

Join Dr. Ann L. Tucker, Associate Professor of History at the University of North Georgia, for her lecture:

“Cotton, Crisis, and Creating a Country: European Revolutions and the Civil War South”

Monday, Nov. 2nd • 5:30pm • Mayfair Hall

Far from being a brother-versus-brother, entirely domestic event, the American Civil War had enormous international consequence, as well as inspiration. As white southerners built the Confederate States of America, they took inspiration from the many recent nationalist movements in Europe. Ultimately, Confederates compared themselves to new nations in Europe as a way of defining, and legitimizing, the Confederacy.
