

FROM CLASSROOM TO COMMUNITY: TURNING ACADEMIC SKILLS INTO REAL-WORLD IMPACT

Students are invited to learn how to leverage their liberal arts education into careers that will make a difference at home and abroad. Dr. Aschale Siyoun of Scholars at Risk will share about his pathway from academia to practice, reflecting on lessons learned from his 10+ years of research and applied policy work, to include his work with government and NGOs in Ethiopia.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26TH

5-6PM

ARTS & SCIENCES
366

Scholars at Risk is an international organization of institutions and individuals united to protect academic freedom. Among other initiatives, Scholars at Risk provides services to protect academics whose research and/or safety is at risk, ensuring that their work can continue until they are able to return to their home countries. Learn more:

SCHOLARSATRISK.ORG