GCSU Hosts U.S. Poet Laureate Billy Collins as Darugar Visiting Lecturer

English, Department of : Friday March 1, 2024

Georgia College & State University's Creative Writing Program will host former U.S. Poet Laureate Billy Collins Monday, March 4, for a reading and Q&A. Collins served back-to-back terms as poet laureate from 2001 to 2003.

Collins will take part in a Q&A session from 4 to 4:45 p.m. in Arts & Sciences 140. He will also give a reading of his poetry from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the A&S auditorium, followed by a book signing.

Called "the most popular poet in America" by New York Times editor Bruce Weber, Collins is the author of 12 collections of poetry. These include "Aimless Love," "Sailing Alone Around the Room" and his most recent collection, "Whale Day."

Collins also edited the anthology collections "Poetry 180" and "180 More."

As the country's poet laureate in the aftermath of the terrorist attacks Sept. 11, 2001, Collins wrote a poem in honor of the victims. Collins read "The Names" during a joint session of Congress held in New York City in 2002, and it remains one of his most well-known poems.

"Collins' level of fame is almost unprecedented in the world of contemporary poetry," according to The Poetry Foundation. His many awards and accolades include fellowships from the National Endowment for the Arts and Guggenheim Foundation, as well as serving as New York State poet laureate from 2004 to 2006.

Collins holds a bachelor's degree from College of the Holy Cross, and an M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of California-Riverside. His numerous teaching appointments include Columbia University, Sarah Lawrence, Lehman College and City University of New York. Collins is also a faculty member at the State University of New York-Stonybrook.

The Dr. and Mrs. Barry Darugar Lecture is an annual event. Faculty members nominate writers of national renown, then select a writer from the pool of distinguished nominees.

Darugar Lecture events are free and open to the public.

Mobile Mammogram tomorrow, March 5, 2024 - Walk-ins welcome

Human Resources, Office of : Monday March 4, 2024

Don't forget that tomorrow, March 5, 2024, you can take advantage of the opportunity to have a mammogram completed in 15 minutes, right here on campus, in the privacy of the traveling mammogram mobile which has been affectionately nicknamed the "Pink Baby." With early detection, mammograms can also prevent the need for extensive treatment for advanced cancers and improve chances of breast conservation.

You can still register for appointments or come by tomorrow as a walk-in. Visit this HIPAA secure link to schedule your appointment today: <https://gcsu.mymammo.net>.

- All participants must have a primary physician who they have seen in the last 12 months (i.e., OBGYN or family practice).
- Clinical results will be provided directly to the participant and their primary care physician.
- Participants must be 40 or older.
- Insurance will be billed directly (service is not limited to Georgia College & State University insurance plans only).
- Appointments are approximately 15 minutes.

"Wesleyan Class Traditions: The Ties That Bind Us" Guest Lecturer Brandi Simpson Miller, assistant director - Lane Center for Social and Racial Equity, Wesleyan College

History & Geography, Department of : Tuesday March 5, 2024

Wesleyan sisterhood traditions are powerful, persistent and have been plagued with controversy since their inception in the early 19th century. Over the years, a series of false narratives was created, whether intentionally or unintentionally, to disguise the origins of class names in both the Klu Klux Klan epithet and imagery. These false narratives were perpetuated in class traditions by students who often had no direct knowledge about the foundations of those traditions in white sisterhood, defined here as the embracing of the Lost Cause narrative first delineated by author Edward Pollard in 1867.

Class traditions were enduring and powerful and remained a way for students to bond to each other and the institution, even as the iconography evolved. Despite the inherently divisive substratum embedded in class traditions, sisterhood traditions worked to bond new students to women who came before them and after them. The positive attributes of sisterhood, chief among them the forging of lifelong friendships, continue today.

This event is Thursday, March 28 in A&S 272.

The Department of World Languages and Cultures is hosting the Provost's Visiting Scholar Dr. Laurenz Volkman

World Languages & Cultures, Department of : Wednesday March 6, 2024

Georgia College & State University's Department of World Languages and Cultures will host Dr. Laurenz Volkman from the Friedrich Schiller University at Jena, Germany, as the Provost's visiting scholar.

Dr. Volkman is chair of the Institute of English and American Studies at the FSU Jena and a well-published expert in Pedagogy. He earned his doctorate from The University of Erlangen in 1989.

Some of his most recent accomplishments are:

PILOTS-Partnerschaften International im Lehramt durch Online-Tandem-Seminare: Virtual Exchanges des Jenaer Lehramtes. Published October 2023. This poster presents the PILOTS project, which aimed to organize and investigate virtual exchanges in teacher training between Friedrich Schiller University of Jena and international partner universities. It showcases various methods of implementing virtual exchanges and highlights the benefits of this teaching format.

Teaching English: Audio-book on Spotify. Tuebingen: Narr, 2022.
<https://open.spotify.com/intl-de/album/24vHmoBtBcsmOYDrtCox95>. Published September 2022. This foundational coursebook offers an accessible and up-to-date introduction to all relevant areas of Teaching English. Definitions and practical examples guide the understanding and reflection of basic and advanced concepts of foreign language learning.

Environmental literacy, sustainable education and posthumanism pedagogy: teaching the climate crisis in a global, transatlantic online setting. Published January 2023 with Co-Author, Dr. Hedwig Fraunhofer, GCSU french professor. In this article, we aim to contribute to the theoretical conceptualization and praxis of development education and global learning by engaging with recent discussions in the areas of ecocriticism, ecological literacy and posthumanism. Employing a pedagogical approach that is learner-centered and participatory and that prepares learners to question dominant, globally relevant social norms, development education and global learning empower learners to be active global citizens.

The Climate Crisis in Foreign Language/Environmental Literacy Education: A Binational Virtual Exchange. Published June 2022 with Co-Author, Dr. Hedwig Fraunhofer, GCSU french professor. This contribution provides a best-practice example or case study of a transatlantic online course focused on the integrative acquisition of environmental literacy, intercultural skills and foreign language proficiency. Through binational and transdisciplinary group and class interactions, students from universities in Germany and the United States learned to identify and negotiate culturally and discipline-mediated perspectives on the more-than-human world.

Volkmann will host two lectures during his visit to the Georgia College and State University campus:

March 8, 2024, at 3:30 p.m. – “The Uses of Literature in Education: An Intercultural Perspective.” This lecture will take place in room 274 of the Arts & Sciences building. Faculty are invited to attend.

March 11, 2024, at 5:30 p.m. – “Teaching the Climate Crisis in a Transatlantic Online Course: Creating a Dialogue between Different Disciplines and Across Cultures.” Dr. Hedwig Fraunhofer will also share in this lecture. This lecture will be held in the Pat Peterson Museum Education Room. Faculty and Students are welcome to attend.

We hope you will join us for these very exciting lectures.

Times Talk Wednesday, March 13, 12-12:50 p.m. Library 241 with Dr. Shaundra Walker on "Black Women's Quest for the Right to Vote as Seen Through the Life of Adella Hunt Logan"

American Democracy Project : Monday March 11, 2024

Join us this Wednesday, March 13, from 12:00-12:50 p.m. in Russell Library, room 241 for Times Talk facilitated by Dr. Shaundra Walker, executive director of Russell Library and associate professor of Library Science on "Black Women's Quest for the Right to Vote as Seen Through the Life of Adella Hunt Logan." In honor of Women's History Month, this talk will explore the topic of voting rights for Black women by highlighting the life and work of Adella Hunt Logan, a librarian, educator and suffragist who was born in Hancock County, Georgia, in 1863. Until recently, Logan's story, especially her connections to Georgia, has been unrecognized when compared with her peers. As we celebrate Women's History Month, and their contributions to American life, we will dialogue about whose stories get told and why.

The following articles may be referenced during the discussion:

Suffrage Isn't 'Boring History.' It's a Story of Political Geniuses:

GCSU Thirst for Knowledge: Georgia Adopt-a-Stream trainings and monitoring events

Academic Outreach : Monday March 11, 2024

Are you looking for a fun way to start your Spring Break? Join us for a Georgia Adopt-a-Stream training (macroinvertebrate or chemical) and/or some water quality monitoring this week.

Do you want to see what it is all about? Join us Friday at 9 a.m. at Lake Laurel where we will do chemical monitoring of Champion Creek and/or at 10:30 a.m. at Andalusia where we will monitor Tobler Creek. No experience necessary. (Register here: <https://givepul.se/q7uw31>.)

Are you interested in adopting your own stream? Then join us for one of our AAS trainings. The Macroinvertebrate Training will be offered Wednesday, March 13, from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. at Lake Laurel Lodge (Register here: <https://givepul.se/ou3fo2>). The Chemical training will be Friday, March 15, from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. at Lake Laurel Lodge (Register here: <https://givepul.se/m47b90>). Training certification is valid for one year.

Stream macroinvertebrates (insects, mollusks and crustaceans) are excellent indicators of the condition of both water quality and habitat. This workshop will focus on macroinvertebrate collection techniques and identification; in other words, catching cool animals. Volunteers who identify the macroinvertebrates with 90% accuracy and pass the written test with a score of 80% or better will be certified to conduct macroinvertebrate monitoring and can “adopt” a section of a local stream.

The Chemical Monitoring Workshop is designed to teach volunteers about basic stream water chemistry and how to conduct various chemical tests using hand-held field equipment. The basic set of tests include dissolved oxygen, conductivity, pH and temperature. Volunteers who collect data within 10% accuracy and pass the written test with a score of 80% or better will be certified to conduct chemical monitoring.

Students can satisfy CbEL requirements for GC Journeys through the Georgia College & State University Thirst for Knowledge Program, and the trainings and monitoring events are open to all.

For more information, email Ruth Eilers at ruth.eilers@gcsu.edu, or visit the Georgia Adopt-a-Stream website: <https://adoptastream.georgia.gov/>.

Georgia Adopt-a-Stream monitoring: You can make a positive impact

Academic Outreach : Tuesday March 12, 2024

Want to learn more about campus while making a positive impact? Join us Friday, March 15, for Chemical Monitoring of Champion Creek at Lake Laurel (9 - 10 a.m.) at Georgia College & State University's East Campus and/or Tobler Creek at Andalusia (10:30 a.m. - 12 p.m.). No experience necessary. Be sure to wear closed-toed shoes that can get wet.

We will use Georgia Adopt-a-Stream methods to test temperature, dissolved oxygen, conductivity and pH of the streams, all while enjoying the beauty of Georgia College's East Campus and Andalusia Farm. Can't make it this time? No worries. We monitor monthly, so check back for more opportunities.

This is a GCSU Thirst for Knowledge event.

Solar eclipse viewing event

Chemistry, Physics, & Astronomy, Department of : Tuesday March 12, 2024

A total solar eclipse will happen in parts of the U.S. Monday, April 8 2024. While the total eclipse can be viewed on a path from Texas to Maine, the view from the Georgia College & State University campus will be a partial solar eclipse from 1:47 p.m. to 4:21 p.m. EDT.

Maximum sun coverage by the new moon will occur at 3:05 p.m. The face of the sun will be 81% obscured by the moon at that time. Safe viewing of the eclipse will be possible with eclipse glasses or telescopes designed for solar observations. The next coast-to-coast total solar eclipse in the U.S. will not occur until 2045.

The Physics and Astronomy Club will have a table at the A&S Fountain courtyard with solar telescopes and eclipse glasses from 2 until 4 p.m. April 8. Eclipse glasses will also be available in the days leading up to the eclipse at the Ina Dillard Russell Library circulation desk while supplies last.

WGS Symposium Keynote Lecture with Lauran Whitworth of Agnes Scott College "Loving the Land and Each Other: Environmental Eros & Trans-Species Ethics in Feminist and Queer Ecologies"

Philosophy Religion & Liberal Studies, Department of : Tuesday March 12, 2024

The keynote lecture with Lauren Whitworth of Agnes Scott College will take place Tuesday, March 26, at 5 p.m. in the Pat Peterson Museum Education Room, located in the GCSU library.

In her 1978 essay "Uses of the Erotic: The Erotic as Power," Audre Lorde avers, "[The erotic] has been made into the confused, the trivial, the psychotic, the plasticized sensation. For this reason, we have often turned away from the exploration and consideration of the erotic as a source of power and information" (54). Part of our maligning of the erotic, according to Lorde, is our separation of the spiritual from the erotic. In this talk, I will examine writings and illustrations by feminist and queer activists who perceive the environment and more-than-human organisms as a source of ethical, spiritual and erotic inspiration. My case studies include feminist back-to-land communes, the Radical Faeries, the Queer Ecojustice Project and essays by Alexis Pauline Gumbs. I locate in these materials an environmental eros that combines a Platonic/Greek sense of the word eros, a desire for that which is "larger than the self" (Willett 2014, 10), with Lorde's understanding of eros as a life force and creative energy. By desiring in and with nature, these feminist and queer ecologies model relationality between human and nonhuman others that welcomes interdependence and challenges human supremacy.

Bio: Lauran Whitworth (she/they) is an assistant professor and chair of Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies and co-director of the Environmental and Sustainability Studies minor at Agnes Scott College in Decatur, Georgia. Her current book project, Environmental Eros: Picturing Feminist, Queer and Trans Ecologies, brings together gender and sexuality studies, film studies and ecocriticism. The book focuses on the environmental ethics and aesthetics of 1970s ecological feminisms, the Radical Faerie movement and several contemporary environmental groups, including the Queer Ecojustice Project. Her scholarship has appeared in Feminist Theory, Intersections and CAA Reviews.

Co-sponsors: Women and Gender Studies, Dean, College of Arts & Sciences, Women's Center, Cultural Center

Career & Graduate School Fair - March 28

Career Center : Wednesday March 13, 2024

The Career & Graduate School Fair is the campus networking event of the semester. Happening on March 28 from 11 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. in Centennial Center, this fair offers students the opportunity to network and connect for full-time and part-time jobs, internships and graduate school programs. This semester, the Career & Graduate School Fair will feature 60+ employers and 20+ graduate schools from diverse industries and fields.

- Discover internships and job opportunities: Engage with 60+ employers from diverse industries, many of which are hiring all majors.
- Explore Graduate School programs: Interact with representatives from 20+ institutions and gain insights into a wide range of programs.
- Engage in career exploration: Unsure what you can do with your major? Learn about potential career paths.

You never have a second chance to make a first impression, so business attire is required for this event. Students seeking full-time jobs and internships are highly encouraged to bring a resume so that you can leave information about yourself with recruiters. We recommend that you bring at least 10 copies of your resume.

The university will hold free tours at Andalusia from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. and a cake cutting at noon. A new exhibit at the Andalusia Interpretive Center will also debut that day.

As part of the birthday festivities, the folk group Colin Cutler & Hot Pepper Jam will perform at 6 p.m. Thursday, March 21, in Andalusia’s Interpretive Center story-telling court.

The public is also invited to join an enlightening Zoom discussion (passcode 054421) about O’Connor and her uncle, the late Louis Cline, at 7 p.m. Monday, March 25. Family members attending the session include Louis’ niece Frances Florencourt, who knew Louis the longest, as well as O’Connor’s cousins Jack Tarleton, Mark Cline and Mary Anne Murray.

O’Connor lived at Andalusia with her mother, Regina Cline, and uncle, Louis Cline—who was a constant in Flannery’s life. Whether he was teaching her how to ride a pony, conversing with Flannery while whittling wood on the porch or tending to the Andalusia farm and home—his influence on her was extraordinarily profound—so much so that she intended to dedicate her unfinished novel to him.

Through his job as a traveling salesman for King Hardware, Louis rambled through Georgia’s backwoods, making friends and picking up tall tales, as well as fruit and vegetables to share with the family.

“I assume he picked up many a story on his travels,” Mark Cline said. “Be assured, he brought back this colorful world of the rural South to eager ears at Andalusia.”

Louis was reserved but helpful, dedicated and generous. He had a treasure trove of stories and Georgia’s delicious bounties.

“Louis Cline was a generous provider and the man Regina and Mary Flannery depended on,” Cline said. “Louis had a large presence at Andalusia. But more importantly, he was the man who brought stories of the rural south home to Andalusia, adding to the richness of Mary Flannery's vivid imagination and, in turn, to the output of her typewriter."

GCSU Department of Theatre and Dance presents - The Feast

Theatre & Dance, Department of : Tuesday March 19, 2024

Matt has a problem, but he is the last person to admit it. Even though his personal life is seemingly perfect, his macabre paintings begin to suggest something darker about his psyche. Perhaps it is because of his relationship, his career, his artistry or something stranger—far stranger—lurking beneath the surface. An eerie, absurd play about what is real, what is not and who knows the difference.

PSST! Students! "The New AI: Can It Make You Smarter? Could It Destroy Us All? The Answer Will Be Yes," Research Day Closing Address

Digital Humanities Collaborative : Wednesday March 20, 2024

PSST! Students! This talk about artificial intelligence is meant for YOU.

Please join us for the closing keynote address of Research Day, 4 - 5 pm in A&S Auditorium, for the special presentation by Dr. Cynthia Alby, "The New AI: Can It Make You Smarter? Could It Destroy Us All? The Answer Will Be Yes." Refreshments will follow.

Description: How can AI enhance your learning, and how can it also fool you into thinking you've learned when you haven't? Could it ruin you personally? Could it ruin our society? Or is it what we need right now? You have questions, I have answers. If you can, bring a laptop.

This event will also be livestreamed at www.facebook.com/events/961541615158297.

Dr. Alby is Professor of Teacher Education and Faculty Director of GC Journeys at GCSU, and Lead Instructor, The Governor's Teaching Fellows Program, Louise McBee Institute for Higher Education at the University of Georgia.

The event is hosted by the Digital Humanities Collaborative. For information, contact Elissa Auerbach, elissa.auerbach@gcsu.edu.

Special Digital Humanities sessions at Research Day

Digital Humanities Collaborative : Wednesday March 20, 2024

The Digital Humanities Collaborative initiative is excited to bring you four special sessions at this year's Research Day conference on March 27 in A&S Auditorium.

Our sessions focus on new, cutting-edge research in the humanities and digital technologies. Join us for oral papers followed by a roundtable discussion of a panel comprised of nine undergraduate and graduate students representing disciplines from across campus, and moderated by Dr. Daniel Holcombe, associate professor of Spanish.

We will conclude with the closing address designed especially for students by Dr. Cynthia Alby, "The new AI: Can it make you smarter? Could it destroy us all? The answer will be yes." Refreshments will follow. This session will also be live-streamed.

Let's celebrate Flannery O'Connor's 99th birthday at Andalusia and "A night about Louis" via Zoom

Andalusia : Wednesday March 20, 2024

The great Southern author Mary "Flannery" O'Connor, '45, would've turned 99 on Monday, March 25. Georgia College & State University celebrates her birthday Saturday, March 23. The university will hold free tours at Andalusia from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. and a cake cutting at noon. A new exhibit at the Andalusia Interpretive Center will also debut that day.

As part of the birthday festivities, the folk group Colin Cutler & Hot Pepper Jam will perform at 6 p.m. Thursday, March 21, in Andalusia's Interpretive Center story-telling court.

The public is also invited to join an enlightening Zoom discussion (passcode 054421) about O'Connor and her uncle, the late Louis Cline, at 7 p.m. Monday, March 25. Family members attending the session include Louis' niece Frances Florencourt, who knew Louis the longest, as well as O'Connor's cousins Jack Tarleton, Mark Cline and Mary Anne Murray.

Escape to listen to creative works at the Margaret Harvin Wilson Writing Award Ceremony March 28

English, Department of : Friday March 22, 2024

Escape for a moment while you listen to the clever written works of our talented student finalists during the Margaret Harvin Wilson Writing Award Ceremony Thursday, March 28, at 5 p.m. in the Mayfair Hall Conference Room.

Whether you listen to a poem, short story or one-act play, you're in for a treat.

This award is named after first-generation college student Margaret Harvin Wilson, '34, who waited tables in exchange for discounted tuition and a free dormitory at Georgia College & State University. As a senior, her teacher encouraged Wilson to enter a short story contest in the English Department. Winning first prize in 1933 for "Sympathy Speaks" gave her great confidence for her subsequent career as a teacher.

Margaret married Leland Wilson in 1938. They had three successful daughters with careers in law, medicine and higher education, with the latter, Dr. Mary Sue Coleman, retiring after serving for 12 years as president of the University of Michigan. In January 2010, Mary Sue and her husband, Kenneth, established the Margaret Harvin Wilson Writing Award in memory of her mother.

Research Day 2024: Program and Schedule Available

Mentored Undergraduate Research and Creative Endeavors (MURACE) : Monday March 25, 2024

Dear Student Research Day Scholars and Mentors:

We have more than 500 participants in the GCSU Research Day 2024!

We hope you will attend many of the sessions we have prepared comprised of undergraduate students, graduate students, and faculty from across the university.

In addition to attending Wednesday's Research Day events, we encourage to support the Women's Gender Studies Symposium from 9 a.m. to 6:15 p.m. Tuesday, March 26, in the Museum Education Room.

Here are some tips to help you get organized and plan for Research Day, Wednesday, March 27:

The full Research Day 2024 schedule can be found here: <https://kb.gcsu.edu/researchday/2024/all/>. No paper copies will be available. An overview of the schedule is attached to this email.

A Wellness Picnic featuring burrito bowls will be held from Noon to 1 p.m. on Front Campus. Tickets are required, and they can be retrieved at Research Day Check-In.

Research Day Check-In Details:

- Early-bird check-in will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, March 26, in the Library Atrium
- Day-of check-in will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 27, in the Library Atrium.

Presenters will be excused from their classes on Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; the Provost's-approved absence form and the presenter list are attached. Students need to distribute this excuse form to their faculty.

President Cathy Cox will welcome everyone at 9 a.m. in Magnolia Ballroom. All are welcome to attend.

Poster session presenters, please download the attached PDF of Poster Presenters for your designated poster session – (you have been given either the 9 to 9:50 a.m. session slot or the 10 to 10:50 a.m. session slot). On Research Day, please arrive at least 30 minutes prior to your session's start time. When you arrive to the Magnolia Ballroom, please check-in at the front table to learn your poster wall location number. Push pins will be provided for poster presentations. Make sure your poster is no larger than 48". No more than two presenters should stand at your poster at a time.

Performance/Panel/Oral session presenters, please download the attached PDF of Research Day Performance Panel Oral Presentation Overview for your designated session time – the formal program only provides you with your presentation time within the designated session, which can be confusing. Plan to arrive to your session location 10 minutes prior to the hour of your session to help set up and introduce yourself to the session moderator assigned to your session. If you have a digital presentation (e.g. PowerPoint) to share via screen, you are encouraged to upload it to a flash drive and bring the flash drive to your session to download to session computer.

If you see something regarding your presentation that needs to be changed (e.g. presenting simultaneously in two locations), please email Christina Smith at christina.smith1@gcsu.edu by 12 p.m. Tuesday, March 26. DO NOT REPLY ALL, PLEASE!

Mentors, please discuss with your mentees the Research Day schedule in case students did not receive the information via this email.

Additionally, the Research Day website offers resources to help you prepare for your presentations: <https://www.gcsu.edu/murace/research-day>.

We look forward to seeing all of the incredible works at this year's Research Day, March 27.

Deal Center at GCSU opens 'Tale Trail' for Baldwin County families

Deal Center : Monday March 25, 2024

The Deal Center is thrilled to present a brand new 'Tale Trail' to the Milledgeville community. Join us for a ribbon cutting honoring the opening of the trail, as well as a memorial bench reveal honoring Deacon Joseph "Joe" Ward Sr., on April 2 at 6 p.m. at the Collins P. Lee Community Center. The trail is based on the book Grayson's Play Date written by Baldwin County graduate Steve J. Zachary Jr., who wrote the book about his own son. We extend a special thank you to the Office of Community Engagement and Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity at GCSU who is helping us install the Tale Trail. We hope you will join us in celebrating this exciting and engaging new attraction.

Rural Changemakers Lecture Series

Rural Studies Institute : Monday March 25, 2024

The Rural Studies Institute (RSI) is hosting our annual Rural Changemakers Lecture Series on April 16, 2024. We have two very exciting speakers, David R. Montgomery and Anne Biklé.

David R. Montgomery is a MacArthur Fellow and professor of geomorphology at the University of Washington. He is an internationally recognized geologist who studies the effects of geological processes on ecological systems and human societies. He is the author of several textbooks in his field and his work has been featured in documentary films, network and cable news, TV and radio including NOVA, PBS NewsHour, Fox and Friends and All Things Considered.

Anne Biklé is a science writer and public speaker drawing on her background in biology and environmental planning to explore humanity's tangled relationship with nature through the lens of agriculture, soil, and food. She is particularly enthralled with the botanical world and its influence on humanity throughout history. Her writing has appeared in digital and print magazines, newspapers and her work has been featured in radio and independent documentary films.

Anne and David are married and live in Seattle, Washington.

Published in 2023, What Your Food Ate: How to Heal Our Land and Reclaim Our Health is their most recent book. It builds on their trilogy of books about soil health, microbiomes and farming—Dirt: The Erosion of Civilizations, The Hidden Half of Nature and Growing a Revolution. Social media and contact for David and Anne—web:www.Dig2Grow.com || twitter:@Dig2Grow || email:Dig2Grow@gmail.

We hope you will join us for a virtual Meet and Greet with the speakers from 1:30 p.m. - 2:00 p.m. (EST) and the Annual Lecture from 2:30 p.m. - 3:30 p.m. (EST).

Early Language & Literacy Center at GCSU opens 'Tale Trail' for Baldwin County families

Deal Center : Wednesday March 27, 2024

It's no tall tale: A new trail where families can enjoy reading together is coming to Baldwin County's Harrisburg neighborhood.

Tale Trail is a quarter-mile footpath with a dozen storyboards on posts funded by the Sandra Dunagan Deal Center for Early Language and Literacy at Georgia College & State University. A ribbon cutting ceremony and opening celebration for the trail will be at 6 p.m. Tuesday, April 2, at the Collins P. Lee Community Center in Milledgeville.

The path provides families an opportunity to interact and promote language skills, using activities centered around the book "Grayson's Play Date" by Steve J. Zachary, Jr., a graduate of Baldwin County High School. The book's main character is his son, Grayson.

"The primary goal of the Tale Trail is to enhance language use by presenting an illustrated book along the walking path with each page of the book displayed," said Jamie Thomas, early language professional development specialist at the Deal Center.

"Ultimately, the Tale Trail aims to make reading fun, interactive and enjoyable for families," she said, "while fostering language and literacy development."

Officials from the Milledgeville-Baldwin County Chamber of Commerce will attend the opening. Families are encouraged to come, explore the trail and meet the author and his family, as well as Grayson, the book's main character. A memorial bench in honor of Deacon Joseph "Joe" Ward Sr. will also be unveiled.

The first storyboard includes a QR code, so families can upload a video of the book being read by the author. Each page has prompts with questions to ask young listeners and activities to boost reading comprehension and interest in literature.

Eventually, there will be a total of 16 stops along the path. Storyboards are constructed so books can be changed periodically.

Tale Trail is the Deal Center's version of "StoryWalk Exhibits," a literacy-boosting project used in other communities throughout the United States. Storybooks can be attached to fences or podium-style boxes and be found in woodsy areas, at playgrounds or on city streets.

Tale Trail storyboards were designed by the university's Creative Services. Installation at the community center will be noon to 5 p.m. Friday, March 29. About 20 members of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity will dig holes and cement permanent stands with assistance from Georgia College's Office of Community Engagement and Service and Milledgeville Boy Scout Troop 124.

"We want this Tale Trail to spark some fun for families," Thomas said, "and help them see reading in a new way. Being interactive out in nature and talking about the book encourages back-and-forth language between parents and children."

"Please join us in this celebration," she said, "and in creating a Georgia where everyone has the tools to support children on the path to literacy."

The Feast

Theatre & Dance, Department of : Friday March 29, 2024

Matt has a problem, but he is the last person to admit it. Even though his personal life is seemingly perfect, his macabre paintings begin to suggest something darker about his psyche. Perhaps it is because of his relationship, his career, his artistry or something stranger—far stranger—lurking beneath the surface. An eerie, absurd play about what is real, what is not, and who knows the difference.

Voices of the Returned: Life After Incarceration, a Digital Humanities Presentation

Digital Humanities Collaborative : Saturday March 30, 2024

Please join us for a presentation of new research from the Digital Humanities Collaborative faculty fellow, Dr. Alesa Liles, Associate Professor of Criminal Justice on April 19, 11 a.m. to noon, in the Pat Peterson Museum Education Room in Russell Library.

The act of storytelling provides an outlet to express experiences in a safe environment. The individual has autonomy over their personal narrative, which ultimately allows for understanding and healing. In creating a podcast, returning citizens can reclaim their fundamental rights to dignity and autonomy and continue the process of trauma recovery and healing. In addition, "Voices of the Returned: Life After Incarceration," not only features justice impacted individuals, Season 2 features the incredible individuals and organizations assisting in reentry support, many of whom were once incarcerated themselves. Each episode explores the hard-fought journeys to reestablishing and reclaiming lives, the difficulties returning to society with little support, and the hope for a better future.

These lived experiences are the things data cannot tell us. For students, this is what brings the textbook material to life. Students, as co-hosts, producers, writers, and research assistants, see and sometimes meet the person who was personally impacted by incarceration. They are also able to network with people and organizations doing the work they see themselves doing after graduation. Culminating Season 2 with the 2nd Annual Justice Week Reentry Simulation, students, faculty, staff, and community members are invited to walk in the shoes of newly released individuals. Afterward they are asked to join an open dialogue with special guests from justice impacted organizations and people. Through this simulation and dialogue, not only has the textbook come to life, but now the "Voices of the Returned" have faces and identities and real stories.

Building (Digital) 'Forts in Their Hearts': A Digital Humanities Exploration of the Anglo-Cherokee War

Digital Humanities Collaborative : Saturday March 30, 2024

Please join us for a presentation of new research from the Digital Humanities Collaborative faculty fellow, Dr. Jessica Wallace, Associate Professor of History on April 9, 5 - 6 p.m., in the Pat Peterson Museum Education Room in Russell Library.

This digital humanities project focuses on telling the story of the Anglo-Cherokee War through digital means, particularly focusing on its social networks, geographic spaces, and individual participants that formed intertwined relationships that drove the Anglo-Cherokee alliance in the 18th century and fostered its temporary breakdown. The lecture also discusses the process of turning traditional research into a digital project, especially the different questions and lines of inquiry that arise from exploring historical research from the perspective of a digital humanities project.
