The bulldogs will open up the 2026 season with tennessee state and play western kentucky and rival georgia tech in the non con. At The Habersham School, Braden Schnaible has made it official with Georgia College and State University, where he'll join the Bobcats' golf team next year. Throughout his time with the Patriots, Braden earned three mvp awards and won several Savannah-area junior golf honors. Braden says his soon-to-be coach at gcsu just started in January and already has the program heading in the right direction. "And he's putting all the pieces of the puzzle that we need (together), including a couple other good recruits for next year, so that was the main reason right there. And then the school is amazing. Milledgeville is great -- a smaller town, which is nice. This has been a really long time coming. I've had a golf club in my hand since I was probably 2 1/2, 3- years-old, and all the times on the golf course with my dad all day and all the tournaments we've traveled to, it's really all starting to pay off."
