2023 Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Commemorative Brunch

Cultural Center : Thursday January 5, 2023

You are cordially invited to attend the 2023 Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Commemorative Brunch, which will be held at 11:00 a.m. on Friday, January 13, 2023 at the Magnolia Ballroom of the Georgia College Student Activities Center. The last few years have brought about changes to many areas of our lives and to the way that we do things in our organizations and institutions. Though the commemorative program has looked differently over the last few years, our commitment and work towards the Beloved Community is still strong.

This year's theme aligns with the King Center, "It Starts With Me: Cultivating a Beloved Community Mindset to Transform Unjust Systems." The brunch will include guest speaker, Janice Jerome, from the Restorative Justice Institute of Atlanta as well as the Georgia Conflict Center. We are also bringing back a few of our traditional elements to the event such as musical selections, a student panel and greetings from our community leaders. A new addition to the event this year is a non-profit vendor fair in which attendees will be able to interact with and learn more about service opportunities in our community.

Brunch Registration:

We look forward to this event and hope that you will accept the invitation to attend the brunch and stay for the vendor fair. Please follow this link to register for the brunch \(also found on the Chamber of Commerce website\) and feel free to share the link with others: https://bit.ly/2023MLKLUNCHEON.

The brunch registration for students is being covered but students will still need to register on the site.

Vendor Registration:

If you would like to have a vendor table at the vendor fair, please email oie@gcsu.edu with the name of your organization and the name of the representative that will be at the table (2 maximum). More information regarding the vendor fair will be sent to you upon receipt of your initial registration email.

For additional information, please contact 478-445-8155 or email oie@gcsu.edu.

Georgia College to Host Supreme Allied Commander

Leadership Programs : Monday January 9, 2023

Philip M. Breedlove, Air Force General, to visit Georgia College

On Tuesday, January 24th, at 5 p.m, Georgia College Leadership Programs will host Gen. Philip M. Breedlove, 17th Supreme Allied Commander Europe. The event will mark the first in the Usery Forum on Leadership series for 2023.

Breedlove is retired General of the United States Air Force. Highly decorated, he reached the pinnacle of the United States Military as one of six geographic Combatant Commanders and Supreme Allied Commander of NATO. During 39 years of service, he held a variety of demanding command and staff positions: Supreme Allied Commander Europe (SACEUR), Commander of U.S. European Command; Commander, U.S. Air Forces Europe and Air Forces Africa; Vice Chief of Staff of the Air Force; and Assistant Chief of Staff for Air Operations, Plans and Requirements.

As Supreme Allied Commander Europe, Breedlove commanded the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Allied Command Operations and was head of Allied Command Operations' headquarters, Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe.

"I am delighted and honored to welcome Gen. Breedlove to Georgia College," says Dr. Harold Mock, director of leadership programs. "As Supreme Allied Commander Europe, Gen. Breedlove had one of the most difficult jobs in the world. There's no one more qualified to help our students and our community understand the challenges of the twenty-first century than Gen. Breedlove."

The forum will be hosted by Georgia College Leadership Programs.

The event is free and open to the public and will be held in the Magnolia Ballroom in Milledgeville. To learn more, visit ideas.leadcreatively.org.

The Usery Forum on Leadership honors the legacy of U.S. Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery, Jr., exploring leadership that brings people together in service to the public good. The series is supported by a generous gift from Mr. and Mrs. Melvin and Eleyce Usery.

About Georgia College Leadership Programs

Georgia College's Office of Leadership Programs provides teaching, research, and public service related to leadership, citizenship, democracy, and public affairs. With the support of a distinguished faculty and practitioners, we educate the next generation of Georgia's leaders for the public good. Our programs bring together scholars and students, as well as business leaders, non-profit executives, journalists, and public officials, and offer a trusted forum on citizen-leadership and pressing issues of the day.

New Year, New You: Get Organized!

Continuing & Professional Education : Monday January 9, 2023

Feeling overwhelmed by STUFF? Is the stuff you own stealing your joy?

New Year, New You: Get Organized! is a workshop designed to help you reflect on specific challenges related to clutter/organization, identify barriers to your successful organization, and build strategies to address those barriers and challenges.

In this session, Stephanie McClure (who previously operated "Clutter Clearing - The state of your environment reflects the state of your inner self") will lead attendees in short reflection exercises to consider their current relationship with "stuff." She will provide concrete, specific strategies for addressing challenges in coping with clutter, as well as share resources for additional help.

Open Forums: Challenges and Surprises of Our Changing Student Body

Center for Teaching & Learning : Wednesday January 11, 2023

Faculty members have noticed increased challenges with our students and the impact that recent events have had on them. While many positive things have come from the pandemic (increased use of technology, broadening of teaching approaches, flexible deadlines and classroom management) other issues have cropped up. The hope for these sessions is to provide a space to hear what faculty members are facing and to identify potential next steps to address the impact of those issues in the classroom.

The open forums will take place in the Pat Peterson Museum Education Room on the following dates and times:

January 19, 3:30 p.m.

January 20, 1 p.m.

Please feel free to attend whichever session is most convenient for you!

Upcoming CTL Workshops for January

Center for Teaching & Learning : Wednesday January 11, 2023

Below please find a list of the upcoming workshops hosted by the CTL. For updates and additions, and to register, please check out our online Program Registration Form. When possible, we will be hosting workshops twice on different days and times to allow for instructors with differing schedules to attend.

Grants Workshop

January 26, 1 p.m.

January 27, 10 a.m.

Library 376

Are you wanting support and guidance for preparing and submitting your Academic Affairs Small Grant? Come learn steps for completing the application and receive guidance on what can be included and what to leave out. Even if you are not sure you want to apply to the programs, this session can help you think about the process and potential projects. Each of the sections will be discussed, rubrics for the different types of grants will be provided, and tips on how to create a more successful application will be covered. These grant programs are open to all full-time faculty (Instructors, lecturers, tenure, tenure-track, non-tenure). Handouts will be provided and resources will be shared.

Follow this link to register for either occurrence of the Grants Workshop!

ChatGPT: What Is It, and What Can It Do?

January 27, 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Peabody Auditorium

The Center for Teaching and Learning partnering with the Writing Center will be putting on a workshop/panel discussion—ChatGPT: What Is It, and What Can It Do? The panel features: Dr. Cynthia Alby (Professor of Education), Dr. Joy Bracewell (Director of the Writing Center), Dr. Elissa Auerbach (Professor of Art History), Dr. Ward Risvold (Lecturer of Business Communication), and Dr. Nate Kreuter, Director of First Year Writing at the University of Georgia. The panel will focus on the following: 1. What ChatGPT is and what it can do, 2. how it can be used in higher education, 3. ways to modify or shift our instruction to improve our students' learning and avoid misuse by our students.

GCSU holds public events to introduce NASA's James Webb Space Telescope

Science Education Center : Thursday January 12, 2023

Georgia College & State University (GCSU) is throwing a free, two-night Sky Party for the public to introduce NASA's James Webb Space Telescope and its golden honeycomb mirrors.

The events will give people the chance to see planets and stars closeup.

"Kids in this area don't have the same opportunities that kids in big cities have," said Dr. Catrena Lisse, director of Georgia College's Science Education Center. "Kids in big cities can take field trips to massive observatories, but for our population around us—we're it. So, we want to give kids, who've never looked through a telescope, the chance to see something amazing."

Ten counties in Central Georgia have been invited: Baldwin, Bibb, Jones, Twiggs, Monroe, Jasper, Putnam, Hancock, Washington and Wilkinson.

The two-night Sky Party:

- Friday, Jan. 20 Georgia College's Pohl Observatory on the fourth floor of Herty Hall will be open 7:30 to 9 p.m. Participants can observe the Milky Way, moon and planets through the university's 24-inch Corrected Dall-Kirkham (CDK 24) Astrograph telescope optical tube. In the event of rain, digital simulations of the sky will be offered in the GCSU Planetarium inside the Natural History Museum at Herty Hall.
- Monday, Jan. 23 The Sky Party will be 6 to 9 p.m. on Front Campus. More than a dozen telescopes, some loaned from area astronomy enthusiasts, will be used to view the moon and planets—especially Saturn and Jupiter. Before sunset, there'll be hands-on activities for kids, free giveaways from NASA and STEM information booths.

After sunset, around 6 p.m., people will be asked to turn off cellphones for better viewing in total darkness. Red-light flashlights will be distributed. Georgia College student volunteers will refocus telescopes between sightings.

Junior biology major Tiffany Baptiste of Conyers is excited to help. This will be her first experience looking through a telescope. Junior chemistry major Nicole Snyder of Marietta can't wait to see people's expressions when they see the constellations.

"I wanted to get involved, because it seems like such an incredible thing to do," Snyder said.

“The suburbs have too much light, and it’s hard to see. Out here, it’s so beautiful and the planets are so stunning through the telescope. It looks like something you’d see in a textbook, like you could reach out and touch it.”

The James Webb Space Telescope launched into space December 2021 from French Guiana. Hailed as the most powerful space observatory ever built, the $7.6 billion scope is said to have the capacity to peer back billions of years, maybe even to the Big Bang itself. It’ll advance evolutionary study of galaxies and the formation of stars, as well as identify potential life on planetary systems.

Since April 2022, the James Webb Space Telescope has been sending images back to earth. It’s expected to beam 458 gigabits of data each day for ten years—until 2032.

The Georgia College event is funded by a NASA grant to raise awareness of the James Webb Space Telescope launch. Georgia College the only university in the state to hold a large community event.

Previous activities included an “Out of This World” telescope viewing on Front Campus during summer 2021. On Family Weekend that November, Dr. Kavitha Arur, a NASA presenter and postdoctoral fellow at Georgia Institute of Technology, was Zoomed-in to answer questions. More than 400 people attended these events.

Last year, Georgia College also sponsored an engineering design challenge among Georgia school systems. Students were asked to replicate the James Webb Space Telescope using only paper products, thick manila folders, aluminum foil and tape. More than 100 schools participated. A middle school in Savannah won the competition.

For the upcoming Sky Party, Georgia College’s Science Education Center is collaborating with the university’s GIVE Center and Academic Outreach; the GCSU Department of Chemistry, Physics and Astronomy; several student organizations; NASA; local governments and businesses.

“I’m excited to give this opportunity to people who’ve never seen beyond our night sky,” Lisse said. “I want people to say, ‘Why stop at the stars, when we’ve walked on the moon?’ I want to give young people a glimpse into the things they can do.”

It Starts with Me: MLK Commemorative Brunch to Cultivate Beloved Community Mindset

Cultural Center : Thursday January 12, 2023

You are cordially invited to attend the 2023 Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Commemorative Brunch, which will be held at 11:00 a.m. on Friday, January 13, 2023 at the Magnolia Ballroom of the Georgia College Student Activities Center. The last few years have brought about changes to many areas of our lives and to the way that we do things in our organizations and institutions. Though the commemorative program has looked differently over the last few years, our commitment and work towards the Beloved Community is still strong.

This year's theme aligns with the King Center, "It Starts With Me: Cultivating a Beloved Community Mindset to Transform Unjust Systems." The brunch will include guest speaker, Janice Jerome, from the Restorative Justice Institute of Atlanta as well as the Georgia Conflict Center. We are also bringing back a few of our traditional elements to the event such as musical selections, a student panel and greetings from our community leaders. A new addition to the event this year is a non-profit vendor fair in which attendees will be able to interact with and learn more about service opportunities in our community.

Brunch Registration:

We look forward to this event and hope that you will accept the invitation to attend the brunch and stay for the vendor fair. Please follow this link to register for the brunch (also found on the Chamber of Commerce website) and feel free to share the link with others: <https://bit.ly/2023MLKLUNCHEON>.

The brunch registration for students is being covered but students will still need to register on the site.

Vendor Registration:

If you would like to have a vendor table at the vendor fair, please email oi@gcsu.edu with the name of your organization and the name of the representative that will be at the table (2 maximum). More information regarding the vendor fair will be sent to you upon receipt of your initial registration email.

For additional information, please contact 478-445-8155 or email oi@gcsu.edu.

Mentors Needed for Admitted Students

Enrollment Management : Thursday January 12, 2023

The Office of Admissions has implemented an Adopt an Admit mentor program designed to recruit diverse students to GC. Do you have one extra hour a month? That is all the time it takes to help the Office of Admissions with their Adopt an Admit Mentor Program!

Admissions has compiled a list of diverse students who have been admitted to Georgia College for Fall 2023. They are seeking to provide each of these students with a faculty or staff mentor to build relationships and guide them toward enrolling at GC. The mentor will be asked to:

- Communicate with the student one to two times per month from January through May – preferably a phone conversation.
- Connect the student to needed resources at GC – Financial Aid Office, Advising, etc.
- Encourage the student to deposit - discuss why a GC education is unique/valuable and why the college or department would be a good fit for them.
- Encourage the student to POUNCE, complete Housing, and attend Orientation.
- Provide a kind/listening ear and support the student as they transition from high school to college.

The Admissions team will provide training to all mentor volunteers and matches will be made based on interests. Admissions hopes these efforts will help GC build a strong and diversified freshmen class.

We will provide three virtual training sessions on January 13 and 18. Faculty and staff only need to attend one of these virtual training sessions. We will record this training session for faculty and staff who cannot attend. Immediately after, we will share via email your assigned mentee(s).

If you are interested in assisting, please follow this link to register to become a mentor and select a training session.

If you have any questions about this effort, please contact Javier Francisco at 478-445-1991, javier.francisco@gcsu.edu.

An Evening with a Holocaust Survivor

Student Organizations & Clubs : Friday January 13, 2023

The opportunity to hear the first-person account of a Holocaust survivor is often a once-in-a-lifetime experience. Join us as Manuela Mendels Bornstein shares her story. Manuela Mendels Bornstein was born in Paris, France to a Dutch father and a German mother. In July 1942, the French police concentrated 13,000 Jews in the Velodrome d'Hiver sports area in Paris for days without food or water before deporting them to the Auschwitz-Birkenau killing center. Life for Manuela and her family changed dramatically when they narrowly escaped this major deportation through the help of friends who were active members of the French resistance. Learn how Manuela and her family survived the Holocaust by hiding in a small village in Vichy France.

Exploring Intimacy and Violence A Special Talk with Deborah Cohan

Philosophy Religion & Liberal Studies, Department of : Thursday January 19, 2023

In this interactive and engaging session, author and professor Deborah J. Cohan will explore dynamics of intimacy and violence. Drawing on a mosaic of expertise, including her recent sociological memoir about caregiving for her abusive father and her many years of counseling violent offenders and working with survivors, Cohan will take us on a journey that is at once up close and personal while uncovering larger social forces at play in this complex phenomenon. Cohan's work and life, and this talk on campus, offers ample evidence for thinking about healing and recovery from trauma and crafting a life that is not overrun by despair.

Unfortunately, the weather does not seem to be cooperating with us! Due to cloud cover and the possibility of rain, we are rescheduling our Sky Viewing Events for this weekend.

New Events:

1. Friday, JAN 20 7:30-9:00 pm - Planetarium Movies (shows run every 35-40 minutes)
Planetarium is located inside the Natural History Museum on the 1st floor of Herty Hall.
2. Monday, JAN 23 6:00-9:00 pm - Sky Viewing on GCSU Front Campus Lawn! Using multiple telescopes we will view the Moon and planets - with the best viewing of planets starting around 6:30 pm. Bring your cell phones to capture images through our telescopes - enter your pictures for a chance to win a James Webb Space Telescope gift from NASA!
3. Community Festival - will be rescheduled for later in March with games, activities, telescopes for viewing the Moon and stars, and an Astronaut's Journey.

While we are disappointed about having to reschedule our events, we are excited to offer you new opportunities! Join us and let's see what we can see in the sky on front campus!

Times Talk Wednesday January 25, noon-12:50, "What is School For? Meaningful Employment? Personal Enrichment? The Public Good? What is college for, anyway?"

American Democracy Project : Monday January 23, 2023

Join us in 241 Russell Library for an informative and engaging discussion facilitated by Dr. Nathan Bedsole, Assistant Professor of Rhetoric and Director of the GC Speech and Debate Team on "What is School For? Meaningful Employment? Personal Enrichment? The Public Good? What is college for, anyway?" The following article will be referenced during the discussion so feel free to read it ahead of time or during the discussion: Anya Kamenetz's essay "School is For Everyone" <https://www.nytimes.com/2022/09/01/opinion/us-school-history.html> makes the case that, above all, public education in America is a condition for communication, empathy, and democracy.

Times Talk at Georgia College is celebrating 18 continuous years as the first in the nation college weekly discussion series on current and significant public events and issues as reported by the New York Times and other reputable news sources. The topics change weekly and are chosen and facilitated by volunteer faculty, staff, students, and community members. Times Talk is open to all campus and local community members. Just bring your brain, FREE PIZZA provided! Brought to you by the American Democracy Project at Georgia College and the Ina Dillard Russell Library.

Next week's February 1 Times Talk: Dr. Angela Criscoe, Executive Director, School of Continuing and Professional Studies on "Need a Life Hack to navigate your world? Continuing education can support you as a college student and through a lifetime of careers and personal goals."

Mentored Undergraduate Research and Creative Endeavors (MURACE) : Sunday January 29, 2023

Research Day 2023 - Call for Submissions and Early Bird Raffle!

GCSU Research Day combines the annual undergraduate Student Research Conference, the Graduate School's Research Poster Exhibit and Competition, and the Women's and Gender Studies Symposium into one full-day, all-campus celebration of research and creative endeavors.

The GCSU Research Day Committee welcomes abstract submissions from all current Georgia College & State University undergraduate and graduate students in all fields of research and/or creative activities for presentation or performance on Wednesday, March 29th, 2023. Follow this link to access the abstract submission portal, which is open now through March 1st, 2023.

All students who submit an abstract before the early bird deadline of February 1st, 2023 will automatically be entered into a drawing for a $50 Barnes & Noble gift card!

Abstracts of no more than 300 words can be submitted for projects in one of the following formats:

- Oral Presentation (for research or creative works)
- Poster Presentation (for research or creative works)
- Visual Arts Presentation (for sculpture, painting, photography, etc.)
- Performance Presentation (for drama, music, theater, creative writing, etc.)

For assistance with abstracts, students may attend a Writing Center consultation on abstract writing through Unify.

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Stefanie Sevcik, Faculty Director of Mentored Undergraduate Research and Creative Endeavors at murace@gcsu.edu.

Research Day is co-sponsored by GC Journeys, MURACE, The Graduate School, Ina Dillard Russell Library, The Honors College, The Women's and Gender Studies Program, and Barnes & Noble.

Lecture & Discussion: Liquid Agency in the Collapse of a Tanzanian NGO by Provost's Visiting Scholar Dr. Jenna Hanchey, Arizona State University

Communication, Department of : Tuesday January 31, 2023

In this engaging lecture and discussion, Provost's Visiting Scholar, Dr. Jenna Hanchey draws from her fieldwork conducted at an internationally managed aid organization in Tanzania. Dr. Hanchey explores the ways that Tanzanian employees often run into problems with Western donors and volunteers, and how they use what she terms "liquid agency" to take control of decision-making and action in the organization.

Dr. Hanchey, of the Hugh Downs School of Communication at Arizona State University, is one of the most prominent young scholars in the Communication discipline, her work draws from many area including intercultural and organizational communication, gender studies, African studies, international development, and critical/cultural studies.

Workshop: Practical Solutions to YOUR ChatGPT Concerns

Center for Teaching & Learning : Tuesday January 31, 2023

Practical Solutions to YOUR ChatGPT Concerns

February 15, 12 noon to 1:30 p.m.

Pat Peterson Museum Education Room, Russell Library

February 16, 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Library 241

This workshop, put on by Cynthia Alby, is designed to present a variety of key ways one might redesign assignments to either actively incorporate ChatGPT or to circumvent its use. Because contexts differ considerably, solutions must also differ. Individuals will take turns explaining an issue they have and the team will then help brainstorm solutions to that specific issue. Through hearing how others develop solutions, you should leave with broader options to support yourself, your colleagues, and your students. Dr. Alby is offering two sessions to meet the needs of those with different schedules. Each session is 90 minutes, but feel free to slip out earlier if you need to.
