ALERTT TRAINING ACTIVE SHOOTER TRAINING

Public Safety : Friday January 3, 2025

GCSU Department of Public Safety, along with our partners from the FBI, GBI, BCSO and MPD, will be conducting ALERTT Active Shooter training next week.

The training will take place Monday, Jan. 6, through Thursday, Jan. 9, starting at 8 a.m. and running to 5 p.m. in the Arts and Science Building. We will be confined to the first and second floor on the north end of the building in classrooms, and away from the office areas.

Training areas will also be adequately marked and partitioned off to alert anyone of our presence and the proximity to training.

If there are any questions, comments or concerns, please contact GCSU DPS.

National Day of Racial Healing at GCSU

: Wednesday January 8, 2025

The Office of Inclusion & Belonging will commemorate the annual observance of the National Day of Racial Healing on Tuesday, Jan. 21. NDORH is a time to contemplate our shared values and create the blueprint together for #HowWeHeal from the effects of racism. Launched in 2017 by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, it is an opportunity to bring all people together and inspire collective action to build common ground for a more just and equitable world.

The Office of Inclusion & Belonging invites the Georgia College & State University community to commemorate this day by participating in various activities.

Schedule of Events:

Buttons and Whiteboards

10 a.m. – 2 p.m.

Library Atrium and Various Locations on Campus

Here is what you do:

- Pick up a button from various locations on campus to show your support for racial healing at GCSU!
- Go to the Ina D. Russell Library's whiteboards in the Atrium and leave a note stating how you will promote racial healing on the boards.
- Take a selfie at the NDORH backdrop at the Atrium, and post your selfie on social media using #GCSUHowWeHeal as an entry for door prizes!

Conversation Circle

5-7 p.m.

A&S Auditorium

Co-Sponsors: The Honors College and the Department of History &

Geography

In conjunction with Tupperware Tuesdays at the H.U.B., the Conversation Circle will be open to the GCSU community and is a call to action for racial healing for our university and the Milledgeville community at large. Participants will be invited to tell their own stories, listen deeply to the stories of others, find common ground and embrace our common humanity. Light refreshments will be served.

Georgia Adopt-a-Stream monitoring: You can make a positive impact

Academic Outreach : Thursday January 9, 2025

Stream monitoring is about to begin again! Want to learn more about campus while making a positive impact? Join us Friday, Jan. 24, for chemical monitoring of several streams that run through or impact Georgia College & State University:

- Champion Creek at Lake Laurel (9 - 10 a.m.) at Georgia College's East Campus
- Tobler Creek at Andalusia Farm (10:30 a.m. - 12 p.m.)
- Tanyard Creek by College Station (2:30 - 3:30 p.m.)

No experience necessary. Be sure to wear closed-toed shoes that can get wet. We will use Georgia Adopt-a-Stream methods to test temperature, dissolved oxygen, conductivity and pH of the streams, all while enjoying the beauty of Georgia College & State University! Can't make it this time? No worries. We monitor monthly, so check back for more opportunities.

This is a GCSU Thirst for Knowledge event.

Feast for Thought: A Public Liberal Arts Exploration of Food, Society and the Environment

Rural Studies Institute : Monday January 13, 2025

The Rural Studies Institute is hosting our upcoming virtual discussion series, "Feast for Thought: An Exploration of Food, Society and the Environment by Engaging the Public Liberal Arts," where we will explore this critical theme and its impact on our communities and the world.

This virtual mid-day series will feature esteemed Georgia College & State University faculty who will share their personal and disciplinary journey and their exceptional expertise with this timely discussion. Together, we will delve into an examination of the intersection of food, society and the environment and how these topics influence culture and communities. This virtual series aims to foster a vibrant dialogue that highlights our faculty and the role of the public liberal arts in agrarian traditions and informing public understanding and action.

We hope to inspire new ideas and collaborative efforts that honor the extensive agrarian and rural traditions of the public liberal arts.

For more information, please see the attached promotional flyer and panelist bio information.

Academic Affairs Small Grants Workshop

Center for Teaching & Learning : Tuesday January 14, 2025

Are you interested in applying for one of the grants being offered by Academic Affairs? Perhaps you have questions about what research projects can be supported by grant funding. The application period opens Feb. 1! Completing a grants application can feel high stakes; are you ready? We want you to be successful.

Join Jim Berger to learn steps for completing the application and receive guidance on what can be included and what to leave out. Even if you are not sure you want to apply to the programs, this session can help you think about the process and potential projects. Each of the sections will be discussed, rubrics for the different types of grants will be provided and tips on how to create a more successful application will be covered. These grant programs are open to all full-time faculty (instructors, lecturers, tenure, tenure-track and non-tenure). Handouts will be provided, and resources will be shared.

Register to attend at noon Feb. 5, or 2 p.m. on Feb. 7. The workshops will be held in Library 376.

Feast for Thought, An Exploration of Food, Society and the Environment by Engaging the Public Liberal Arts

Rural Studies Institute : Tuesday January 14, 2025

The Rural Studies Institute is pleased to invite you to our 2024-2025 virtual noon-day discussion series, "Feast for Thought, An Exploration of Food, Society and the Environment by Engaging the Public Liberal Arts." Join us for an engaging interdisciplinary discussion with Georgia College & State University experts, as we explore the intricate relationships between food systems, cultural practices and our planet. Whether you're passionate about sustainability and environmental issues, interested in food culture or society's impact on them, this series will provide a thought-provoking look at how our choices shape the world around us.

Our featured speaker for Feb. 7, 2025, will be Dr. Stephanie Opperman, professor of History at Georgia College. Opperman will provide expertise in the international and historical influences of food, society and the environment. Additional information about her work is below.

The goal of this unique series is to foster a vibrant dialogue that highlights our faculty, their expertise and the role of the public liberal arts in exploring agrarian traditions and informing public understanding. We hope to inspire new ideas and collaborative efforts that honor the extensive agrarian and rural traditions of the public liberal arts.

For more information, please see the attached promotional flyer and panelist information for previous and upcoming discussions.

To register for the Feb. 7, 12 p.m. to 1 p.m. event, featuring Dr. Stephanie Opperman, please use the link below:

Stephanie Opperman is a professor of History at Georgia College & State University. As the Principal Investigator and Co-Program Director for the NEH grant, "Flannery O'Connor and Milledgeville: Collecting the Past," she is working with undergraduate students to interview community members who lived in Milledgeville during the heart of O'Connor's writing career (1951-1964). Her work has been published in the Journal of Women's History, Bulletin of Latin American Research, the Latin Americanist and Endeavour. Her book, "Cold War Anthropologist: Isabel Kelly and Rural Development in Mexico," will be published by the University of Arizona Press in November 2024.

2025 Executive Forum: An AI Road Map for Business Leaders

College of Business & Technology : Tuesday January 14, 2025

The 2025 Executive Forum is a quarterly program that brings together a select group of 50 influential business leaders from the Milledgeville-Baldwin community, creating a unique opportunity to connect, collaborate, and learn from accomplished professionals. Each forum offers a dynamic evening featuring a networking hour with beer and wine, a delightful dinner, and an inspiring presentation from leading executives.

The 2025 series kicks off with Kevin Neary, CEO of Orcawise from Ireland, on January 27, followed by Mike Ciabattini, Managing Partner of CW Holdings LLC, on March 3. Two additional speakers will be announced for Fall 2025, ensuring a lineup of exceptional thought leadership and industry insight.

GCSU membership options are available at $275 for individuals or $325 for departments, which includes two tickets per event. Space is limited, so we encourage you to secure your spot early by visiting the Forum website. For more information or assistance, please contact Nancy Finney at 478-445-1310. We invite you to share this opportunity with other leaders in your network and join us for an engaging and enriching experience. Spring 2025 Nursing Recruitment Fair - Monday, Feb. 10

Career Center : Tuesday January 21, 2025

Join us Monday, Feb. 10, from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. for the Spring 2025 Nursing Recruitment Fair in Magnolia Ballroom. This event is a great opportunity for nursing students and students interested in the healthcare industry to gather information on career opportunities and make initial contacts with 25+ potential employers. It is also an excellent chance for our pre-nursing students to engage in meaningful career exploration.

You never have a second chance to make a first impression, so business attire is encouraged for this event, particularly for those graduating and seeking full-time jobs and internships. You may also wear attire appropriate for your profession if you are in clinical rotations or reporting to work in the healthcare profession that day. Résumés are also highly encouraged so that you can leave information about yourself with the representatives. Even if you have applied online, attending the fair helps the recruiter know who you are when you follow up with them at a later date.

We hope to see you there!

OIB Rescheduled National Day of Racial Healing at GCSU

: Tuesday January 21, 2025

The Office of Inclusion & Belonging will commemorate the annual observance of the National Day of Racial Healing on Wednesday, Jan. 29. NDORH is a time to contemplate our shared values and create the blueprint together for #HowWeHeal from the effects of racism. Launched in 2017 by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, it is an opportunity to bring all people together and inspire collective action to build common ground for a more just and equitable world.

The Office of Inclusion & Belonging invites the Georgia College & State University community to commemorate this day by participating in various activities.

Schedule of Events:

Buttons and Whiteboards

10 a.m. – 2 p.m.

Library Atrium and Various Locations on Campus

Here is what you do:

- Pick up a button from various locations on campus to show your support for racial healing at GCSU!
- Go to the Ina D. Russell Library's whiteboards in the Atrium and leave a note stating how you will promote racial healing on the boards.
- Take a selfie at the NDORH backdrop at the Atrium, and post your selfie on social media using #GCSUHowWeHeal as an entry for door prizes!

Conversation Circle

5-7 p.m.

A&S Auditorium

Co-Sponsors: The Honors College and the Department of History & Geography

In conjunction with Tupperware Tuesdays at the H.U.B., the Conversation Circle will be open to the GCSU community and is a call to action for racial healing for our university and the Milledgeville community at large. Participants will be invited to tell their own stories, listen deeply to the stories of others, find common ground and embrace our common humanity. Light refreshments will be served.

Dr. Tru Leverette Hall, chair of English and director of Africana Studies, University of North Florida

Rural Studies Institute : Friday January 24, 2025

The Black Studies program is pleased to present its Spring Lecture with Dr. Tru Leverette Hall. Her presentation is titled: River & Rock: African Americans at Home in the World. She will speak on the significance of place by highlighting creative placemaking in African American communities and the nuanced relationship between African Americans and the natural world, emphasizing connection with their historical and contemporary ties to nature. She will also speak about her project Water Stories, a collaborative, community-engaged, multi-year interdisciplinary digital humanities project combining oral history, the arts, land memory and communal healing. The project aims to study and restore environmental assets in community and to preserve African American performing arts, storytelling and histories.

Her current book project, River & Rock: African Americans at Home in the World, uses literary analysis, oral history and autoethnography to explore the historical and contemporary realities of African Americans' connections to nature and their multi-layered relationship with the natural world.

Cosponsors:

Black Studies, The Rural Studies Institute, Ina Dillard Russell Library, The Digital Humanities Collaborative, The Cultural Center, The Department of Philosophy, Religion and Liberal Studies and Women's and Gender Studies

Legends of Honors with GCSU alumna Nadya Summer Gutierrez: "Oysters and Seagrass and Marsh-Oh My! Coastal Ecology in an Ever-Changing Environment"

Honors College : Monday January 27, 2025

Please RSVP to this Zoom session: <https://forms.office.com/r/McQ5Q2X9dL?origin=lpLink>.

My journey began as a freshman at Georgia College & State University desiring to be soil scientist. Through various research experiences with aquatic macroinvertebrates and an internship with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, I desired to pivot to the marine systems where I spend my days boating through coastal waters and exploring seagrass meadows. I am currently a Ph.D. student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, based out of the Institute of Marine Sciences. My current research projects center around disturbance ecology from hurricane impacts on oyster reefs to implications of habitat fragmentation of seagrass meadows. My recent appointment as a 2024 Quad Fellow has inspired me to pursue a career with the U.S. Department of State centered around international partnerships of coastal resource management.

Inaugural Southern Gothic Lecture Series: “The Rougarou and the Rise of the Cajun Ecoготhic”

O'Connor Institute : Tuesday January 28, 2025

The O'Connor Institute is kicking off the Inaugural Southern Gothic Lectures Series! Join us for this interdisciplinary series of discussions among the fields of literature, environmental studies and southern studies.

Sara L. Crosby hails from an island off the coast of Louisiana. She's a professor of English at The Ohio State University at Marion where she teaches classes on everything from early American literature to pop culture to environmental writing. She has authored two monographs about poisonous women in 19th century American literature and a number of essays, including “Gothic in an Age of Environmental Crisis” (for the third volume of Cambridge’s History of the Gothic) and “American Soil, Louisiana Dirt: The Metaphor Enabling the Sacrifice Zone” and “Beyond Ecophilia: Edgar Allan Poe and the American Tradition of Ecohorror” (for ISLE). Her current book project investigates why the U.S. is allowing South Louisiana to wash away—specifically, how the interplay between extractive interests (like the petroleum industry) and American popular culture’s representation of South Louisiana as a place of ecohorror has and continues to enable this unnatural disaster. Her talk will discuss the Cajun folklore werewolf-like character, the rougarou.

Refreshments will be provided thanks to the Office of the Provost.

Southern Gothic Lecture Series: “Jesmyn Ward’s Ecogothic”

O'Connor Institute : Tuesday January 28, 2025

The O'Connor Institute is continuing the Inaugural Southern Gothic Lectures Series! Join us for this interdisciplinary series of discussions among the fields of literature, environmental studies and southern studies.

Teresa A. Goddu is professor of English at Vanderbilt University. She's the author of Gothic America: Narrative, History and Nation (Columbia University Press) and Selling Antislavery: Abolition and Mass Media in Antebellum America (University of Pennsylvania Press). Her work has appeared in American Literary History, Book History, MELUS, African American Review, Common-Place, South Atlantic Quarterly, Studies in American Fiction and other venues. She is the recipient of two grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities and a Senior Specialist Fulbright award. Her current research focuses on the environmental humanities, specifically contemporary climate fiction. She will discuss the fiction of Jesmyn Ward, author of "Let Us Descend," "Sing Unburied Sing," "Men We Reaped," "Salvage the Bones," "Where the Line Bleeds" and other writings.

Refreshments will be provided thanks to the Office of the Provost.

23rd Annual Begemann-Gordon Lecture: Honoring the Legacies of Black Midwifery Care in Modern Practice

Government & Sociology, Department of : Wednesday January 29, 2025

Reproductive Justice Across Time: Honoring the Legacies of Black Midwifery Care in Modern Practice

This lecture integrates lived experience, historical context and contemporary challenges in midwifery care, particularly focusing on its implications for racially minoritized birthing communities who encounter disproportionate risks.

Guests speaker Rose E. Archer holds a Master of Divinity from Duke University and a Master of Science in Sociology from Florida State University. She is currently a Ph.D. student at Emory University and the Literature Review Research fellow with the Black Mamas Matter Alliance (BMMA) in Atlanta, Georgia. Along with her academic pursuits, Rose is an ordained minister, trained birth doula and founder of Doulas for Me. Her interest in reproductive health inequities was initially sparked in her professional life as a Board Certified Chaplain (BCC) where she worked with Duke University Hospital, Emory Healthcare and Tallahassee Memorial Healthcare.
