Democracy Project at Georgia College and the Ina Dillard Russell Library.

Next Wednesday's Nov. 16 Times Talk, Dr. Mikkell Christensen, Assistant Professor of Mass Communication on "Sportswashing: Countries are using top-flight sports to distract from their human rights violations and improve their image. Should you care?"

Diversity 360 Series: Diversity Toolkit: Discussing Identity, Power and Privilege

Inclusive Excellence, Office of : Tuesday November 8, 2022

The Office of Inclusive Excellence will present Diversity Toolkit: Discussing Identity, Power and Privilege. The program will be held Wednesday, November 16 at 12 p.m. It is the last installment of OIE's Diversity 360 Series for this semester.

Developed by the USC Suzanne Dworak-Peck School of Social Work, this toolkit is meant for anyone who feels there is a lack of productive discourse around issues of diversity and the role of identity in social relationships, both on a micro (individual) and macro (communal) level. Perhaps you are a teacher, youth group facilitator, student affairs personnel, or manage a team that works with an underserved population. Training of this kind can provide historical context about the politics of identity and the dynamics of power and privilege or help build greater self-awareness. This workshop is designed to address human issues that everyone faces and help participants recognize how they can better understand and work toward solving or at least improving these issues. Participants will be equipped with newfound knowledge and empathy and prepared to apply the lessons they learned in their workplaces, classrooms as well as personal lives.

The Protogoran

Communication, Department of : Tuesday November 8, 2022

The Georgia College Speech & Debate Team invites you to join us for an evening of oratory, debate, and tomfoolery. On Tuesday November 15th from 5pm-6pm in Heritage Hall--the Library's Clarke st. entrance--team members will be delivering excerpts of original oratory, prose interpretations, and debate.

Protagoras is perhaps the most famous of the older Sophists: traveling and professional teachers of rhetoric on the Ancient Attic Peninsula. Although Western philosophical traditions inherit "sophistry" as a pejorative term, these nimble arguers offer citizens of the contemporary world real resources for ethical advocacy, navigating disagreement, and avowing the plurality and partiality of the polis. It'll be a good time come on through. Come on do it. This event is free and open to the public.

Upcoming Employee Training: Being Sensitive to Cross-Cultural Communication During a Disturbing Time

Human Resources, Office of : Thursday November 10, 2022

The Office of Human Resources is excited to announce the following upcoming training:

- Training Topic: Being Sensitive to Cross-Cultural Communication During a Disturbing Time
- Training Date: November 15, 2022, 10:00am-11:00am EST
- Registration Link: <https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/4321854079764380942>

Training Description:

Communication during a crisis requires sensitivity to cultural inclusion, emotional state of impacted employees and the transparency of all interactions and communications.

This workshop defines essential components important in planning the communication strategy during a crisis event, including the impact of cultural perceptions and patterns. Participants learn high and low context cultures, cross-cultural communication etiquette, and hypersensitive cross-cultural nuances. Participants learn effective strategies to use in crisis situations.

How participants will benefit, at the end of this session participants will be able to:

- The power of transparency
- Understanding culture and the impact of cultural perceptions.
- Defining high and low cultural contexts.
- Learning cross-cultural communication etiquette.
- Sensitivity to cross-cultural nuances.
- Relevancy of culture in the handling of crises.

Bountiful Showcase

Theatre & Dance, Department of : Tuesday November 15, 2022

Please come join us this Wednesday evening at Russell Auditorium for the amazing showcase of GCSU Dance Program's Bountiful brought to you by Chi Tau Epsilon. This is a dance experience dedicated to the hard work and unity of the students here in our program. All pieces are student choreographed and student performed, with help from our dance professors Amelia Pelton and Natalie King. The show is a combination of live-performed and videotaped pieces. Our talented dancers have worked so hard the past few months to present an entertaining show, so please come and admire our students on Wednesday November 16th at 7:30pm in Russell Auditorium. Admission is completely free. We would appreciate your support!

National Science Foundation Research Experiences for Undergraduates Info Session

National Scholarships Office at Georgia College : Thursday November 17, 2022

Are you looking for opportunities to do paid summer research? If you are majoring in science, technology, math, or the social sciences (psychology, sociology, geography, political science, economics), you might consider applying for a National Science Foundation Research Experience for Undergraduates (REU).

Each year, the National Science Foundation funds Research Experiences for Undergrads (REUs) at universities across the United States (and, in some cases, internationally). Research experiences are offered in traditional STEM subjects as well as social science research, with opportunities available for all levels of students. REUs are fully funded for participants, with travel allowances and living stipends provided.

On November 29 at 4PM in Atkinson 108, the National Scholarships Office will be holding information sessions on NSF REUs. We will be joined by Wesley DeMontigny, a senior biology major and REU alum who will be talking about his experiences completing research as part of an REU. Participants will learn how to identify and develop competitive applications for appropriate REUs. Anyone who is unable to attend is encouraged to contact Anna Whiteside (anna.whiteside@gcsu.edu, 478-445-8598) for more information.

Photography exhibit focuses attention on our relationships with our bodies

Women's Center : Thursday November 17, 2022

The genesis for the Embodied exhibit came from a photography project in which Georgia College & State University (GCSU) senior Anne Elise Beals and Women's Center Practicum Student Regan Mitchell invited women who had been catcalled to sit for a portrait and talk about how it impacted them.

Catcalling is the practice of, predominantly, men whistling or yelling gratuitous comments, usually of a sexual nature, at women as they pass by on the street.

Beals, who has been the target of catcalling, said it is an almost universal experience for women. In that universality, the harmful impact catcalling has on the individual is lost on the men and boys who see catcalling as an expression of their masculinity or a right-of-passage.

"I think people need to understand that just because you're not physically assaulting someone, verbal harassment is still so impactful on people's well-being and on people's perception of themselves," Beals said. "Catcalling makes people feel responsible for other people's perception of them, it makes them want to cover up, it makes them feel like they have to retract into themselves and hide parts of themselves. Those are things that nobody should ever feel."

Beals hoped portrait photography could engage audiences in a conversation about this practice that is often minimized as a crude part of the culture. In the project, Bobcats Call Back, Beals and Mitchell asked participants to pose for two portraits.

"The aim of my portraits was to capture the feelings somebody has before and after catcalling," she said. "Before, you're just going about your day, you're probably in a pretty good mood, and then the after[math] of, you know, confusion, anger, frustration, capturing all those sorts of emotions and the ways in which, even though catcalling is a small sort of experience, it can be really disruptive and transformative in a negative way."

By putting a face to the harmful impact of catcalling, Beals wants audiences to form connections with the portrait subjects that compel them to eliminate behavior that subjugates people based on any number of subjective qualities.

But in the process of chronicling the negative effects of catcalling, Beals saw the opportunity for a larger conversation about how our relationships with our bodies are shaped both negatively and positively.

Working with Seth Cook, lecturer of photography in the GCSU Art Department, Beals put out a call for photographs that explore how our relationship with our bodies is affected by culture, societal expectations and the very language we use to talk about our physical selves.

“[Embodied] looks at the ways in which the conversations we have, the language we use—maybe [the] identity or labels that we use—impact our bodies, impact our relationship with our bodies and impact the way we as people are able to move throughout the world,” Beals said.

The result is a group exhibit of eight student photographers sharing gorgeous, thought-provoking imagery that encourages audiences to reconsider their relationship with their body and be more mindful about the outside influences affecting that bond.

“I just want people to have that conversation—maybe just with themselves or with other people—about the ways in which their perspective, or their feelings, about their bodies have been influenced by society at large or by specific experiences,” Beals said. “I’d like to encourage them to find different ways to celebrate their body and speak to themselves kindly about their body as well.”

The Embodied exhibit premieres on Thursday, Nov. 17 with an opening reception between 6 and 8 p.m. at the Museum of Fine Arts in the Underwood House, located at the corner of North Columbia and Hancock streets. Embodied will be on display through Dec. 2, 2022.

Hanging of the Greens more spectacular than ever

Student Life, Office of : Tuesday November 22, 2022

Georgia College & State University's popular "Hanging of the Greens"—HOG as it's affectionately nicknamed—started 15 years ago with a simple garland and wreaths on Front Campus buildings.

During Hanging of the Greens, students, faculty, staff and community residents come together to decorate Front Campus. Former Vice President of Student Affairs, Dr. Bruce Harshbarger, started the tradition with a ceremony sponsored by the Student Government Association (SGA). HOG is now a collaboration between the President's office, Student Life and the SGA.

Over the years, additional adornments, music and refreshments were included—even a gingerbread house contest prior to COVID-19.

But this year promises to be bigger and grander than ever.

"Last year, we had about 150 people come out to enjoy Hanging of the Greens, which is open to the public," said Kristy Johnson, director of student activities and organizations. "We expect even more this year."

University President Cathy Cox asked that Front Campus be made to look more festive—so, for the first time, there will be an 18-ft., fully-lit tree. Visitors can stroll under a 300-ft arched tunnel of lights leading along a walkway to the center of Front Campus. Extra lights will be added to garlands and all buildings.

This year's Hanging of the Greens activities will start at 5:30 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 1., with the ceremony at 6:15 p.m.

Come hang out with Santa, the Bobcat mascot Thunder and dogs from the local shelter. There'll be cookie decorating, ornament painting, a s'mores bar and music by Wesley Foundation and the Georgia College Music Department.

Max Noah Singers 2022 Homecoming Tour Concert

Music, Department of : Wednesday November 23, 2022

Georgia College's Max Noah Singers will embark on their annual tour Sunday, Dec. 11, singing holiday songs in various cities in Georgia. They will finish with a homecoming performance in Milledgeville on Dec. 15. Five sets of a cappella songs, connected by poetry readings, include settings of traditional carols, gospel/spiritual arrangements, and original compositions about the season. Audiences will be treated with holiday favorites like "Angels We Have Heard on High" and "Christmas Time Is Here." The concert will close with Palestrina's "Adoramus Te," the Georgia College Alma Mater, and "Silent Night."

The Max Noah Singers begin their journey on Sunday, Dec. 11, singing at a service at 11 a.m. at Bellevue Baptist Church, Macon. The group will then journey west for a 6 p.m. concert that night at First Baptist Church in Thomaston. On Monday, Dec. 12, at 7:00 p.m., Max Noah Singers will perform a concert at Newnan First United Methodist Church. The trip culminates with a homecoming concert at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 15, at First Presbyterian Church in Milledgeville.

During the weekdays, the group will also do exchange performances and recruiting visits at high schools in Griffin, Fayetteville, Locust Grove, Forsyth, McDonough, and the Atlanta area. A $5 donation is encouraged. All proceeds benefit music scholarships or the GC Department of Music through GCSU Foundation, Inc. ## The department of Theatre and Dance presents the 26th annual Nutcracker Ballet

Join us at Russell Auditorium December 9 and 10th at 7 PM, and 11th at 2 PM for the 26th annual Georgia College Nutcracker ballet! Presented by the department of Theatre and Dance, over 200 dancers ages three through adult will delight in this holiday tradition! The beloved classic ballet will feature Georgia College students Alicia Zarker and Katie Payne, alternating as the Sugar Plum Fairy, and David Bandy as the Cavalier. Their choreography is the original 1892 Russian choreography by Lev Ivanov.

Jones County high school student Addison Davis will portray the heroine, Clara. She has been in the GC Dance program since age 3. Brenna Miller, longtime GC dancer, freshman at GMC college, will portray the Prince. David is also portraying the evil Mouse King, and Kelly Holland is the Mouse Queen. The Snow Queen, dancing with 21 snowflakes is GC junior, Nicole Snyder. The Dew Drop Fairy, dancing in the Waltz of the Flowers, is GMC Prep senior Kyla Chatman, who has danced in the GC Community Dance Program since age 3.

The lavish production features beautiful hand painted sets, special effects, spectacular costumes, magic tricks, and a huge smoking Dragon. The award winning GC Cheerleaders will portray the tumbling Russian dancers, a long time tradition. New this year are new fog machines, many new jeweled tutus from China, and all new choreography. Directed by GC Director of Dance and Senior Dance Lecturer Natalie King. The Friday morning school performance is sold out. # Last Times Talk of the semester THIS Wednesday November 30, noon-12:50, “The other pandemic: New challenges in the fight against HIV/AIDS” facilitated by Dr. Scott Butler

American Democracy Project : Monday November 28, 2022

Join us in room 241 Russell Library 2nd floor for an informative and engaging discussion facilitated by Dr. Scott Butler, GC Professor of Public Health on, “The other pandemic: New challenges in the fight against HIV/AIDS”. World AIDS Day, designated on 1 December every year since 1988, is an international day dedicated to raising awareness of the AIDS pandemic caused by the spread of HIV infection and mourning those who have died of the disease.

The following background articles will be referenced during the discussion so please feel free to read them ahead of time;

<https://timeline.avert.org/> In this timeline you can explore how different people have been affected by HIV over the past four decades; and read, see, and hear how things have changed around the world.

This PDF document is entitled “In Danger: the Executive Summary of the UNAIDS Global AIDS Update 2022”

Times Talk at Georgia College is celebrating 18 continuous years as the first in the nation college weekly discussion series on current and significant public events and issues as reported by the New York Times and other reputable news sources. The topics change weekly and are chosen and facilitated by volunteer faculty, staff, students, and community members. Times Talks are open to all campus and local community members. Just bring your brain, free pizza provided! Brought to you by the American Democracy Project at Georgia College and the Ina Dillard Russell Library

CTL Workshop - Getting Ready for the End of the Semester: GeorgiaVIEW Gradebook Open Lab

Center for Teaching & Learning : Tuesday November 29, 2022

Is your gradebook ready for the end of the semester? The end of the semester is coming up quickly!

The Center for Teaching and Learning is here to help! We will have an open lab for you to come in and ask specific or general questions about your gradebook. Some questions that you might have may include:

- How do I associate an assignment with a grade item?
- How do I associate my quiz to a Grade Item in my Gradebook?
- How do I export my Gradebook into Excel?
- How do I release final grades to students?
- How do I exclude a grade category or item from the final grade calculation?

Participants are encouraged to bring their syllabus and laptops to the open lab. CTL staff will be available for you to ask questions or get help with your gradebook.

The open lab is scheduled for December 2, 2022, from 12 noon to 2 pm and will be held in 376 Russell Library.
