Rev. Dr. Antonio Proctor, center, interim dean of the Morehouse School of Religion, introduced the keynote speaker at Forsyth's Martin Luther King Jr. program on Jan. 20.

Rev. Dr. Antonio Proctor was appointed interim Dean of the Morehouse School of Religion in December. Proctor serves as the pastor of St. James Baptist Church in Forsyth, a post he has held for almost 14 years. Rev. Adolf Parsons, whom Proctor followed as pastor at St. James, had served in the position for 60 years and was a beloved member of the Monroe County community.

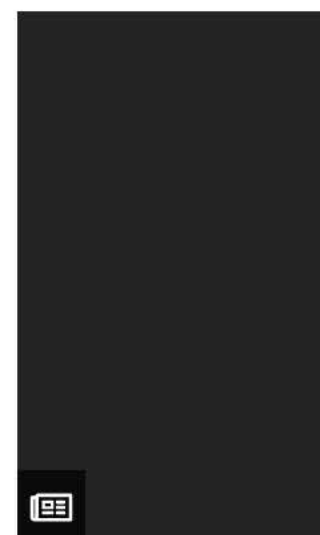

Proctor, a native of Forsyth, earned his Bachelor's degree,, summa cum laude, from Emmanuel College. He earned his Master of Education in Educational Administration and Supervision from Georgia College & State University and received a Master of Divinity and a Doctor of Ministry from the Morehouse School of Religion at the Interdenominational Theological Center (ITC) in Atlanta. He is pursuing a second doctorate in Higher Education Leadership at Clark Atlanta University.
