A good cake was not hard to find at the Andalusia Music Festival Saturday. Acclaimed author and Georgia College & State University alumna Flannery O'Connor's 100th birthday week finished with a bang as her alma mater held a free community celebration. Complete with cake, music, food trucks and free tours of the O'Connor family farm home located just off Highway 441, the festival welcomed folks in to mark what would have been the writer's centennial birthday.
