Goals:

We tried to have more exposure to music written not just for big bands but for smaller ensembles as well.

We wanted to give more of our musicians a chance to improvise. We do it every day in class. You will see a lot of different players improvising tonight as soloists, duets, trading fours and when we introduce the band members.

We focused on promoting more interdependence by building individual independence and developing a cooperative and collective spirit of togetherness by building common techniques in rehearsal and performance.

We wanted to give you the audience, and us as the ensemble a chance to hear and perform a variety of music that might bring back memories, give you a sense of appreciation for the hard work each and every member of the ensemble has put in, and hopefully lift our minds and spirits in a way that music alone can do.
