Mystery of the Glass Ceiling: A Noir Comedy

Theatre & Dance, Department of : Tuesday April 4, 2023

Lila is a licensed PI with a slow practice, and an even slower secretary, who's head over heels over her heels. But when their hot new client threatens to expose a shady operation of Lacanian psychoanalysts and unnecessary headshots, danger lurks. Leila's got the brainpower to out-think her male stereotypes in the field, but what happens when she has a life-altering encounter with the ghost of the legendary movie director Ida Lupino? Can a couple of fatales find their fem again? Only solving the Mystery of the Glass Ceiling will tell. Arts and Letters Journal of Contemporary Culture Drama Prize Winner written by Merridawn Duckler, directed by Iona Sun Holder. Presented in collaboration with the Creative Writing Program. All performances will take place at Birdhouse Theatre at Blackbird Coffee. All tickets are $5 and can be purchased at tickets.gcsu.edu.

Sexual Assault on College Campuses: Awareness and Prevention

English, Department of : Wednesday April 5, 2023

GC2Y "Sex and Resistance" and the Women's Center and LGBTQ+ Programs present: "Sexual Assault on College Campuses: Awareness and Prevention" featuring Title IX Coordinator Shanoya Cordew, LGBTQ+ Programs Coordinator Melissa Gerrior and Interim Chief Diversity Officer & Women's Center Director Dr. Jennifer Graham.

Join us April 6 at 5 p.m. in Arts and Sciences Room 3-70 for an open conversation about sexual assault awareness and how we can make GCSU a safer space with the help of organizations like the GCSU Women's Center and other LGBTQ+ organizations.

We view the conversation around sexual assault awareness to be extremely important as instances of sexual assault are common on college campuses. Many survivors feel discouraged from coming forward about their abuse. With our presentation, we hope to ensure a future where sexual assault is far less frequent and where sexual assault victims of any kind are provided with the proper counseling and justice for what they have endured.

With the help of Shanoya Cordew, who is the student compliance counselor at Georgia College, we hope to inform those who attend that there is a place to report sexual assault and receive mental health counseling. We want to provide a safe and inclusive space that recognizes the seriousness of sexual assault on college campuses, and how we can each do our part in ensuring a safer space where sexual assault of any kind is handled appropriately.

Diversity 360 Series Event: Allyship in the Workplace

Inclusion and Belonging, Office of : Wednesday April 5, 2023

The Office of Inclusive Excellence's final Diversity 360 Series for the Spring semester is called "Allyship in the Workplace". The virtual workshop will be held on Wednesday, Apr. 19 at 3:30 p.m. Dr. Joanna Schwartz, Professor of Marketing from the College of Business and Technology, will be the facilitator.

When you hear the word "allyship", what do you think it is? While a majority of employees think of themselves as allies, research shows many employees don't know how to do it, or even know what it means. According to Deloitte's 2019 State of Inclusion Survey, while 92% of people already see themselves as allies in the workplace, only 29% say they actually speak up when they perceive bias, and 34% simply ignore it.

Being an ally at work means acknowledging your power and influence and using them to advocate for fairness and equity in the workplace. As an employee of GCSU, you have the ability to become an ally and help shape the actions and culture around you—thus fostering an environment that is respectful, inclusive, and supportive, and helps everyone have a secure sense of belonging.

Participants will learn:

- Key terms and concepts as well as how allyship impacts an organization's culture
- Identify characteristics of a good ally in the workplace
- How to show up for coworkers who hold traditionally marginalized identities
- How to develop the skills and the awareness to become a better ally

Registration to attend the workshop is open. All registrants will receive the link to the workshop.

Guest Scholar Mina Choksi: Calligraphy Workshop and Public Lecture on Jain Art and Philosophy

Philosophy Religion & Liberal Studies, Department of : Thursday April 6, 2023

Born and raised in a Jain family, Minaxi Choksi currently studies under the guidance of Jain Monks in her pursuit of greater understanding of Jain principles, philosophy and art. Reviving the Heritage Art of Meditative Calligraphy: Mina's experience in fine and graphic arts includes Glass Fusion and Heritage Arts. She has trained with master calligraphers from around the globe for over 15 years in Latin scripts, and now utilizes that foundation as she develops Indic Calligraphy with a special focus on Brahmi, the most ancient script. As Art Ambassador and founder of KalaCircle at the Jain Center of Southern California, Mina's mission is to offer a comprehensive Art program to connect with the community and to manifest the Jain virtues of compassion, universal love and equanimity. On April 27 from 2:00-3:00 p.m. at Peabody Auditorium, Mina will share her techniques and methodology in a public workshop on calligraphy. She will then discuss Jain art and philosophy in her public lecture, also at Peabody Auditorium, from 3:30-4:45 p.m. Please contact the Department of Philosophy, Religion and Liberal Studies at 478-445-5221 for more information.

Fighting Obesity: 9th Annual ArtHealthy Festival at Georgia College & State University

Health & Human Performance, School of : Friday April 7, 2023

The 9th Annual ArtHealthy Festival—with popular activities like the Kid Zone, Human Foosball, Human Hungry Hippo, Warrior Jump’s inflatable obstacle course and a Zip Line—promises to be a fun, physically-active experience for all ages.

This popular community event, sponsored by Georgia College & State University in partnership with CREATE Inc., attracts up to 2,000 people from Central Georgia in a celebration of health and fitness. It will be from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday, April 15, on Front Campus.

Fulfilling CREATE’s vision to “Provide Innovative Responses to Quality-of-Life Barriers,” the ArtHealthy Festival is held to address the epidemic of obesity using the arts, education and recreation.

In addition to the new Zip Line, this year’s festival features a concert by Dynamic Sounds of Phunk and a Magic Show by local artists.

“Because of its art and healthy living focus, ArtHealthy Festival 2023 once again encourages the community to take care of themselves and one another, as we enjoy the great sounds of old school R&B,” said Toyia Barnes, coordinator of ArtHealthy and Georgia College’s School of Health and Human Performance.

The festival and all activities are free and open to the public.

Popular activities include:

- Art-in-Motion with physical workouts like double Dutch aerobics and yoga
- A Kid Zone with face painting, art projects, hula hoop dancing, sack races and self portraits
- Medical assessments, first aid and emergency information, self-care and nutritional material and back care, as well as child and office safety, ways to combat stress, dental health and recreational safety
- Testing for blood pressure, Body Mass Index (BMI), bone density, cholesterol, hearing, eyes and glucose
- Prescription drug take-back services
- Live performances
- 200 vendors
- Face Painting, make your own buttons, art projects and more

“From the youngest child to the oldest adult, there’s something for everyone at this festival,” Barnes said. “It’s an annual event that the whole family can enjoy.”

Please see attached photo and visit <http://www.arthealthy.org/> or www.facebook.com/ArthealthyFestival for more information.

Camp Pinnacle Tabling at A&S Fountain Today!

Career Center : Sunday April 9, 2023

Representatives from Camp Pinnacle will be tabling on campus at the A&S Fountain from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. today! Stop by to learn more about available employment opportunities with Camp Pinnacle!

If you love working with children, there's no better way to spend your summer than working as a Camp Pinnacle staff member! It's not only one of the most important and rewarding jobs you will ever have—it's the hardest job that you will ever love. Summers are packed with growth opportunities for both staff and campers, with the hopes that everyone leaves camp with new experience, friendships and a greater love for the outdoors. Located just a short drive from Dupont State Park and Pisgah National Forest in Western North Carolina, Camp Pinnacle is a summer camp for children between the ages of 7 and 16.

In the Media Studio: with guest Judy Woodruff

Weds, April 12th 2023

5 p.m.

A&S Auditorium

“In the Media Studio” is a 45 minute long lecture and guest series with various media personalities from the broadcast, print, public relations, and other media backgrounds. The event is hosted by Professor Molly Wilkins, Lecturer in the Department of Communication at Georgia College & State University along with a guest student host. The event is produced by Professor Bill Burke, Keith Bergeron, and a team of communication students.

“In the Media Studio” takes its inspiration from the famed “Inside the Actors Studio” series.

Broadcast journalist Judy Woodruff is the Senior Correspondent for the PBS NewsHour, after serving for 11 years as its Anchor and Managing Editor. During 2023 and 2024, she is undertaking a reporting project, “America at a Crossroads,” to better understand the country’s political divide. She has covered politics and other news for more than four decades at CNN, NBC, and PBS.

The recipient of numerous awards, including the Peabody Journalistic Integrity Award, the Poynter Medal, an Emmy for Lifetime Achievement, and the Radcliffe Medal, she and the late Gwen Ifill were together awarded Arizona State University’s Walter Cronkite Award for Excellence in Journalism after Woodruff and Ifill were named co-anchors of the PBS NewsHour in 2013, marking the first time an American national news broadcast would be co-anchored by two women.

For 12 years, Woodruff served as anchor and senior correspondent for CNN, where her duties included anchoring the weekday program, Inside Politics. At PBS from 1983 to 1993, she was the chief Washington correspondent for The MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour. From 1984-1990, she also anchored PBS' award-winning weekly documentary series, Frontline with Judy Woodruff. In 2011, Woodruff was the principal reporter for the PBS documentary Nancy Reagan: The Role of a Lifetime. And in 2007, she completed an extensive project for PBS and other news outlets on the views of young Americans called Generation Next: Speak Up. Be Heard.

In 2006, Woodruff was a visiting professor at Duke University's Terry Sanford Institute of Public Policy. In 2005, she was a visiting fellow at Harvard University's Joan Shorenstein Center on the Press, Politics and Public Policy. From 2006-2013, she anchored a monthly program for Bloomberg Television, Conversations with Judy Woodruff.

At NBC News, Woodruff was White House correspondent from 1977 to 1982. For one year after that she served as NBC's Today show chief Washington correspondent. She wrote the book, This is Judy Woodruff at the White House, published in 1982 by Addison-Wesley.

Woodruff is a founding co-chair of the International Women's Media Foundation, an organization dedicated to promoting and encouraging women in communication industries worldwide. She serves on the boards of trustees of the Freedom Forum and The Duke Endowment. Formerly she was a trustee of the Carnegie Corporation of New York and the Urban Institute, and a member of The Knight Foundation Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics.

Woodruff is a graduate of Duke University, where she is a trustee emerita. She lives in Washington, DC, with her husband, journalist Al Hunt, and they are the parents of three children.

REMINDER: Diversity 360 Series Event: Allyship in the Workplace

Inclusion and Belonging, Office of : Tuesday April 11, 2023

The Office of Inclusive Excellence's final Diversity 360 Series for the Spring semester is called "Allyship in the Workplace". The virtual workshop will be held on Wednesday, Apr. 19 at 3:30 p.m. Dr. Joanna Schwartz, Professor of Marketing from the College of Business and Technology, will be the facilitator.

When you hear the word "allyship", what do you think it is? While a majority of employees think of themselves as allies, research shows many employees don't know how to do it, or even know what it means. According to Deloitte's 2019 State of Inclusion Survey, while 92% of people already see themselves as allies in the workplace, only 29% say they actually speak up when they perceive bias, and 34% simply ignore it.

Being an ally at work means acknowledging your power and influence and using them to advocate for fairness and equity in the workplace. As an employee of GCSU, you have the ability to become an ally and help shape the actions and culture around you—thus fostering an environment that is respectful, inclusive, and supportive, and helps everyone have a secure sense of belonging.

Participants will learn:

- Key terms and concepts as well as how allyship impacts an organization's culture
- Identify characteristics of a good ally in the workplace
- How to show up for coworkers who hold traditionally marginalized identities
- How to develop the skills and the awareness to become a better ally

Register online to attend the workshop. All registrants will receive the link to the workshop.

Staying Optimistic - Conquering Negative Thoughts

Human Resources, Office of : Tuesday April 11, 2023

The Office of Human Resources is excited to announce a new virtual training opportunity for all employees on Wednesday, April 26, 2023, 2:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m. See the link below to register and a description of the training. We hope you will be able to join us!

Training Topic: Staying Optimistic - Conquering Negative Thoughts

When: Wednesday, April 26, 2023, 2:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Online Registration Link

Training Description:

An average person has between 12,000-60,000 thoughts per day, 80% of which are negative. These thoughts are part of the survival mechanism in the mind which focuses on more negative details as a form of self-protection. However, it is not the negative thoughts themselves that are the issue, but rather the importance that we give these thoughts that cause the problem. This session allows participants to learn how to gain control over negative thoughts and turn them into neutral or positive ones, helping to conquer unhealthy and unhelpful habits.

HOW PARTICIPANTS WILL BENEFIT

- Identify the symptoms and causes of negative thoughts.
- Apply strategies to disrupt negative thoughts.
- Understand when additional help is needed.
- Discuss the types of help available.

Sustainability Symposium 2023

Sustainability, Office of : Wednesday April 12, 2023

Georgia College & State University Office of Sustainability and Sustainability Council are pleased to announce the 2023 Sustainability Symposium & Geospatial Public Health Forum: Examining Environmental Justice by Exposing Waste Issues in our Community and Exploring Our Role in Remediation. Our hope is that this symposium will inspire revolutionary conversations and solutions that will transform the way our communities of GCSU and Baldwin and surrounding counties approach waste treatment and environmentalism.

The Sustainability Symposium's goal is to shed light on environmental justice issues that Baldwin and surrounding counties are facing and encourage conversation and collaboration to get these issues resolved. The symposium is to take place on April 20th, 2023, starting at 5:30 pm in the Arts and Sciences Auditorium. The event will include light refreshments and breakout groups based on interest following panelist speaker addresses. Speakers at the symposium will represent Georgia College & State University's Aquatic Sciences Center, Rural Studies Institute, and Center for Health and Social Issues, as well as a wide variety of representation from many of GCSU's academic departments.

The Georgia College & State University Office of Sustainability and Sustainability Council have been working to make our community more sustainable for the last fifteen years. We feature a unique composting program that diverts food waste from the campus dining hall away from landfills, we have made recycling available campus-wide, promote education programming such as the West Campus Garden, and offer resources to students such as the Campus Corner, a free clothing and food pantry. The annual symposium gives us a platform to celebrate sustainability and broaden our impact in the community.

Are you a current senior at Georgia College (or do you know of one) that has had substantial involvement with the Cultural Center during your/their time at Georgia College? Please let us know by completing (or encouraging them to complete) the Rites of Passage info form found on GC Connect.

The Cultural Center would like to cordially invite those students, faculty and staff that have been connected to the Cultural Center to join us as we celebrate our graduating honorees at the Rites of Passage Gala on April 21st at 6:00 pm in the Peabody Auditorium. This year, our ceremony will be a gala featuring dinner, a keynote speaker and entertainment afterwards. We will also be honoring select students that have had leadership roles in the Black Student Alliance, Latino Student Association and the LIFE mentorship program. If you are a graduating senior in these programs, we ask that you complete the form linked above at your earliest convenience. We also invite members of the above listed organizations to attend the ceremony, but we ask that all who plan to attend RSVP via GC Connect.

Our keynote will be delivered by Mr. Jarrod Benjamin, President and CEO of Lead Firm Speaks (keynote speaker bio here). He is the Florida International University Cybersecurity Apprenticeship Program Director and Adjunct Professor. He currently manages and develops curriculum embedded certifications for the Jack D. Gordon Institute for Public Policy. He serves as a subject matter expert on the $3 million dollar Intelligence Community-Center of Academic Excellence consortium grant. Mr. Benjamin also serves as the Chief Executive Officer of The LEAD Firm. He is responsible for curriculum development, leadership training, keynote events, and serves as an organization consultant for over 120 colleges and universities across the country. Oversight training includes Higher Education Enrollment Management Consultation, Student Leadership, Greek Life, and Student Affairs Professional Team Building. Mr. Benjamin is the founder and host of the Black and Multicultural Greek EMPOWERMENT Summit – Atlanta Edition.

We look forward to this special time and hope that you will join us!

Please invite students, staff, faculty, and friends.

"Plastic Earth" is the first documentary feature film of its kind to cover the solutions and technologies being worked on in the world today to combat and eventually solve the plastic crisis that our world is facing. Worldwide plastic production coming from fossil-based sources continues to rise and it contributes to climate change, pollution, and threatens the planet's species.

"Plastic Earth" follows the story of a concerned mother, Janice Overbeck. Janice goes on a journey to learn the full story of this problem and to uncover what is happening in the background to solve it. Through dozens of interviews with scientists, engineers, researchers, and innovators, Janice gets first-hand insights on how we can get this problem under control. This documentary film features many of the heroes of the world working to solve the world's plastic and environmental issues (99 min.).

Pop Culture Panel - 5 PM on April 19 in A&S 364!

Center for Teaching & Learning : Thursday April 13, 2023

Many professors use references to popular culture as illustrations in teaching. A few have also made it a focus of their research.

Contemporary pop culture is not fundamentally different from the ancient and historical cultural products that it is taken for granted that academics will and should study. Yet it does not always get the same respect as other objects of study. Please join this panel of your faculty colleagues from a wide array of fields and disciplines to learn about what they have discovered as they've applied the tools of their trade to contemporary music, literature, film, and television. If you come expecting to discover new potential research areas, creative ways of using pop culture to assist learning and make it more fun for students, and/or things in your favorite stories and music that you never noticed before, you won't be disappointed. We'll provide the popcorn!

The Pop Culture Panel will take place in Arts and Sciences 364 at 5 PM on Wednesday, April 19.

You're Invited: Eve Puckett Giving Tree Planting honoring Kappa Alpha Order

Community Engagement and Service, Office of : Monday April 17, 2023

Join us this Wednesday, April 19th at 2:30 p.m. at West Campus for the Eve Puckett Giving Tree Award celebration and tree planting.

The Eve Puckett Giving Tree Award is given to an organization or person who has left a lasting legacy of service at the university. Each recipient plants a tree on campus as an act of giving back to the community.

This year, the recipient is Kappa Alpha Order! They have been a steadfast supporter of the Life Enrichment Center, one of Georgia College's most active community partners. They have supported this organization both financially and through the time and effort they put into their service projects over the past ten years.

Follow the signs leading from the West Campus arches to the planting site. The planting will occur in front of building 5.

Born Digital: Artistic Production in the Age of ARPANET

Art, Department of : Monday April 17, 2023

The Georgia College Department of Art Presents

Alana Wolf-Johnson

Visiting Artists and Scholars Program Scholar in Residence, April 18-21, 2023

Public Lecture: April 20, 5:00-6:00 PM, A&S 272

Born Digital: Artistic Production in the Age of ARPANET

Recent headlines suggest that applying computer algorithms to art is a recent development. While it may be hard to resist trying on the latest AI filter dominating your favorite social media application, the origins of computer-assisted and -generated art go back much further. Building upon a series of high-profile collaborations between artists and engineers during the 1960s, the 1970s witnessed a wildly fertile period of creativity that led choreographers, musicians, and visual artists to explore the possibilities of digital technologies. In this talk, you will learn about leading-edge forays into artistic production during the earliest days of the internet.

Alana Wolf-Johnson is an art historian, critic, and curator whose work examines how modern and contemporary artists express human perception and engage with technology. Most recently serving as the Utah Museum of Fine Arts' collections research curator, Dr. Wolf-Johnson has organized and curated exhibitions for the North Carolina Museum of Art, the Atlanta Contemporary, and the Ronald Rettner Hall for Media Arts and Innovation. She co-founded and served as artistic director for Public Acts of Art, a non-profit dedicated to arts education and exhibition in nontraditional venues, and her research has been sponsored by the National Endowment for the Arts and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. Presently writing for Southwest Contemporary magazine, Wolf-Johnson is preparing a book project that explores how art, technology, and countercultural movements intersected on North American college campuses in the 1970s. In 2021, Wolf-Johnson received her doctorate in Visual and Cultural Studies from the University of Rochester.

University Historian Dr. Bob Wilson to give lecture and sign new book on GCSU history

History & Geography, Department of : Tuesday April 18, 2023

Dr. Bob Wilson, professor emeritus of history and university historian for Georgia College & State University will give a lecture and sign copies of his newly-finished book, "History of Georgia College & State University: 125 Years of a Liberal Arts College," at 6 p.m. Wednesday, April 19, in the state dining room at Georgia's Old Governor's Mansion.

There will be a reception and refreshments after his talk.

The 500-page book took Wilson five years to complete. It spans the university's history from 1889 to 2014. The highlight year is 1996, when the university was declared the state's only liberal arts institution under the administration of former university president Dr. Rosemary DePaolo. She served from 1997 to 2003.

"That was the instrumental change for this college," Wilson said.

The talk and reception are free and open to the public. Copies of Wilson's book are available for $20 at the Mansion gift shop.

The following article may be referred to during the discussion so feel free to read it ahead of time: "When We Consent, We Shouldn't Feel Terrible After, Right?" opinion article on nytimes.com

Times Talk at Georgia College is celebrating 18 continuous years as the first in the nation college weekly discussion series on current and significant public events and issues as reported by the New York Times and other reputable news sources. The topics change weekly and are chosen and facilitated by volunteer faculty, staff, students, and community members. Times Talks are open to all campus and local community members.

Next week April 26 final Times Talk of the semester facilitated by Dr. Shaundra Walker on the topic "Are libraries and access to information still considered public goods?"

In the Media Studio

Communication, Department of : Thursday April 20, 2023

“In the Media Studio” is a 45 minute long lecture and guest series with various media personalities from the broadcast, print, public relations, and other media backgrounds. The event is hosted by Professor Molly Wilkins, Lecturer in the Department of Communication Georgia College & State University along with a guest student host. The event is produced by Professor Bill Burke, Keith Bergeron, and a team of communication students.

“In the Media Studio” takes its inspiration from the famed “Inside the Actors Studio” series.

From the 13WMAZ website Marvin James is a sports anchor/sports executive producer at 13WMAZ in Macon, Ga.

He joined 13WMAZ in May 1999 as a video journalist and worked in several newsroom management positions.

In the Fall 2006, Marvin joined the on-air cast of Football Friday Night, covering Houston, Peach and surrounding areas.

Now, he serves as sports anchor, in addition to his recurring role with Football Friday Night which airs at 11:35 p.m. in the fall.

Marvin was born into a military family at Lakenheath AB, England and lived in California, New Jersey, South Carolina and Germany before settling in Georgia while in high school.

He graduated from Warner Robins High School and was awarded an athletic scholarship to Georgia Southern University to play football.

He graduated with a degree in Broadcast Journalism.

Marvin and his wife, Dr. Damita James have one daughter, Yasmine Drew.

His hobbies include community service with his fraternity brothers of Omega Psi Phi, watching sports on TV and writing.

Art and Covid-19 Crisis in Latin America

Digital Humanities Collaborative : Monday April 24, 2023

Join us for a presentation by Digital Humanities Collaborative Faculty Fellow, Ruben Yepes Muñoz, assistant professor of Art History, Department of Art.

This ongoing research documents and analyzes the artwork and art exhibitions produced in response to the Covid-19 pandemic across Latin America and the social crisis that the pandemic exacerbated. Artists and art curators, galleries and museums have responded to the health and social crisis in various ways. From large exhibitions to independent art projects, these cultural agents have exercised their creative capacities in order to represent the effects of the crisis, mediate citizen responses and, in some cases, intervene in the crisis through different forms of individual and collective aesthetic agency.

Aligning with the Digital Humanities Initiative and with the consolidation of the Internet as a key communication tool that the pandemic has spurred, the research results are being consolidated in a website that serves as the project's main means of dissemination. The website provides the user with images, information, links to artist and museum websites and the researcher's scholarly articles on the artwork and exhibitions.

Southern Teachers Agency will be at the A&S Fountain on Tuesday, April 25th from 11 am - 1 pm to share information about available teaching opportunities. Bring a few copies of your resume and stop by to connect with a recruiter!

Southern Teachers Agency helps college graduates find teaching jobs in college-preparatory schools around the South. While successful progress through a teacher-education program is prized, and essential for some jobs (e.g., for elementary, music, arts, and P.E. teachers), for many positions a teaching certificate is not required. Math majors can be hired to teach math; Spanish majors can teach Spanish, etc. Candidates do, however, need a strong academic record and the personal characteristics that will enable them to manage and motivate K-12 students. To summarize: Teacher certification is not required for most jobs.

Writing for Success grant brings author Mary Carpenter to Milledgeville

O'Connor Institute : Monday April 24, 2023

Mary Carpenter, author of "Flannery O'Connor: A Girl Who Knew Her Own Mind" will visit Midway Hills Academy and Lakeview Academy for a two-week writing residency as part of the Writing for Success grant through the Andalusia Institute. The Writing for Success Grant is a 100% federally funded project that aims to increase reading, writing, speaking and listening skills in the Milledgeville/Baldwin County community. The $385,000 grant supports local educators in crafting a responsive 5th grade literacy curriculum by providing resources including text sets, classroom supplies, field trips, podcasting and GCSU mentor support. Project Director Dr. Jordan Cofer says, "We are very excited about hosting Ms. Carpenter. Her book has made O'Connor accessible to a whole new audience who will be able to enjoy and appreciate not just O'Connor's writing but the important contributions she has made in her life."

"Flannery O'Connor: A Girl Who Knew Her Own Mind" is the anchor text for the fourth unit of study for the 5th grade of Baldwin County Schools. This high-low text is about renowned American author, Flannery O'Connor: her rural southern upbringing, her relationship to race, her chronic lupus and her Catholic faith. Through her fiction, O'Connor became a role model for unconventional girls everywhere and for anyone who dreams of becoming a writer. High-low texts are written for readers with a high interest level and low reading skill level. Mary Carpenter has written three high-low texts, inspired by her son's struggle to find interesting books while learning to read.

Carpenter will visit with 5th grade students and teachers at both academies to discuss her writing process and answer questions. She'll lead students through a writing exercise and encourage them to find inspiration in the place they live, much like Flannery O'Connor was inspired by the sights, sounds and settings of Milledgeville during her time writing at Andalusia Farm in the 1950s and 1960s. Carpenter states, "Much of what I say about Flannery and my biography of her is connected to Georgia. Even after she was compelled at age 25, because of her lupus, to return to Georgia and to move back in with her mother, Flannery said, "The best of my writing has been done here." I'm looking forward to my own return to Milledgeville, to the places where Flannery lived and wrote most of her fiction -- and where so much of her life and work are preserved, at Andalusia and at Georgia College."

The community is invited to attend a Book Signing co-sponsored by Allied Arts and the Andalusia Institute Wednesday, April 26 from 4 to 5 p.m. at the Marlor House and a Meet the Author event at Mary Vinson Memorial Library children's theater Thursday, April 27 at 4 p.m. Both events are free and open to the public.

Celebrate the Opening of the Fishing Creek Trail, today, at the Oconee River Greenway

News You Can Use : Wednesday April 26, 2023

The creation of this segment of the Oconee River Greenway had a lot of support from Georgia College & State University. Dr. Jim Lidstone, former director of the Center for Health and Social Issues, was a major catalyst in getting the City, County, and Greenway Authority together to compete for outside funding. Mass Communication majors helped promote the Live Healthy Baldwin program through social media posts and event planning. Geography Professor Dr. Doug Oetter and numerous Geography students donated over 500 hours of hard work to the surveying and design of the route, and much of that time qualified as matching for the funding grants

The Georgia College & State University bike committee remains ready to engage with others to make our community safer for biking and walking. Georgia College is a Bike-Friendly University (Bronze level), and remains committed to improving and increasing wellness activities in and around campus.
